HANDBOOK MAN IS NABBED AT NAGEL'S CAFE

PLACE CROWDED AT TIME

Missouri Anti-Saloon League Instigates Action and Special Officer Makes Arrest.

Frank Nagel's cafe at Sixth and St. Charles streets was raided at 2 o'clock Wednesday afternoon by a squad under the direction of the Missouri Anti-Saloon League and Adolph Hess, a bartender, was arrested on a charge of accepting bets on horse races. It is charged by the League that a handbook is conducted in the saloon.

The raid was made so quietly that few of the men who crowded the place knew what was happening. Patrolman Guibor of the Deer Street Station, assigned at the request of the League, threw back his coat lapel and showed his star, telling Hess he was under arrest.

"What for?" Hess demanded.

Take Roll of Bills.

Hess demurred. "It ain't me," he said.

"Come out of there and put on your your coat," Guibor commanded, and the bartender obeyed reluctantly, walking to the rear of the saloon to speak to a man.

Frank Nagel is not now connected with the place, but it continues to bear his name.

Special Officers La Barge and Sullivan accompanied Guibor and were standing at the bar when he arrested Hess. Guibor went behind the bar, drew open a small drawer, and took out a small roll of bills wrapped in a slip of paper, bearing the names of horses and figures.

Rev. Samuel L. Lindsay, superintendent of the Missouri Anti-Saloon League, says the raid is the beginning of a crusade the league intends to wage against saloons in St. Louis which violate the law. He and Blair planned the raid and instructed Salyers in getting evidence. The squad, which made the arrest, started from headquarters of the League in the Burlington building.

Charles E. Blair, attorney for the anti-saloon league, who was in the saloon, having entered after the others, accompanied Hess and the officers on a street car to the Four Courts, where Hess was formally charged.

The raid was made after E. L. Salyers, employed by the league, had made two bets at the saloon. He bet $3 Tuesday on Orphan Lad at Bennings and won. The odds were 7 to 10. Wednesday morning Salyers was paid the $2.10 he had won, he says, with the $3 he had put up. Salyers then made another bet, putting $3 in marked bills on Flavigny in the third race at New Orleans.

BONDSMAN ARRESTED.

Negro Accused of Perjury Says "You Can't Prove It."

A bench warrant for the arrest of H. H. Wilburn, a negro, who dresses as a clergyman, with silk hat, cane and Prince Albert coat, was obtained by the grand jury Wednesday. Wilburn, who is a familiar figure around the police courts, where he goes on bonds, was arrested and locked up charged in an indictment with perjury.

Wilburn qualified before the Clerk of the Circuit Court on an $800 bond for William Casey, who is to be tried before Judge Muench on a charge of grand larceny by stealing a $150 diamond.

Wilburn said that he was the owner of the property at 4899 and 5000 Granville place, worth $8500.

The tax collector says that Wilburn's name does not appear on the tax roll and Granville place runs only two blocks between Minerva and Wells avenues.

Wilburn was arrested by Detective Logan at 1404 Gay street. He was having a stormy interview with R. T. Goldsby, a saloon keeper at Nineteenth and Chestnut street, who had paid him a fee for going on his bond and who had been ordered to get a new bondsman.

When Wilburn was taken to the Circuit Attorney's office he was met by Assistant Circuit Attorney Johnson. He asked what the matter was.

"O, nothing, except that we have had you indicted for perjury," replied Col. Johnston.

"You can't prove it, though," responded Wilburn.

USED SYRUP FOR VARNISH.

Postmaster Had Office Wall Covered With It.

SOUTH NORWALK, Conn., April 10.—In the absence of any intent on the part of Postmaster George W. Bryan of Rowayton to defraud the Government, it is assured, no public scandal will result from a mistake made in varnishing the Postoffice recently. Postmaster Bryan ordered the job done and, thinking a skilled painter necessary, engaged E. H. Hall, the village handy man, to do the work.

Mr. Bryan brought over from his home what he believed to be a two-quart can of varnish and set Hall at work on Sunday, when the Postoffice was closed. The Postmaster was late coming down Monday because his wife complained that she could not find the can of maple syrup for the breakfast pancakes. Postmaster Bryan took it on the run for the Postoffice. He touched the shining walls with his finger and put his finger to his tongue. It was maple syrup, all right. The Postmaster has given an order for some real varnish, also a new supply of maple syrup.

CITY ASHMAN WANTED.

Woman Presents Resolution to Realty Exchange.

Mrs. Henrietta Parsons Gill of the Hamilton Hotel, a prominent clubwoman, is at the head of a movement to induce the Municipal Assembly to pass an ordinance regulating the collection of ashes. Mrs. Gill thinks this work should be done by the city government, as in Eastern cities. She is quoted as saying that she spent all her mornings "chasing ash men."

Mrs. Gill presented a petition setting forth her views to the Real Estate Exchange Tuesday. President Terry said the proposition probably would be indorsed by the exchange. Mrs. Gill is brought into contact with ash men through her management of her real estate holdings.

THURSDAY TO BE FINE SPRING DAY

THE TEMPERATURE.

Midnight	40	9 a. m.	36
2 a. m.	37	10 a. m.	38
4 a. m.	35	11 a. m.	40
6 a. m.	34	12 (noon)	42
7 a. m.	34	1 p. m.	44
8 a. m.	34

There will be a touch of real spring weather in the air of St. Louis Thursday. The forecaster says the rise will be "considerable," but he will not venture to say just how many points the thermometer will advance.

At 7 a. m. Wednesday the freezing point was reached in St. Louis, and it was 8 degrees colder than at midnight. All of the cold weather storms have moved eastward and warm breezes are on their way from the Pacific Coast.

The forecast: Fair, with rising temperature, Wednesday night and Thursday. Variable winds, shifting to southerly. Minimum temperature Wednesday night will be 38 degrees.

Temperatures in the large cities at 7 a. m. were: St. Louis, 32; Boston, 36; Chicago, 30; Cincinnati, 32; Indianapolis, 30; Kansas City, 32; Louisville, 34; New York, 36; Omaha, 30; St. Paul, 26; San Francisco, 52; Washington, 40.

SUES FOR LOST EYESIGHT.

Frank J. Kurrus Denies Culpability for Accident.

John Schmidt took the stand in the City Court in East St. Louis Wednesday in his suit against Frank J. Kurrus for $10,000 for the loss of his right eye in a quarrel over the price of a watermelon. The case began Tuesday afternoon, and the jury was completed Wednesday morning.

Schmidt testified that at 1 a. m., July 7, 1906, Kurrus and three friends were returning from a lodge meeting. As they passed the store of the Bodenberg Commission Co., 519 Missouri avenue, L. C. Schultz, one of Kurrus companions, picked up a watermelon whose return, Schmidt, an employe, demanded. During the argument Schultz accidentally dropped the watermelon and broke it. Schultz then paid for the melon and walked to where Kurrus stood, and told of the affair. Kurrus demanded that the money be returned, but Schmidt refused, telling Kurrus he must see Mr. Bodenberg and straighten the matter out with him.

After an angry discussion, Schmidt ran into a telephone booth to telephone for the police, he said. Kurrus followed and in the melee, Schmidt alleged, broke the glass in the booth, particles entering Schmidt's right eye and destroying its sight. Kurrus says he stumbled against the glass with his shoulder. Schmidt testified that Kurrus broke the glass door with his fist.

VICTIM OF CURIOSITY.

Len Wright Learned How Railroad Torpedoes Explode.

Lin Wright's curiosity as to what would happen when a railroad torpedo exploded caused him severe injury, according to the story he tells.

He was walking, Tuesday, along the Iron Mountain tracks, about three miles south of Jefferson Barracks on his way to Crystal Springs, he says, when he espied a shining tin torpedo on one of the rails. He first dropped a large stone upon the torpedo, but without results. He then sat down beside it, and struck it with all his might. The explosion which ensued drove a piece of the shell into his right leg, making a cut an inch deep and two inches long, while another piece nearly severed the middle finger from his right hand. His hands and breast were badly burned.

He is a waiter, aged 20 years, and gives his address as 926 North Union avenue.

KNEW NATURE OF AN OATH.

Lie Would Cause Loss of Case, Boy Told Judge.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

NEW YORK, April 10.—Frank M. J. Hay, a 13-year-old boy, who is small for his age, was a witness yesterday in the First District Court, Jersey City, in a suit brought against the Crescent Automobile Co. to recover $300 damages for injuries sustained by his 15-year-old sister, who was injured in a smash-up between an automobile and a trolley car.

"Do you know the nature of an oath?" asked Lawyer Willard C. Fisk.

"I do," replied the boy. "It's a promise to tell the truth."

"And what will happen if you tell a lie?" asked ex-Judge James Manning.

"We'll lose the case," answered Frank.

"He'll do," said Judge Carrick. "Swear him."

He Prevented a Smashup by His Dexterity.

BERLIN, April 10.—Emperor William's chauffeur, by his dexterity in handling his car yesterday, probably saved the Emperor from injury. It was while the Emperor was on his way to a post near Berlin to attend a military breakfast that the automobile driver, in rounding a sharp turn, found a heavy transport wagon blocking his way. The chauffeur threw on his brake hard and the car skidded, causing the Emperor to lose his equilibrium. He was uninjured, however, and the car proceeded.

Dies at City Hospital.

Robert Miller, aged 77, a retired farmer of Lincoln, Ill., died Tuesday night at the City Hospital. He was taken violently ill Tuesday morning at Union Station, where he was waiting with his wife, Mrs. Elizabeth Miller, for a train to Lincoln. They were returning from Hot Springs, Ark., where they had spent the winter. Clinton Miller, a son of the dead man, called at the hospital Wednesday morning with his mother to see the body, and the old woman wept when she was refused permission to do so. They were told they would have to get an undertaker and a burial permit before they would be permitted to look upon the face of the dead man.

GUMBERTS RUNS BUSY POOLROOM; LAUGHS AT LAW

SAFE FOR SIXTY DAYS

Amendment Covering Law's Defect Is Not Effective Until June 16.

Mark Gumberts, the veteran bookmaker, is again doing business—and a land-office business, too—at the same old stand, the Louisiana Club, on Delmar boulevard, just over the city line, in St. Louis County. The club was thronged Tuesday, as it has been thronged for eight days, with men making bets, laying their money and cashing them on horse races in New Orleans and Oakland.

Notwithstanding the strictness of the Missouri law against gambling on horse races, the St. Louis County officers of the law plead inability to check Gumberts, and have left him to operate his poolroom unmolested.

The device by which he evades the law with success and impunity, and of which he is not a little vain, was suggested to him, he says, by an amendment to the gambling law enacted during the last session of the Legislature. This amendment makes it a felony to telephone, telegraph or otherwise convey bets outside of the State for registration, and supplements the law making it a felony to register bets in Missouri. The action of the Legislature set Gumberts to thinking, he says, and he came to the conclusion that if it was necessary to fortify the law in this particular, it must have a breach at that very point. Looking up the Supreme Court decisions, he found that the Oldhams decision, handed down last January, in which the registration of bets, made in Missouri, by telephone to another State, was held unassailable under the present law.

The fact that the amendment would not go into force until 90 days after it was signed by the Governor gave Gumberts freedom to avail himself of the loophole in the law until June 16. He therefore installed long-distance telephones, renewed his contracts with the racing news association, and announced, by widespread advertisements, that he was ready to do business again.

Promptly Sheriff Herpel and Prosecuting Attorney Johnston of the county swooped down on him, but he met them blandly and showed them the Supreme Court decision. This was sufficient to "show" them and they retreated, saying they would call again June 17.

No Writing at This End.

Gumberts proudly explained to a Post-Dispatch reporter the scheme by which he defeats the law. In the first place, every man who applies for admission to the club is given a numbered ticket of membership without cost. He is then led to a large room in the rear where the betting is done. "Doper" sheets, giving the races, names of horses and the odds, are strung up on a line, and racing journals are everywhere at hand.

When a man wants to bet, he steps up to a little window, shows his card, giving its number, and names the horse on which he desires to wager, at the same time handing over the amount of his bet. All this information is immediately, without any writing whatever, telephoned to Hubert Gardner, a poolroom in Newport, Ky., across the Ohio River from Cincinnati. There the bets are registered.

When the race is finished, if the man has won, he steps up to another window and calls out the number of his card, the name of the horse on which he has bet and the amount won. Another employe then calls up Newport, and having ascertained the truth of the bettor's statement, pays him what is coming to him.

Gumberts is confident that before June 16 he will have devised some way to evade the new law.

"St. Louis has got to have some such place as this," he said in defense of his practices. "The town is dead, and needs poolrooms to wake it up."

CHECKS WERE WORTHLESS.

Victims of J. B. Rindfleisch Cause His Arrest.

John B. Rindfleisch of 311 Walnut street, who says he has been traveling through the Southwest writing industrial articles for trade journals, was arrested Thursday and admitted cashing five worthless checks, totaling $45, but declared he thought he had the money in bank.

Rindfleisch said postal money orders for $50 were sent to him recently from Germany, but were lost in the mails and that Government officials promised to place the money on deposit in St. Louis for him until they were found. He did not save any of the correspondence to this effect.

James J. Enright, a business man at 804 South Seventh street, who cashed a $10 check for Rindfleisch, caused his arrest. Four other men, three of whom cashed checks for the same amount, identified him. They were William E. Bennett of 1131 North Vandeventer avenue, Fred Sieler, who has a place of business at Third and Walnut streets; John Grupp, who is in business at Seventeenth and Market streets, and Charles P. Goehring of 3331 Manchester avenue. The last named cashed a check for $5.

LOREE SUCCEEDS WILLCOX.

B. & O. President Goes With Delaware & Hudson.

NEW YORK, April 10.—L. F. Loree has been elected president of the Delaware & Hudson company, in place of David Willcox, resigned.

Mr. Willcox went abroad several weeks ago, and it was said at that time that he was in ill-health. Mr. Loree has been president of the Baltimore & Ohio and chairman of the board of the Kansas City Southern Railroad.

Joseph Pulitzer's Sixtieth Birthday.

Mr. Joseph Pulitzer, owner of the New York World and the Post-Dispatch, completes his sixtieth year today, and will give two dinners, one in New York, the other in St. Louis, to the staffs of the two papers and a few invited guests. Sixty persons will sit down at each dinner.

STRIKING CHORUS GIRLS WHO WERE FIRED, AND NOW WANT TO SUE THEIR MANAGER

NELLIE PALMER, BIRDIE CARLETON, JEANIE LOFTUS.

PATROL WAGON FOR CHORUS! THE IDEA!

Three Girls Who Rode in Hurryup Vehicle Want Legal Redress.

SLAPS FOR FAVORED ONE

Assailing Palms Made Viola Herman's Cheeks Pink Under Her Make-Up.

Miss Viola Herman of the Gayety Theater chorus will tell her troubles to Judge Tracy in the City Hall Police Court when Misses Jeanie Loftus, Birdie Carleton and Nellie Palmer are arraigned on her complaint of disturbing the peace. Summonses for them were issued Wednesday by City Attorney Anderson. The three young women were discharged from the company for slapping Miss Herman, and three other members of the chorus have joined them in a sympathetic strike.

Misses Loftus and Carleton, with Miss Edith Monro, consulted an attorney Wednesday. Miss Monro is one of those who joined the strike through sympathy. The purpose of the consultation was to see whether legal steps could be taken against Sheridan for false arrest. He caused Misses Loftus and Carleton to be taken to the Four Courts Tuesday afternoon in a patrol wagon.

"And it's dear that carriage ride will cost him," declared Miss Loftus, who has auburn hair, brown eyes and pink cheeks. "The idea of him puttin' us three, who'd never before had a policeman lay his hand on us, into a patrol wagon. Oh, he'll suffer for it. We expected to ride in a closed carriage, but 'twas an open landau we got. Funny, ain't it? Well, it won't seem funny to Mr. Sheridan when we get through with him."

Miss Loftus is known as "Scotty" to the other members of the chorus. She speaks with emphasis and an accent.

The other girl to ride in the patrol wagon was Miss Nellie Palmer, who will assist in a prosecution for false arrest, if it is found that this can be done. The three also complain indignantly that Sheridan used improper language in their presence and the presence of Patrolman Walsh, who arrested them. Sheridan did not ride to the Four Courts in the wagon to make his complaint. He walked over from the theater later. Sergt. Drissell of the Central District, to whom the complaint was made, refused to hold the young women, declaring there was no ground for so doing.

Miss Bernice Morningstar and Miss Rose Deely left the company Tuesday, declaring they did so out of sympathy for the three who were arrested. This made six members out of the chorus. Miss Loftus says she expects another girl to leave Thursday.

The line-up in the City Sports Company is headed on the other side by Miss Herman and Miss Julia Sinclair, who do the Blackbird Pie dance and the Tired Model. Miss Morningstar and Miss Deely do not like Miss Sinclair because, they say, she was jealous of their dancing. Miss Sinclair is the topliner of the company, whose dancing is "featured" at every performance.

Trouble in the company began two weeks ago, and Manager Sheridan's ears were filled with tales of woe which girls first on one side and then on the other took to him. It culminated in St. Louis Monday after the matinee, when the three who were later arrested slapped Miss Herman's cheeks until they were a fiery red under her make-up. The three were promptly discharged by Sheridan, and were arrested Tuesday afternoon when they returned to the theater for some of their blongings.

PHILADELPHIA BANK CLOSES

Lincoln Savings and Trust Is City Depository.

PHILADELPHIA, April 10.—The Lincoln Savings and Trust Co. of this city closed its doors today. The company is one of the city depositories.

The company has been in existence about 10 years, and its business was mainly with city contractors. A comparatively small amount of money is involved.

Dishwasher and Valuables Disappear.

The police are looking for a man known only as "Frank," a dishwasher in a restaurant at 5237 Delmar boulevard, who disappeared about the same time as some money, jewelry and wearing apparel belonging to Miss Maimie Love, another restaurant employe. Tuesday evening Miss Love missed $40 in cash, a watch valued at $25, a bracelet valued at $10, two rings worth $40 and $10, a revolver valued at $12, together. The East St. Louis police arrested Arthur Lansford on a description sent from St. Louis, but Miss Love declared when she saw him that he was not "Frank."

St. Louis has more Post-Dispatch readers every day than it has homes. "First in Everything."

PROBATIONARY MEN TAKE EXAMINATION FOR PATROL WORK

One Hundred "Pupils" in Mental Class Struggle Over Definitions for Arson, Swindling, Various Forms of Robbery, Location of Buildings and Recite City and State Laws.

DURING the past few days 100 probationary patrolmen have been examined in the police school of instruction as to their mental fitness for promotion to the rank of patrolman. The examination consisted mainly of questions relating to the laws of the city and State and police rules and regulations. The "pupils," waiting to be called into the board room, formed an amusing group as they sat in the Four Courts corridor, manual in hand, quizzing each other to freshen up their memories.

"What is arson?" asked one policeman, reading from the manual catechism.

"Settin' your house on fire to git th' insurance," replied his brother officer, after a moment's hesitation.

"What is bribery?"

Definition of Perjury.

"What is perjury?"

"In the event of a great crime being committed, or other casualty occurring on his beat, how should a policeman act?"

"Like a gentleman."

"How should a policeman report a murder, suicide, robbery or other serious matter?"

"Not if the beat is stationary."

"How do you spell Buchanan street?"

"Where on earth did you get that spelling?"

"Where is the Eugene Field School?"

"624 South Broadway. You can't fool me there. I saw the tablet on my way up to work."

"That depends."

"Well suppose a man should swallow coal oil?"

"Put a wick in his mouth and light it."

"If a person apply to a policeman for assistance in civil matters, or to make an arrest which he cannot legally perform, what should a policeman do?"

"Give the man the number of your star and dare him to prefer charges against you."

"Are words spoken by one person, and sworn to by another, evidence?"

PAID GROCER BILL WITH BOND COUPON

SENT BY BANK TO COLLECT

Abstracted One From Package and on Return Reported Shortage to Superior.

While the mother of Lucien Van Zandt, 17 years old, was almost hysterical because of his absence from his home in Wellston, the boy was spending the night in the Four Courts holdover, following his confession that he had stolen a bond coupon, valued at $25, from the National Bank of Commerce, where he has been employed as a collector.

Wednesday a warrant charging him with petit larceny was sworn out by Assistant Cashier Eaton of the bank. He is still in custody.

The boy has been in the service of the bank since January. He was entrusted with the collection of large amounts of money from corporations whose bond coupons came into the hands of the largest financial institutions in St. Louis.

Used It to Pay Grocery Bill.

After being arrested at the bank Tuesday night he broke down and confessed the theft of a little piece of paper whose value was greater than his month's salary. He said he used it to pay his mother's grocery bill.

According to a statement made by Assistant Cashier Eaton of the National Bank of Commerce to a Post-Dispatch reporter a bank at Belleville, Ill., last Thursday requested the Bank of Commerce to collect the interest on 57 bonds of the St. Louis and Southern Coal Co.

The coupons were placed in the hands of W. H. Rothschild, head collector for the bank, who in turn gave them to Van Zandt, after they had been carefully counted.

When Van Zandt returned from the office of the coal company he told Rothschild there must have been a mistake in the count as there were only 56 of the coupons when he presented them for payment.

Without the boy's knowledge Rothschild telephoned to the Belleville bank and learned that 57 had been sent.

The clerk who counted the bonds was sure he was right, but there was no reason to suspect Van Zandt until Tuesday when a message was received from the cashier of the First National Bank of Wellston.

He said that one of the coupons had been presented there for payment and as he knew the Bank of Commerce was making the collections on them he thought it well to inquire whether the presentation of the coupon to him was regular. He said it was cashed by a grocer named Ritchey at 6118 Easton avenue.

Rothschild called up Ritchey, who said he had received the coupon in payment of the grocery bill of a family named Brown living on Macklind avenue, west of the city limits. Mrs. Brown had a son named Lucien, he said.

Name and Number Gave Clues.

The similarity in names looked like more than a coincidence to Rothschild. His suspicions were confirmed when he learned that the coupon cashed by the Wellston bank was No. 306 and that this was the only number missing in the consecutive series on which collections had been counted by the boy.

With this information in hand Rothschild approached Van Zandt's desk Tuesday afternoon.

"I understand you've moved," he said. "Give me your present address for the office directory."

"Why, I'm living on Macklind avenue, west of the city limits," said the boy. Five minutes later he was under arrest and on his way to the Four Courts.

When the warrant was applied for the bank officials were under the impression that he would be prosecuted in the Juvenile Court and would probably be sent to the Industrial School.

When informed that the boy would have to stand trial in the Court of Criminal Correction and that penalty would be a Workhouse sentence, Assistant Cashier Eaton said:

"Well, guess he'll have to go to the Workhouse, then. We'll have to make an example."

THREW BRICKS AT PUPILS.

Two Lads of 15 Accused of Disturbing Polish School.

The boys are Frank Florowski of 1418 North Twentieth street, who is said to have drawn the knife, and Joseph Jombroski of 1430 North Nineteenth street. They were arrested Tuesday afternoon on the complaint of Peter Laskowski of 1431 North Twentieth street, a pupil at the school. Florowski was cut on the head and said Laskowski inflicted the injury with a brick, but Laskowski denied this, declaring that he hit the other boy with his fist and that a gold ring cut him.

Sister Casimir told Patrolman Jasinski, who made the arrest, that the boys had thrown bricks at the pupils of the school in a classroom, and had cursed her, and that Florkowski had attempted to cut her. She said she prevented him from doing this by slamming a door against him. Rev. Father Stanowski, pastor of St. Casimir's Church, situated in the parish containing the parochial school, will appear as complainant against the boys when they are arraigned in the Juvenile Court. They are being held at the House of Detention for that court, 1226 Clark avenue.

Bench Warrant for "Bud" Fawcett.

The grand jury has requested Judge Sale to issue a bench warrant for James, alias "Bud" Fawcett, reputed husband of May Harrington, with whom he was a star witness before the Police Board in the recent graft trials. Fawcett is now out on bond on a charge of illegal voting. He will have to come into court on the bench warrant and make a new bond.

JEROME IN TEARS AS HE DEFENDS MEMORY OF MAN THAW SLEW

"Is It the 'Higher Law' Under Which a Man Can Flaunt a Woman Through the Capitals of Europe for Two Years Before He Marries Her—and Then Kill?" He Asks the Jury.

DEMENTIA AMERICANA HAS NO STATUS ON THE ATLANTIC SEABOARD, HE SAYS.

Prosecutor Makes a Bitter Attack On Thaw's Wife, Referring to Her as the "Angel Child Who Always Seemed Willing to Return to the Ogre Whom She Accused."

(By Associated Press.)

NEW YORK, April 10.—Seldom if ever has an address more powerful, more subtle and more logical been heard in a New York courtroom than was heard today, when District Attorney Jerome, summing up the case against Harry K. Thaw in behalf of the people, pleaded with the jury to mete out the extreme penalty of the law to the slayer of Stanford White.

Although he disclaimed any intention of entering into an oratorical contest with the gifted Mr. Delmas, there were tears in the eyes of the prosecutor as, amid intense silence, he defended the memory of Stanford White. He denounced Evelyn Nesbit Thaw's story as false, and, to support his charges against the character of the girl, he told how she had been "flaunted through Europe" as the mistress of the man for whom she later took the witness stand and "bared the story of her shame—her misfortune, as the case may be."

Prefacing his final plea for the conviction of Thaw on the charge of murder in the first degree with the warning to the jurors that the case at trial was not that of an assault on a woman, but of the murder of a man, District Attorney Jerome plunged into a denunciation of Harry K. Thaw's past life and of the plea of the "unwritten law" for the killing of Stanford White.

"Is it the 'higher law' for a man to flaunt a woman through the capitals of Europe for two years as his mistress—and then to kill?" he asked. "And the manner in which Harry K. Thaw slew Stanford White does not constitute self-defense east of the Mississippi River."

Mr. Jerome made a fiery attack upon Evelyn Nesbit Thaw, referring to her sarcastically as the "Angel Child," saying she seemed always ready to go to the "human ogre who had stripped her of her virtue."

The District Attorney referred sarcastically to "Dementia Americana," to which Mr. Delmas had referred yesterday as the species of insanity from which Thaw was suffering when he killed Stanford White.

Mr. Jerome declared that the jurors were not to decide the case upon such an issue. "Dementia Americana has no standing on the Atlantic seaboard," he declared.

Jerome's Plea.

"Gentlemen of the jury," said Mr. Jerome, arising when court had opened, "from all I can judge from the papers—I having been absent—you have been wandering through a mere field of romance for two days.

"The life of a human being is not to be judged on such premises. The issues here cannot be determined by quotations from the Scriptures. You have been enjoined by the courts to make up your verdict solely from the evidence. The attorneys for the defense have had the responsibility of a human life resting upon them. But there has been a responsibility equally grave upon the prosecution.

"The law is not a cruel law. It does not punish for the mere sake of punishment. It punishes to protect those who live under it.

"Important as it is that no human life should be put out unjustly, it is equally important to the community in matters pertaining to his own private affairs, and nothing more.

"It must be a doubt of which you are reasonably or morally certain. A reasonable doubt is not a mere whim.

"On the subject of insanity you jurors were carefully examined," said Mr. Jerome. "You swore you would not inject any ideas of your own into your judgment, but take the law as it was laid down to you by the Court. You swore you would accept only that form of insanity which deprives a man of the knowledge of the nature and quality of his act or that it is wrong—that is against the current morality of the community. You did not swear to bring this 'Dementia Americana' into the case."

"Dementia Americana, men," he said, "has no place in your verdict. You swore to take no higher law than the law of your State.

"Dementia Americana——

"Dementia Americana."

"What is the dementia Americana which walks and glares at its enemy for three years and then kills? It waits three long years, and grows bitter, and then strikes.

"Dementia Americana—that flaunts the woman for whom it kills through the capitals of Europe for two years as its mistress. Is that the higher law? Gentlemen, the higher law does not hinge itself under the hem of a woman's skirt.

"Dementia Americana—is that the law which puts a woman up to tell of her shame—or misfortune, as the case may be—to all the world in the hope it will shield a worthless life from the people's righteous demand?

"That is not the kind of law you swore to accept, and if you do it, men, you violate your oaths."

Mr. Jerome took up the evidence of the witnesses for the people on the direct case, and with the aid of a large diagram showed the jury how Thaw moved about the roof garden before and after the shooting. He referred to the testimony of James Clinch Smith.

"Do you remember Truxton Beale and the case of two men and a woman?" Thaw asked Smith.

"Perhaps, gentlemen, my learned brother-in-law did not recognize him. It can hardly be called self-defense east of the Mississippi River.

"There can be logically but one of four verdicts returned by you: Murder in the first degree, because there was not only design, but premeditation; murder in the second degree, because there was design, but no premeditation; manslaughter, because there was neither design nor premeditation, but merely the heat of passion, or, lastly, not guilty, because of insanity.

"Gentlemen of the jury, it is for counsel to appeal to you as they themselves see their duty. To me the duty points only to an appeal upon the evidence in court. Counsel should not drag collateral things into this case. An effort to inflame your passions and to turn your minds from the issue in this trial to another case, is not considered the duty of counsel on the Atlantic seaboard.

"Your oath binds you to render your verdict upon the evidence, and that alone. You must reach your verdict which Mr. Delmas had referred yesterday as the species of insanity from which Thaw was suffering when he killed Stanford White.

Mr. Jerome declared that the jurors were not to decide the case upon such an issue. "Dementia Americana has no standing on the Atlantic seaboard," he declared.

Jerome's Plea.

"Gentlemen of the jury," said Mr. Jerome, arising when court had opened, "from all I can judge from the papers—I having been absent—you have been wandering through a mere field of romance for two days.

"The life of a human being is not to be judged on such premises. The issues here cannot be determined by quotations from the Scriptures. You have been enjoined by the courts to make up your verdict solely from the evidence. The attorneys for the defense have had the responsibility of a human life resting upon them. But there has been a responsibility equally grave upon the prosecution.

"The law is not a cruel law. It does not punish for the mere sake of punishment. It punishes to protect those who live under it.

"Important as it is that no human life should be put out unjustly, it is equally important to the community in matters pertaining to his own private affairs, and nothing more.

"It must be a doubt of which you are reasonably or morally certain. A reasonable doubt is not a mere whim.

"On the subject of insanity you jurors were carefully examined," said Mr. Jerome. "You swore you would not inject any ideas of your own into your judgment, but take the law as it was laid down to you by the Court. You swore you would accept only that form of insanity which deprives a man of the knowledge of the nature and quality of his act or that it is wrong—that is against the current morality of the community. You did not swear to bring this 'Dementia Americana' into the case."

"Dementia Americana, men," he said, "has no place in your verdict. You swore to take no higher law than the law of your State.

"Dementia Americana——

MRS. BASSETT WEDS MINISTER NAMED IN SUIT

Rev. Lawrence Hunt Was Accused in Trial of Senator's Daughter.

BATTLE OVER CHILDREN

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

NEW YORK, April 10.—Mrs. Fannie Rice Bassett, recently the central figure in a sensational divorce suit, was married last night to Rev. E. Lawrence Hunt, former pastor of the Noble Street Presbyterian Church, Brooklyn, at the latter's residence. Hunt's name figured prominently in the suit brought by Mr. Bassett.

Rice Bassett, son of the divorced woman, gave his mother away and Charles A. Boston, the bride's attorney witnessed the ceremony, which was performed by Rev. Henry M. Warren. Mr. Hunt resigned his pastorship last Monday, rather than defend himself against the charges which grew out of the Bassett case.

Mrs. Bassett is the daughter of the late Benjamin F. Rice, United States Senator from Arkansas. She was married to Bassett in 1891. Bassett is a stenographer for the United States Geological Survey.

Mr. Bassett filed his suit for divorce in Washington and Mrs. Bassett filed a counter suit in Omaha, Neb., a short time later. On Feb. 13 Justice Gould, in the District Supreme Court at Washington, rendered a decision and announced that he would issue to Mr. Bassett a decree of absolute divorce.

Mrs. Bassett's attorney held that the Washington decree was not binding and was two weeks later before Judge Redick, before whom the Omaha case was tried, admitted to evidence the decree of the Washington District Supreme Court and dismissed the action of Mrs. Bassett on the ground that the couple's marriage bonds had already been dissolved.

Denied He Was Child's Father.

The interest in the case centered principally about the birth of a child, named by the mother Lawrence Hunt Bassett, after Rev. E. Lawrence Hunt, which was born in the Johns Hopkins Hospital, Baltimore, 10 months after Mr. Bassett left his wife, to engage in field work for the geological survey. Bassett denied the parentage of the child.

Testimony in the case was taken by chancery examiners, who traveled about the country examining witnesses.

Evidence taken in Baltimore related to the time when Mrs. Bassett boarded with Hunter her husband had left. Belle Mitchell, a chambermaid at the house where Mrs. Bassett stopped, swore that when she knocked on Mrs. Bassett's door one day she was told to come in by Hunt, who declared that Mrs. Bassett was not dressed at the time and that Hunt was sitting on a chair near the window.

Testimony appeared in the records showing that Mrs. Bassett denied the birth of the child and did not even inform her husband of the addition to her family. She told an old friend that she had been to the hospital to be treated for heart trouble.

Questioned as to why she did not inform her husband of the birth of the child, Mrs. Bassett replied that she had determined when he left her, never to live with him again and that she thought it was none of his business.

Hunt's Letter Read.

One of Hunt's letters to a friend of Mrs. Bassett declared that he "had no selfish motive in helping one of the best of the flock God had given him and that he was convinced she would prove an exceptional power in the spiritual and social life of the congregation." He said he had had no intention of asking her to be his wife when she was free.

While the Bassetts were living at the Albemarle apartments in Washington Mrs. Bassett entertained a great deal and, it is said, saw much of her pastor. When the latter was a candidate for chaplain of the United States Senate, Mrs. Bassett used her acquaintance with prominent people to forward his candidacy. He was not elected, however.

Julia Carter, one of the colored servants at the Albemarle, testified that Hunt called near-ly every morning after Bassett went away and sometimes in the afternoon. Mrs. Bassett gave her money to say nothing of Hunt's visits to Bassett, the negress said.

She declared that upon one occasion Bassett came home while Hunt was in the parlor with his wife and that the pastor concealed himself behind a door until Bassett went into a bedroom, when he slipped out, the maid holding the door for him.

Following the decision rendered by Judge Redick in Omaha a strenuous fight for the custody of the five children was waged. After much delay Mrs. Bassett was finally awarded the custody of all but the eldest.

LONG CHASE FOR ORANGE.

Peddler Sought Warrant for Youth Who Took It.

Assistant Prosecuting Attorney Falkenhainer became indignant when asked by Fred Meyer, a fruit peddler, to issue a warrant against 16-year-old Thomas Reardon of 2827 North Market street for "swiping" an orange. The prosecutor ordered Meyer out of his office. A crowd on the outside which had joined in the chase of the boy, thinking a crime had been committed, cheered the peddler as he walked away.

Thomas took an orange, Meyer declared, from the vendor's basket in the door of 307 North Fourth street Tuesday afternoon. Meyer yelled "Stop, thief!" at the top of his voice. One hundred men and boys joined in the chase and a policeman fired three shots in the air. The boy was caught at Sixth street and Washington avenue. When the members of the crowd saw the "thief" they hooted at Meyer, and many cried, "soak him." He was protected by a policeman.

The New Life of Christ will be shown at the Lyceum, west side of Sixth street, between Market and Walnut, on Thursday, the 11th, at 3 p. m. and 8 p. m.

Wants Divorce Decree Set Aside.

Frederick B. Henderson, in a motion filed in Judge Foster's court, asks that a decree of divorce granted to his wife, Beatrice R. Henderson, April 3, be set aside. He says her petition did not state facts sufficient to give the court jurisdiction and that he had a meritorious defense, but that the attorney he employed to represent him did not attend to the matter. The divorce was granted by default. Mrs. Henderson was given the custody of their three children. The couple were married in 1900.

SNOW AND SUNSHINE DOMINANT IN ART WORK AT MUSEUM

Canvases of Norwegian Painters Present Scenes Typical of the North as it Appears in Winter and in Summer—Many Other Beautiful Paintings.

BY ROSE MARION.

THE snow and the sunshine of the North have much space on the canvases that represent Norwegian art in a temporary exhibit at the Park Art Museum. Two of the larger paintings are of actresses—Miss Reimers, a Norwegian, by Henrik Lund, and Mrs. Anna Larsen, a Dane, by Mrs. Oda Krohg. That of Miss Reimers is on the order of a portrait, showing her in street cloak and hat, the latter much beveiled. Mrs. Krohg's painting is an idealization of art. In it Mrs. Larsen, in the garb of a Grecian maiden, has her fingers on the strings of a musical instrument.

Probably the strongest picture in the collection is by Fritz Thaulow. It is the only one unframed. Like most Thaulow pictures it has running water in it, but in this case water is not that of Norway, but of Normandy. It seems to have a babble that is entirely French and less responsible than the waters of the North countries.

A Brittany Interior.

Miss Harriet Backer has a "Brittany Interior" that makes one long for the rest of that province even though judging from the amount of "Brittanies" one sees in art and story it must be crowded with artists of pen and pencil. The picture is without life, but the heavy oaken table, the doorless cupboard and the pewter dishes make one know that the "femme" is not far away.

"Night of St. John" or "Night of St. Ivan" (it is called the first in the list of pictures and the second is its real title, Ivan being John in some languages) by G. Stenersen is the story pictures among those shown. It tells of the way the birthday of the saint of many namesakes is observed in the country of the artist. The sky is the blue night sky of summer. To the front of the canvas is the fire in honor of St. John. At the side is a bareheaded man with a violin, from which he is giving music to the night and to his mates, four men and a woman, whose whole attention is given to the fire.

The woman is gowned in blue made as are the field dresses of women of the North. Near her is a basket in which are bottles containing the cheer of St. John's day. The men near her seem to be Norwegian peasants, with the exception of one, who has an artist's face as well as an artist's beard. The only sign of habitation is the roof of a farmhouse coming above a distant hill.

Lars Jorde has a picture called "Woman With Lantern, Moonlight," which deserves a prettier name than that suggestion of effects. The moonlight shines on heavily drifted snow and on the woman's figure as she trudges out with the lantern. The brightness of snow and moon are such that one wonders why she carries the lantern unless it be to show the caprice of womankind or the ability of the artist to paint two kinds of light.

Summer in Norway.

"Summer in Norway," by Gerhard Munthe is prettily done. In it is the joy that all people of the North feel when winter days are done, and it is really the glad time of the sun. It seems to be almost symbolic in showing the intensity of the happiness of those whose life is mostly storm.

Munthe has two other strange things that look more like posters than pictures. They are water-colors. One is called "The Fairy Garden," the fairies being sunbonneted femininities who walk about Japanese fashion. The other is "Tjor," which from the best identification on my part is our old god "Thor." By means of a storm he is helping his sons to a victory in the battle of "Hjorungavaag."

Chr. Krohg's "Interior of a Fisherman's Cottage" is suggestive of peace. An old fisherman, who has sailed away many times, is busy with his nets. He works with his hands and his mouth and perhaps even his feet in their sabots are keeping time to the twists he is making. His brown-eyed wife is the satisfying part of the picture. She has broken her heart at each sailing away, but this day of the picture she is happy because the nets keep her old fisher laddie at home.

A marine called "Breakers in Moonlight," by Thorolf Holmboe is large and worth the space it takes. The moon itself has no place in the painting except that which its rays make for themselves on the waves. Two lighthouses give a brightness in places where the moonlight is not strong. Holmboe has two others, "Winter in Sunset" and "Winter, Near Christiana," both of which show sunlight on snow. The latter has some birches in the foreground.

Many Other Good Pictures.

Borgen has on "Old Norwegian Farm," in which are a thatched cottage, an old cart being drawn up a hill by an old horse and three human beings, the latter having only color space.

The third woman represented in the collection is Kitty Kielland, who calls her big canvas "Norwegian Landscape." A girl with wind-tossed hair is sitting by a brook, the surroundings of which seem inland until one looks beyond and sees the sea.

The smoke of a vessel marks the sky above the sea, but the girl is not looking that way. For the time being the brook is enough for her.

Other notes that I have made on the Norwegian pictures read as follows:

Hussey Gets Venue Change.

Delegate Frank Hussey of the Twenty-second Ward and William F. Fitzgerald were arraigned in the City Hall Police Court Wednesday on a charge of interfering with Policeman O'Connor when he attempted to arrest a man at the polls at 310 North Channing avenue during the city election April 2. Judge Tracy granted the defendants a change of venue to the Dayton Street Police Court and set the cases for trial April 17.

GUARANTEED STOMACH REMEDY

Will Refund Money If Mi-o-na Fails to Cure

You may ask why it is that Mi-o-na stomach tablets are sold under a guarantee to refund the money unless they cure, when no other treatment for stomach troubles is sold in this manner.

The answer is simple and conclusive.

Other medicines for stomach troubles merely digest the food, while Mi-o-na strengthens the whole digestive system so that it soon becomes able to care for all the food that is eaten.

If you do not use your arm or leg for a month, the muscles become flabby and weak and you have to resort to artificial help. It is the same way with the stomach muscles. If they are not used, they become so weak that it is necessary to continue using a digestive with the food you eat.

On the other hand, when you use Mi-o-na your stomach soon grows so strong that you can give up the use of medicine.

We absolutely agree that your money will be refunded should you buy a 50c box of Mi-o-na stomach tablets and not be satisfied with the results. Mi-o-na is sold by druggists everywhere, or will be sent by mail on receipt of price, 50c.

Write today for a free sample package, and also give us your symptoms, and one of the best-known stomach specialists will give your case his careful and personal attention without charge. Booth's Miona Company, Buffalo, N. Y.

POSSE FAILS TO CAPTURE OUTLAWS

Now Denied That Men Who Shot Webb City Marshal Are the Wickliffes.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

WEBB CITY, Mo., April 10.—Not only has the Baxter Springs posse of deputy sheriffs and members of the Anti-Horse Thief Association returned to the Kansas border empty handed after the chase into the Indian Territory after the alleged Wickliffe gang of desperadoes, which held up the station agent at Quapaw, shot Marshal Black at Baxter Springs and stole two horses and saddles in their flight north, but Jim Thompson of Tallequah denies vehemently that the Wickliffes are the parties guilty of the outlawry. Thompson is the guide who escorted a Post-Dispatch correspondent to the stronghold of the Wickliffe outlaws last summer, and he is said to be the only white man now in touch with and able to visit them at will.

Thompson has just seen the Wickliffes, and declares that Charles, Tom and John Wickliffe are at present hiding near Kansas and Indian Territory, and, to his knowledge, were not in the vicinity of Baxter Springs at the time of the Quapaw robbery, or the shooting of Marshal Black. Reports from the front are to the effect that the Baxter Springs posse followed various trails far into the fastnesses of the Spavinaw Hills, the old Wickliffe rendezvous, and that the trails became so diversified that the posse was scattered and demoralized. No definite news of any important capture has been reported.

Eggs for City Institutions.

During the next three months the patients and inmates of the city's charitable institutions will be provided with 11,280 dozens of eggs. Commissioner of Supplies John P. Boyce Wednesday closed a contract with Armour & Co. to furnish eggs from April 25 to July 25 at 15.43 cents a dozen. The demand for eggs is especially large at the City Hospital, where they are almost as necessary in the treatment of patients as medicines. They are also an important article of diet at the Poorhouse, where there are many old and infirm inmates. During the present week Commissioner Boyce will close contracts for food supplies for the City Hospital, Insane Asylum, Poorhouse, Female Hospital, Jail, Workhouse, Industrial School and Emergency Hospital.

Blood Humors

Manifesting themselves in pimples, boils, eczema or salt rheum, and other eruptions, which are so common as

Spring Ailments

and causing nervousness, biliousness, indigestion, headache, loss of appetite, lassitude, and

GIRLS WITH CANDY WIN LEGISLATORS

They Lobby and Induce Senate to Employ Them as Clerks.

IT MEANS NEW DRESSES

From a Staff Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

JEFFERSON CITY, April 9.—There are many happy feminine hearts in Jefferson City today, as a result of the Senate's decision to employ a liberal force of clerks to attend to the business of the special session.

A score of pretty girls wanted places on the legislative payroll at $3.50 a day. They did that well at the regular session, and why, they asked, should any change be made now. Why, they pleaded, should the Legislature wish to be stingy; think of that $2,000,000 surplus in the treasury and then to haggle about a few clerkships. Why, the very thought of the thing made them mildly indignant. They failed to see merit in the argument that with a few bills to consider a large number of clerks would be unnecessary. Imagine their feelings when the Democratic leaders dared to announce that the services of men—just consider that, men only—would be required.

If you have never been to Jefferson City, you perhaps would not be able to appreciate what a furore that announcement was sure to cause. Nor would you doubt that such a rule could be enforced. Being otherwise possessed of the knowledge that women rule legislative affairs here to a large extent, the problem of retrenchment with the fairest of fair maidens, each a political general in her own way, as a sacrifice, would seem incredible of accomplishment. And so it proved to be.

Our Jefferson City girls, who made oodles of pin money at the regular session and were able to buy their own Easter bonnets and array themselves in the most gorgeous of spring costumes, decided to swoop down on the Senate in a body and demand a hearing.

Preliminary to this action they formed a regular lobby, with a lieutenant to corral each Senator and, as the boys say "make him come across" with a promise to rescind the proposed rule. That lobby was simply invincible. Of course it won. Flowers and bonbons were distributed in profusion, and each gift meant a new vest and nearly every vote meant a new summer dress.

True to their sense of gallantry, the Democratic Senators at their caucus last night concluded to allow each member two clerks. One-third of the clerkships will be given to women.

"We can work just as well as the men," said a young society matron today. "I was on the emergency force after the regular session closed and we put in eight whole hours every day for nearly two weeks.

"Now, why shouldn't the special session have remembered us? Of course they should. Was there any reason why they wouldn't need us as much now as they did before? Well, of course, not. Won't we have to work just as hard? I am sure we will."

WEST TO EAST ON A HORSE.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

JUNCTION CITY, Kan., April 10.—Second Lieut. McCabe of the Sixth Cavalry at Fort Riley, on special duty, has received notice from Washington that he has been selected to make a ride from Portland, Ore., to New York, on an Arabian stallion. The purpose of this long ride is to test the endurance of this breed of horses with the view of determining their value as cavalry horses. Lieut. McCabe expects to be ordered to Portland within the next two weeks. He will be accompanied by an orderly, and they will travel overland with their full field equipment.

Lieut. McCabe is envied because of his prospective ride by all the young officers in the garrison, and nearly all of the enlisted men would give all that they possess to be chosen as the orderly to accompany the officer. It is said that the expenses of the trip will be paid by an Eastern breeder of horses, who has been trying for years to find the best horses for cavalry purposes with the view of breeding for that purpose. The distance from Portland to New York is 3181 miles by rail. The route Lieut. McCabe will follow probably will be longer than that.

Accused of Land Fraud.

DES MOINES, Ia., April 10.—D. C. Willoughby is charged in Justice Cope's court with obtaining money by false pretense. He is alleged to have sold thousands of acres of land giving in return fraudulent deeds. Carmon Layton, a well-to-do-farmer, is the complainant in the case here on which the warrant was issued.

GIRL WHO WILL GET $2,000,000 FROM BROTHER AS WEDDING GIFT

TO GET $2,000,000 AS WEDDING GIFT

MARRIAGE TO BE QUIET

Miss Schwab's Fiance Is Bank Cashier in Johnstown, Pa.

PITTSBURG, Pa., April 10.—Upon her marriage today to David Barry, cashier of a bank at Johnstown, Miss Gertrude Schwab, the favorite sister of Charles M. Schwab, millionaire steel and mining magnate, will receive from her brother $2,000,000 as a wedding present, according to Miss Schwab's friends. The ceremony will be performed in St. Michael's Church at Loretta, the home of the Schwabs. Rev. John R. Barry, a brother of the groom, will officiate.

The wedding will be a quiet affair and the bride will have but one attendant—Miss McCorray of Cleveland. The groom will be attended by Dr. F. A. McAneny of Johnstown, his lifelong friend. Only relatives and the immediate friends of the couple will be present. Charles M. Schwab and his wife left New York yesterday to be present at the ceremony.

After the marriage Mr. and Mrs. Barry will leave for New York, where they will spend several days, after which they will go to Philadelphia and Atlantic City. The greater part of the honeymoon will be spent at the latter place. They will then return to Johnstown, where they will take up their residence at 248 Main street in a comfortable home that is owned by Mr. Barry, who has a fair-sized fortune of his own. Later on in the season Mr. and Mrs. Barry will go to Europe, where they will spend several months.

Miss Schwab has just returned to her home in Loretta, after an extended shopping tour to this city. The greater part of her trousseau was purchased in New York, however.

The New Life of Christ will be shown at the Lyceum, west side of Sixth street, between Market and Walnut, on Thursday, the 11th, at 3 p. m. and 8 p. m.

ANARCHIST IS ARRESTED.

Thought to Have Had Designs on Italian King.

ATHENS, April 10.—Pietro Solani, a well-known anarchist, was taken into custody at the Hotel Constantinople, Piraeus, previous to the arrival of the Steamer Victor Emmanuel. It was suspected that he has designs on the Italian monarch. The police authorities questioned him at length as to his presence in Greece, but he was unable to answer satisfactorily. He also contradicted himself several times while being questioned.

Berth for Dr. McGee.

It is said to be probable that when the new Inland Waterways Commission meets in Washington April 24, Dr. W J McGee of St. Louis will be elected secretary. The position will not make it necessary for him to remove his residence from this city, although much of his time will be spent in Washington.

JEROME DENOUNCES EVELYN NESBIT THAW.

"Thaw walked deliberately across the roof garden and in such manner that his enemy should have no chance to defend himself, then turned suddenly and, holding the pistol so close to Stanford White's head that after he was dead, Mr. Smith, his brother-in-law, did not know him because of the powder marks, and firing one, twice, three times.

Illustrates the Tragedy.

Mr. Jerome picked up the pistol from the table in front of him and as he spoke the words punctuated them by pulling the trigger three times.

"Deliberately he shot the man who had barred him from clubs, who had once taken from him the woman he loved and threatened to take her away again, and then, my learned opponent tells you, he stood with his arms extended, like a priest dismissing a congregation. I did not see anything in the evidence about that.

"He held the pistol up that the people present might know that there would be no more shooting, in order to prevent a panic. When the man who arrested him asked why he did it, the prisoner answered: 'He ruined my wife.'

"He did not say, 'I am the apostle of God, appointed to kill this ravisher of American virgins.'

"No, my friends, this apostle of God business came after this defendant had the advice of my friend, Dr. Evans."

Mr. Jerome went into the details of the evidence regarding Thaw's actions and words after the killing, and said that there was not one thing that did not show absolute calmness, coolness and rationality.

Crowd Broke the Record.

All previous crowds were insignificant compared to that which stormed the courtroom doors this morning in an effort to hear District-Attorney Jerome sum up.

Court did not convene until 11:30, and two hours before that time the advance guard of spectators began to arrive and took up positions of vantage in the corridors leading to the courtroom, so as to be among the first to be admitted when the doors were opened. The police, however, were prepared for the rush, and kept the doors closed until 11 o'clock. But this did not prevent a large number of favored friends from getting into the courtroom before that hour.

Court attendants employed the side doors leading to the ante-room to good advantage, and so when the main entrance was opened the trial room was almost filled.

The small inclosure in front of the Judge's bench was also taxed to its utmost capacity by the friends and assistants of the District Attorney, and altogether the scene in the courtroom when Mr. Jerome rose to address the jury was one of tense interest, expectancy and suppressed excitement.

In the corridors the scenes were more stirring. Scores of disappointed men and women made an onslaught upon the police guard in a last effort to pass, only to be repulsed and fairly dragged back from the entrance. Men with "influence" pleaded with the officers, cajoled, begged and threatened, but all in vain.

About five minutes before the session was begun members of the Thaw family began to arrive. The first to enter was Josiah Thaw, accompanied by his sister, the Countess of Yarmouth. Mrs. Carnegie and her husband were next. Mrs. Edward Thaw and Evelyn Thaw followed quickly and the elder Mrs. Thaw came last.

All looked hopeful and confident.

At 11:35 o'clock Justice Fitzgerald took his seat upon the bench, the jury was brought in and Harry K. Thaw was called to the bar.

If Mr. Jerome finishes his address in time, Justice Fitzgerald will probably charge the jury before he adjourns court this afternoon and the day's session should close with the fate of Harry Thaw in the jury's hands.

MRS. EMMA KLARGES SUED.

Proceeding to Collect $1500 Echo of Mullanphy Bank.

Charles Fensky filed suit Wednesday in the Circuit Court against Emma Klarges, widow of Henry Klarges; Theodore Rassieur and Gerrhard Strode, former Public Administrator, for $1500. He asks that Strode be enjoined from paying to Rassieur $1000, which, he says, the Administrator has allowed in partial satisfaction of a judgment of $10,000 held by Rassieur against the Klarges' estate.

The document recites that in March, 1901, judgment for $48,700 was rendered in favor of William J. Stone, now United States Senator, who was then receiver of the Mullanphy Bank, against Klarges and other defendants.

Klarges died, after the judgment had been obtained, and left an estate which, Fensky says, was valued at $60,000, in bonds and negotiable securities.

He says in his petition that the widow, Emma Klarges, appropriated the money to her own account and left the country, now being resident in some foreign land. He then relates that Rassieur bought the judgment against Klarges from Stone for $10,000. Now that it is understood that final settlement will be made of the Klarges estate and $1000 is to be paid by Strode to Rassieur, as holder of the judgment, Fensky asks that the payment be made to him as holder of a prior judgment of $1500 against the estate.

Women's Work Consolidated.

As the result of an agreement made some time ago and formally ratified Tuesday Christian work among young women, which heretofore has been divided between the Young Women's Christian Association and the Women's Christian Association, will hereafter be carried on by the former organization. This is the official announcement of Mrs. C. R. Springer, president of the Women's Christian Association, and Mrs. D. R. Williams, president of the Young Women's Christian Association, which has its home at Garrison and Lucas avenues. The home at Lindell and Grand avenues will be given up and the united forces will now endeavor to raise funds to build a permanent home. More than 2100 young women are now enrolled as members of the organization.

ASKS AID FOR RUSSIANS.

Dr. Kennard Says 20,000,00 Are Slowly Starving.

LONDON, April 10.—Dr. Kennard, Commissioner of the Society of Friends, who was sent to investigate the Russian famine, writing from Samara, in the heart of the famine district, under date of April 3, appeals to the United States and Great Britain to promptly send help. He says:

"There are 20,000,000 people distributed in the southeastern provinces of Russia who, without aid, cannot live to see another harvest."

In Samara alone, the Commissioner adds, thousands are dying, and 750,000 are starving. Of the latter, only 372,700 are getting relief. As a meal is only two pounds of bread and a bowl of soup, this, according to the Commissioner, means dying by degrees. The Commissioner especially appeals for canned milk. He says there are 200,000 children in Samara province who have no milk and are forced to eat coarse bread made of acorns, powdered wood and cucumbers, resulting in thousands of deaths and much disease.

WIFE'S LOAN OF $50 NUCLEUS OF CONNOR FORTUNE

Before Marriage She Gave Him Money and He Doubled It on Foot Race.

$350,000 FOR GIRL

It was a $50 loan made by the woman now his widow and a patient in St. Vincent's Hospital that started the late State Senator Tom Connor on the road to millions when Joplin was a red-hot mining camp. He bet the fifty on a foot race, which he ran and won.

He soon followed up his first success by winning the hand of the woman who became his wife. She was his lodestar, for fortune came thick and fast from the moment of the union. The wife drudged at her household duties while Connor schemed outside.

By their combined economy and shrewdness the future mining king became possessed, in less than a year, of great tracts of land that afterward developed into fabulous deposits of lead and zinc.

Two years after the marriage Connor was enjoying royalties amounting to $900 a week. From that time onward wealth poured into the Connor coffers.

Then came the death of their only son, which happened in 1885. It is understood that this event unhinged Mrs. Connor's mind. After consulting specialists, Mr. Connor placed her in St. Vincent's, where she has remained 20 years and where her peculiar form of melancholia is the idea that the authorities of the institution are keeping the son apart from her.

The next incident of vital interest in Senator Connor's life was the adoption of Agnes O'Heron, who now at the age of 15, inherits a sixth part of the foster father's estate, amounting to $350,000, just because her bright eyes captivated him, when, during a period of invalidism, the little girl took fresh milk to him from a Joplin convent of which she was a ward.

Fears as to the validity of the original testament of Senator Connor, owing to their failure to find the codicil making the bequest to his adopted daughter, have been dispelled by the discovery of these documents, Tuesday, in the vaults of the Mercantile Trust Co., where they had been placed by the late mining king.

The second codicil of the will divided the estate in equal shares among Agnes O'Heron Connor and the testator's five nephews and nieces, as announced in the Post-Dispatch of Tuesday.

The beneficiaries include, aside from the adopted daughter, Katherine Connor, Nance Connor and J. O. Connor of Tiffin, O.

The same codicil makes a bequest of $100,000 to the city of Tiffin, O., the boyhood home of Senator Connor. The city of Joplin also receives a like amount. The provisions of the codicil state that the funds shall be expended for charitable purposes.

An equal amount is provided for the maintenance of Mrs. Thomas Connor, the widow. She has no idea of the death of her husband.

Col. W. H. Phelps, the Missouri Pacific attorney, was appointed Monday, by the Circuit Court of Carthage, to act as the legal guardian of Mrs. Connor.

COUNCILMEN ARE AROUSED.

Pittsburgers Charged With Selling Dedication Tickets.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

PITTSBURG, Pa., April 10.—Three Pittsburg councilmen are charged with selling their tickets of admission to the dedication of the Carnegie Institute for $10 each, and a councilmanic investigation will probably follow. All arrangements for the dedication are complete. Mr. Carnegie has sent word to Pittsburg that he will consider it a favor if all social entertainments are omitted, as the regular program will tax the strength of the guests. There is much sorrow among Pittsburg society women in consequence. Mr. Carnegie also announced that he would lead the parade personally from the Hotel Schenley to the Institute.

Incubator Baby's Mother Dead.

The three-pound incubator baby at the City Hospital is an orphan. Its mother, Mrs. Rachel Williams, of 2730 Lucas avenue, died at the hospital Tuesday night. She was 35 years old, and was a cook. The child will probably live, it is said at the hospital. It will be kept in the incubator, swathed in cotton, until it is old enough to be moved, and will then be placed in an orphan asylum. It is one of the smallest babies ever seen at the hospital, its length being 15 inches and its head 3 to 4 inches in diameter. Its arms and legs are the size of a man's finger. Its lungs, however, according to the nurses, are unimpaired.

Finds Burglar in Room.

Awakened by footsteps in her room at 2:30 a. m. Wednesday, Mrs. John Greene of 5958 Horton place, sat up in bed and blinked in the rays of a dark lantern in the hands of a burglar. She screamed and the intruder fled. Mr. Greene, hearing his wife's screams, pursued the burglar, but the latter escaped through a kitchen door. Later Mr. Greene found his trousers in the back yard, where they had been dropped by the burglar in his flight.

Parents Find Runaway Son.

Charles N. Henneman, Chief of Police of Keokuk, Ia., and his wife were reunited with their truant son, Charles, 17 years old, who ran away from home a month ago, at police headquarters Wednesday. The mother cried with joy and the father showed his pleasure by taking Charles downtown and treating him to new clothes, shoes, hair cut and a big meal.

PUBLIC SCHOOL TEAM MANAGERS ARRANGE BASEBALL SCHEDULE

FINAL GAMES IN SERIES

Some Star Players Developing in the Practice Games Already Had.

Wednesday afternoon the captains and managers of the 44 teams in the Post-Dispatch Public School Baseball League assembled at the office of the league in the Post-Dispatch Building, became acquainted with each other and decided on the grounds on which they will play the games arranged in the schedule.

The schedule of the games to be played by the teams in the five sub-leagues covers four Saturdays, with two games on each day—April 13, April 20, April 27 and May 4. As four of the five leagues have nine teams, there will be a midweek game between two teams to make the schedule of these four leagues run even with that of the fifth league, which has eight teams.

After this schedule has been played the five teams with the highest percentage in each league will play each other for the public school championship of the city. These final games of the sub-leagues has been prepared on a percentage basis, with each team in each league playing every other team in that league one game.

Almost all the teams in the league have had practice games this week, and some very good games have been played. Star players are developing in most of the games.

Clarence Beers, captain of the Hogden School, who made a brilliant record as a twirler in several games during the last of March has been keeping up his good work. In three games played the first week of April he struck out some 30 men and allowed only six to walk.

The Marquette School trimmed the Riddicks Tuesday to the tune of 12 to 3. A homerun by Shortstop Grubb of the Marquettes was the feature of the game. Pitcher Schuette of the winning team struck out seven men in the first three innings.

The Madisons beat teh Lacledes by a score of 11 to 5, the features of the game being the pitching of Ralph Adams for the Madisons. The Clays defeated the Bryan Hills by a score of 25 to 13.

ON THE COURT'S MERCY.

Oliver O. Lyons Tells of His Downfall and Asks Aid.

Oliver O. Lyons of 1717 South Jefferson avenue, who Tuesday pleaded guilty to grand larceny in Judge Williams' court, in a letter to Judge Williams in which he throws himself on the mercy of the Court, confesses that he embezzled about $2600 from the Terminal Association while employed as ticket seller at Third street and Washington avenue.

He was indicted for stealing six ostrich plumes, valued at $63, from the King-Brinsmade Mercantile Co.

He told the Court that the Terminal Association had not prosecuted him because he had paid back most of the shortage and promised to make complete restitution.

Lyons is 27 and has a wife and two small children.

"Playing the races started me wrong," he said to a Post-Dispatch reporter after entering his plea. "I began work for the Terminal Association when but 17. While ticket seller at the Washington avenue station I began betting on the races at the Fair Grounds and took the company's money. For five or six months I averaged at least $20 a day. One day detection came. I sold some property I owned for $1200 and turned it over. My wife's mother also helped and because of my youth and previous good record I was not prosecuted.

"Next I got a position with an express company and it was necessary to refer to my past employers in giving bond. My misdeed was learned and I lost the post.

"I got work with the King-Brinsmade Mercantile Co. at $10 a week. Christmas was coming on. I wanted to make presents to my family. A fellow told me how to dispose of ostrich feathers belonging to the firm. They were worth $200, but I got about $40 for them. Again I was detected and this time there was nothing to save me.

"I determined to make a full breast of both offenses to the Court and trust to his clemency, whatever the penalty."

NO LAW FOR DISTURBER.

Polling Place Not Public and Accused Is Freed.

Robert Hager, an election judge, charged with being drunk and throwing the ballot box on the floor, escaped punishment Wednesday because nobody would prosecute him. Judge Pollard of the Dayton Street Police Court held that the case was not within his jurisdiction and at the Circuit Attorney's office it was said that there was no law under which the man could be prosecuted in the State courts.

When Hager was first brought before him, Judge Pollard ordered Policeman Collins to report the case to the Circuit Attorney. The policeman reported to Assistant Prosecuting Attorney Falkenhainer, who referred him back to Judge Pollard. The latter then directed the policeman to go again to the Circuit Attorney, reporting to that official personally.

On his second trip, the policeman saw Prosecuting Attorney Rosskopf, who referred him to Falkenhainer, who said: "If there's any law to warrant a prosecution in the State courts I'd like to see it."

When this was reported to Judge Pollard Wednesday morning, he said: "It's not my business to show him the law."

The Judge then heard the evidence on the Police Court charge, which was that Hager had disturbed the peace in a public place. Judge Pollard ruled that a polling place was not public, but restricted, and dismissed the case.

DENEEN FAVORS WATERWAY.

Recommends Project in Special Message to Legislature.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., April 10.—Gov. Deneen today sent to the Illinois Legislature a special message relative to the proposed deep waterway between Chicago and St. Louis. The report of the State commission deals broadly with the possibilities of further developments of the route and sets forth the advantageous position which Illinois occupies in relation to the extension.

The Governor asks the Legislature to pass such acts as will be in the interest of the waterway and also to enact a law that will send the money derived from the sale of certain water lands into a special fund for the waterway.

Wanted, children to come to the Lyceum, west side of Sixth street, between Market and Walnut, on Saturday, April 13. Each child who is accompanied by a cat or a dog will be presented with five tickets, good any day except Saturday or Sunday.

FOLK UNDECIDED ON COURT BILL

Democratic Senator Opposes New Tribunal for Which Sager Worked.

From a Staff Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

JEFFERSON CITY, April 10.—Contrary to reports sent from here, Gov. Folk has not yet decided to sign the bill providing an additional circuit court for St. Louis, to be called the Court of General Sessions, for the hearing of preliminary examinations in felony cases. It appears this bill is fathered by Circuit Attorney Sager, who has just announced the appointment of the man who is to be one of his assistants in the event the Governor approves the bill. C. Orrick Bishop, ex-Judge of the Circuit Court, who told audiences throughout St. Louis in the November campaign that he went down on his knees every night and prayed for the success of the Democratic ticket, expects to be appointed Judge of the proposed new criminal division.

It will also be recalled that on election day Judge Bishop was the only member of the St. Louis circuit bench who held open court to provide bond for those who happened to get into trouble.

At the same time Gov. Folk was out in the State, denouncing the St. Louis Democracy and declaring that if some of its candidates were elected he would request the Warden of the Penitentiary to quarantine that institution, in order that none of its inmates could be contaminated by contact with the St. Louis lawmakers.

The most elaborate argument in behalf of the necessity for the new Circuit Court bill was submitted by Judge Bishop himself. Mr. Bishop is said to regard it as a foregone conclusion that he will be appointed to the place. But the Governor told the Post-Dispatch correspondent today that he had not reached any decision either with reference to signing the bill, or if he did as to whom he would select for Judge.

Three additional circuit courts have been established in St. Louis in the last four years. There are now 13 circuit courts there and the Court of Criminal Correction.

City Auditor Dierkes has called attention to the fact that the criminal costs of St. Louis have doubled during the administration of Mr. Sager as Circuit Attorney. A Democratic Senator, who is opposing the Circuit Court bill, asked today what had become of the Ice Trust prosecutions which Mr. Sager talked so much about last summer. When Circuit Attorney of St. Louis, Mr. Folk had only about half the office force Mr. Sager has now. This politician said that he sees no reason for extending patronage in that direction. Representatives of the Circuit Attorney's office lobbied here industriously for the passage of the bill.

CLEAR-HEADED

Head Bookkeeper Must Be Reliable.

The chief bookkeeper in a large business house in one of our great Western cities speaks of the harm coffee did for him:

"My wife and I drank our first cup of Postum Coffee a little over two years ago, and we have used it ever since, to the entire exclusion of tea and the old kind of coffee. It happened in this way:

"About three and a half years ago I had an attack of pneumonia, which left a memento in the shape of dyspepsia, or rather, to speak more correctly, neuralgia of the stomach. My 'cup of cheer' had always been coffee or tea, but I became convinced after a time, that they aggravated my stomach trouble. I happened to mention the matter to my grocer one day, and he suggested that I give Postum Food Coffee a trial.

"Next day it came, but the cook made the mistake of not boiling it sufficiently, and we did not like it much. This was, however, soon remedied, and now we like it so much that we will never change back. Postum, being a food beverage instead of a drug, has been the means of curing my stomach trouble, I verily believe, for I am a well man today and have used no other remedy.

"My work as chief bookkeeper in our Co.'s branch house here is of a very confining nature. During my coffee-drinking days I was subject to nervousness and 'the blues' in addition to my sick spells. These have left me since I began using Postum Food Coffee, and I can conscientiously recommend it to those whose work confines them to long hours of severe mental exertion." "There's a Reason." Name given by Postum Co., Battle Creek, Mich.

REPUBLICANS TRY TO END SESSION

Brooks Ineffectually Asks Adjournment of Assembly Without Expense.

JEFFERSON CITY, April 10.—The House today adopted a resolution by Representative Groff of Kansas City, setting aside Tuesday, April 16, as a day for holding memorial services in honor of Representative Dupuy of Taney County and Gannaway of Monroe County, who died during the recess. Speaker Atkinson appointed a committee to arrange the services.

The Republicans in the House made an ineffectual effort to bring the special session to an abrupt close today by a resolution introduced by Representative Brooks of St. Louis County to adjourn today. The resolution was lost by a vote of 91 against and 31 for adjournment.

Brooks' resolution provided the session should be immediately brought to a close, without expense to the State, which would mean the members would accept no per diem or mileage. Representative Farris, who is now credited as being Gov. Folk's representative on the floor, moved a postponement of the question, while Representative Kimmet of DeKalb moved to lay the resolution on the table. This latter motion was carried.

Representative Polk of Iron County then presented a resolution to permit all Republicans to leave for their homes, but the Speaker ruled it out of order.

FOLK'S BILLS INTRODUCED.

Thirteen Offered in House and Ten in Senate.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

JEFFERSON CITY, April 10.—Twenty-three bills were introduced in the House today on subjects covered in Gov. Folk's call for the special session. They cover the subject of the regulation of rates on public service corporations, home rule for the police of the cities, State Excise Commissioner, saloon legislation and recall of derelict county officials.

Twelve public service corporation bills were introduced by Cross of Clinton, Barker of Macon, Burch of Audrian, Noyes of Jackson, Wilson of St. Louis, Raney of Livingston, Farris of Crawford, Ditzler of Jackson and Simmons of Shelby. Noyes introduced three and Simmons two. Home-rule police bills were introduced by Sherman of Buchanan, Noyes of Jackson, Catlin of St. Louis, and Busche of St. Louis.

Bills providing for a State Excise Commissioner were presented by Botsford of Knox, Brandon of Daviess, and Barker of Macon. Saloon bills were introduced by Botsford of Knox and Pemberton of Boone.

Huck of St. Genevieve and Cross of Clinton had bills providing for the recall of derelict county officials.

In the Senate 10 bills embracing all the subjects in Gov. Folk's special message were introduced. It is probable no committee meetings will be held this week and that the Senate will adjourn Friday to Monday.

Man Hurt When Pipe Explodes.

TONAWANDA, N. Y., April 10.—Mike Vorski, a laborer, picked up on the street yesterday afternoon a pipe, which appeared to be filled with tobacco and lit it. Immediately there was a terrific explosion, and both his eyes were blown out. His nose flattened out and his scalp partly torn off. He will probably die.

DENIES THE KILLING

But Story of Crime as Told by Whitesides, Negro Convict, Is Accepted.

A jury in the case of Charles Allison, on trial at Belleville for the murder of Philip Frey, returned a verdict of guilty Wednesday morning and fixed Allison's Punishment at 25 years in the Penitentiary. The jury had been out 15 hours.

The last evidence in the case was taken Tuesday afternoon. Allison, when on the stand, said he knew nothing of the murder of Frey, who was killed on the night of Feb. 28, 1903, until the day after the killing. He said he was home during the evening of the killing with his wife, who has since died. On cross-examination Allison could not remember when his wife died. He denied that he had served a term in the Columbus (O.) Penitentiary for burglary in 1887. He also denied that he knew Albert Whitesides, the convicted negro, who told the story of the killing of Frey to the jury Tuesday morning.

Whitesides had said he acted as lookout the night Frey was killed. He said Allison and Henry Kelly, a negro, who is jointly indicted with Allison for the murder, engaged him as lookout and afterward paid him $15 for his services.

Whitesides said Kelly and Allison had planned the murder of Frey one week before it happened. He told how the two men went into a saloon the night of the murder and how he stood in a dark hallway and watched the proceedings. He said Kelly engaged Frey in conversation and when Frey turned his head Allison drew a razor and slashed the man across the throat.

A number of witnesses testified to details essential to the prosecution. Phillip Frey, son of the murdered man testified that he had heard only one man enter the saloon the night his father was killed.

FOUND DEAD IN BED BY HIS WIFE.

JESSE D. KLINGENBERG.

On awakening at 6:30 o'clock Wednesday morning, Mrs. Anna Klingenberg of 2112 Mallinckrodt street, found that her husband, Jesse D. Klingenberg, was dead in bed beside her. He had been dead for several hours. Heart failure was given as the cause by the physician who was called.

The couple had been married one week less than a year. Mr. Klingenberg was only 26 years old. He was an employe of Butler Bros.

His father, mother and brother, who live in Concordia, Mo., and a sister living in White Cloud, Kan., have been notified. A brother, Albert Klingenberg, lives in Granite City. Mrs. Charles Niedringhaus of 6024 Cabanne avenue is an aunt.

THOUSANDS HAVE KIDNEY TROUBLE AND DON'T KNOW IT

Weak and unhealthy kidneys are responsible for more sickness and suffering than any other disease, therefore, when through neglect or other causes, kidney trouble is permitted to continue, fatal results are sure to follow.

Your other organs may need attention—but your kidneys most, because they do most and should have attention first.

If you are sick or "feel badly," begin taking Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, the great kidney, liver and bladder remedy, because as soon as your kidneys begin to get better they will help all the other organs to health. A trial will convince anyone.

The mild and immediate effect of Swamp-Root the great kidney and bladder remedy is soon realized. It stands the highest because its remarkable curative power has been proven in thousands of the most distressing cases. If you need a medicine, you should have the best.

WILSON, Conn., Feb. 18, 1906.

Dear Sirs:

"A man could not be in any worse condition than I was with kidney and bladder troubles. I doctored with several good doctors and one physician told me I had Bright's Disease and that I would not live over six months. Another told me it was gall stones. I had severe pains in my kidneys all the while, could not stoop over, would be dizzy, could not lie down without someone helped me up; my back was weak and pained me; urine was as thick as cream and it would scald me something dreadful. I had to get up many times in the night to urinate.

"I took Swamp Root and today I am a well man and never felt better. All of my troubles have gone and show no signs of returning. I take my oath that Swamp-Root put me where I am today and can prove it by acquaintances."

Very truly yours,
E. H. RAND.

Swamp-Root is not recommended for everything but it promptly overcomes kidney, liver and bladder troubles, the symptoms of which are—obliged to pass your water frequently night and day, smarting or irritation in passing, brickdust or sediment in the urine, headache, backache, lame back, dizziness, poor digestion, sleeplessness, nervousness, heart disturbance due to bad kidney trouble, skin eruptions from bad blood, neuralgia, rheumatism, diabetes, bloating, irritability, worn-out feeling, lack of ambition, may be loss of flesh, sallow complexion, or Bright's disease.

If your water, when allowed to remain undisturbed in a glass or bottle for twenty-four hours, forms a sediment or settling or has a cloudy appearance, it is also evidence that your kidneys and bladder need immediate attention.

Swamp-Root is pleasant to take and is for sale at drug stores the world over in bottles of two sizes and two prices—fifty cents and one dollar. Remember the name, Swamp-Root, Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, and the address, Binghamton, N. Y., on every bottle.

SPECIAL NOTICE—In order to prove the wonderful merits of Swamp-Root you may have a sample bottle and a book of valuable information, both sent absolutely free by mail. The book contains many of the thousands upon thousands of testimonial letters received from men and women who found Swamp-Root to be just the remedy they needed. The value and success of Swamp-Root are so well known that our readers are advised to send for a sample bottle. In sending your address to Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y., be sure to say you read this generous offer in the St. Louis Daily Post-Dispatch. The genuineness of this offer is guaranteed.

BANK THIEF'S WORK PUZZLES OFFICIALS

HE OVERLOOKED $100,000

Grabbed First Package of Bills in Sight and Left Fortune Lying on Shelf.

Detectives have not yet found any clew which might lead to the capture of the thief who stole $1700 from the assistant paying teller's cage of the State National Bank last Friday. The theft occurred while Assistant Paying Teller G. W. Perkins was at luncheon.

The thief broke or cut with a file a spiral wire in the oval shaped part of the screen, making an aperture large enough to put his hand through and unfasten the cage window below. He then reached to the currency shelf and got a package of bills. One of the large columns in the rotunda of the bank as near the window and this partially hid the thief while he was at work.

Customers of the bank frequently count their money on the ledge in front of the cage and little attention is paid to them. It is thought the thief was familiar with conditions in the bank, which aided him in doing the job, so cleverly that he was not noticed.

Might Have Got $100,000.

Many thousands of dollars in currency were lying on the assorting table within reach, but the thief grabbed the first package of money, which contained bills of small denomination, without attempting to get any more. Mr. Perkins said he might have got almost $100,000 if he had taken the time to clean the tables of everything in his reach.

The cage from which the money was stolen is the second one from the main entrance to the bank. Perkins works in two cages. From the one nearest the door he waits on the customers of the bank, and in the other he counts and assorts his money. It was from his second cage that the money was taken.

When Perkins found that he was $1700 short, he called the attention of Cashier Logan Tompkins to the shortage. An inspection of the cage showed the displaced wire.

Vice-President John H. McCluney, in a statement Tuesday, said the assistance of the local police department and private detectives had not been asked, but it is now stated that detectives have been put to work on the case. Officials of the bank had no information to give the detectives that would aid them in catching the thief.

The alertness of Walter Holden, watchman for the Bank of Commerce, is believed by officials of that institution to have prevented a similar robbery during the noon hour one day last week. Holden saw a man standing in the counting room, apparently waiting for someone. He stood near a tablet in front of the paying teller's window, while the teller was away. Holden watched him for 20 minutes and after he left a piece of wire about two feet long was found at the base of the column under the paying teller's window. It had a hook on the end and evidently was arranged for the purpose of being used to rob the cage. The man was well dressed.

SOUTHERNERS WANT DANIEL

Press Is Booming Virginian for Presidency.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

RICHMOND, Va., April 10.—The press of the entire South is getting together and exploiting the name of Hon. John W. Daniel of Lynchburg, United States Senator from Virginia, for the presidency of the United States to succeed President Roosevelt. Within the last several days many of the more prominent papers in this State and North Carolina have indorsed the Virginian editorially.

It seems to be the general opinion that the time has come when a Southern man should run for the greatest position within the gift of the people, and it is generally conceded that Senator Daniel is one of the few men whom the North and West, including Missouri, Kentucky and Maryland, which Democratic folly has made debatable, will support by any chance.

Wanted, children to come to the Lyceum, west side of Sixth street, between Market and Walnut, on Saturday, April 13. Each child who is accompanied by a cat or a dog will be presented with five tickets, good any day except Saturday or Sunday.

SCOTT DENIES CANDIDACY.

Doesn't Intend Running for President, He Says.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

WHEELING, W. Va., April 10.—Senator Scott of West Verginia, returned to his home here yesterday after his talk with the President, when he is declared to have made his peace with Mr. Roosevelt. In an extended interview he disclaims any ambition to get the presidential nomination for himself and says his so-called candidacy was never taken seriously in any quarter. As to his relations with the President and with his colleague, Stephen B. Elkins, he says they were never more pleasant. He and Elkins, he says, have always worked together and will continue to act harmoniously, each in his special sphere of usefulness in the Senate. His highest ambition, he adds, is to win another term in the Senate. Mr. Scott declares the business world demands a return to conservatism in the Republican party and the nomination of a conservative for the presidency.

10,000 Cigars Worth $2.65 Each.

NEW YORK, April 10.—A Sun cable says:

London, April 10.—An immense box, containing 10,000 cigars, arrived at Buckingham Palace the other day. It was a present from Baron Rothschild to King Edward. For over thirty-six years His Majesty has received a similar present from Rothschild. The cigars are worth about $2.65 each.

Imitation Black Eyes Divorce Denied.

Although it was testified that Mrs. Mary Mattmueller used a black crayon to create a black eye when she had her husband, Charles, arrested for assaulting her, Judge Withrow refused Charles Mattmueller a divorce. The couple, who live on different floors at 4759 Michigan avenue, will have to find another way of settling their differences. They have been living apart in the same house since 1905. Children of both, by former marriages, testified in the case. At its conclusion Judge Withrow dismissed the petition.

SEND CAR KICKS TO MR. EMERSON

Secretary of A. B. M. A. Wants to Hear Your Complaint of Service.

If you have any kick against the United Railways Co.—if your car won't stop for you, or turns back before it gets to its destination, or you have to wait too long for a car, or you think it is too crowded; if the conductor is impolite, or the tracks are torn up in front of your house, or you live on a street where the cars have a habit of jumping off the tracks—in short, if you have any complaint at all, write down and send it to George Emerson, secretary of the Affiliated Business Men's Association. His address is 3817 Cottage avenue.

The street railway committee of the association has determined to prosecute the United Railways Co. for all violations of city ordinances which the company may commit. Evidence will be collected relating to the crowding of cars, the turning back of cars before they have reached their destination, failure of the company to pave between tracks, the time-intervals at which cars are run and other specific violations or usurpation of franchise rights.

Special counsel will be employed to assist City Attorney Anderson in the prosecutions that the committee expects to institute in the courts. Members of the committee say they have already enough evidence.

The committee, which has been given full power to act in the matter by the association, met Tuesday and formulated plans for the campaign. Secretary Emerson mailed letters to the 15 business organizations of the city asking them to subscribe toward the expenses of the campaign, and to give the committee their moral support. Similar letters were addressed to the delegates from the various organizations to the affiliated body. They are asked to take the matter up with their respective organizations.

The decision to harass the company in the courts is said to be the result of the refusal of Manager McCulloch to meet with representatives of the business organizations for discussion of alleged abuses. He is said to have remarked that he was "too busy a man" to attend such a meeting.

The members of the Street Railway Committee are Arthur Klug, C. J. Anderson, D. Eltzman and Henry Loud.

Public Retiring Rooms Proposed.

The establishment of public retiring rooms, built and operated by the city, is suggested by the Carondelet Business Men's Association, which will embody its plan in a bill to be submitted to the Municipal Assembly. In many European cities, notably in Paris and Buda Pesth, these retiring rooms are a feature of city life. They are to be found throughout the crowded sections. Considerable revenue is derived from them by charging a nominal sum for lavatory privileges and the use of hot water, soap, towels and other toilet accessories. The architecture is usually of the ornamental kiosk type.

"First in Everything."

A SQUARE DEAL

Is assured you when you buy one of Dr. Pierce's Family Medicines—for all the ingredients entering into them are printed on the bottle-wrappers and their formula are attested under oath as being complete and correct. You know just what you are paying for and that the ingredients are gathered from Nature's laboratory, being selected from the most valuable native, medicinal roots found growing in our American forests. While potent to cure they are perfectly harmless even to the most delicate women and children.

Not a drop of alcohol enters into their composition. A much better agent is used both for extracting and preserving the medicinal principles used in them, viz.—pure triple-refined glycerine of proper strength. This agent possesses intrinsic medicinal properties of its own, being a most valuable antiseptic and antiferment, nutritive and soothing demulcent.

Glycerine plays an important part in Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery in the cure of indigestion, dyspepsia and weak stomach, attended by sour risings, "heartburn," foul breath, coated tongue, poor appetite, gnawing feeling in stomach, biliousness and kindred derangements of the stomach, liver and bowels.

Besides curing all the above distressing ailments, the "Golden Medical Discovery" is a specific for all diseases of the mucous membranes, as catarrh, whether of the nasal passages or of the stomach, bowels or internal organs. Even in its ulcerative stages it will yield to this sovereign remedy if its use be persevered in. In Chronic Catarrh of the Nasal passages, it is well, while taking the "Golden Medical Discovery" for the necessary constitutional treatment, to cleanse the passages freely two or three times a day with Dr. Sage's Catarrh Remedy. This thorough course of treatment generally cures even in the worst cases.

In coughs and hoarseness caused by bronchial, throat and lung affections, except consumption in its advanced stages, the "Golden Medical Discovery" is a most efficient remedy, especially in those obstinate, hang-on-coughs caused by irritation and congestion of the bronchial mucous membranes. The "Discovery" is not so good for acute coughs arising from sudden colds, nor must it be expected to cure consumption in its advanced stages—no medicine will do that—but for all the obstinate hang-on, or chronic coughs, which, if neglected, or badly treated, lead up to consumption, it is the best medicine that can be taken.

If the sweet taste of the "Discovery," caused by the glycerine, is disliked, a few drops of lemon juice, orange or lime juice, added to each dose, will make it agreeable and pleasant and will not in the slightest interfere with its beneficial effects.

It's an insult to your intelligence for a dealer to endeavor to palm off upon you some nostrum of unknown composition in place of Dr. Pierce's world-famed medicines, which are OF KNOWN COMPOSITION. Most dealers recommend Dr. Pierce's medicines because they know what they are made of and that the ingredients employed are among the most valuable that a medicine for like purposes can be made of. The same is true of leading physicians, who do not hesitate to recommend them, since they know exactly what they contain and that their ingredients are the very best known to medical science for the cure of the several diseases for which these medicines are recommended.

With tricky dealers it is different.

Something else that pays them a little greater profit will be urged upon you as "just as good," or even better. You can hardly afford to accept a substitute of unknown composition and without any particular record of cures in place of Dr. Pierce's medicines, which are of KNOWN COMPOSITION and have a record of forty years of cures behind them. You know what you want and it is the dealer's business to supply that want. Insist upon it.

FEW CHANGES IN MAYOR'S CABINET

Mid-Term Appointments Not Expected to Include Many New Names.

SUPPLY OFFICE NOMINEE.

Some Minor Positions May Develop Changes From the Present List.

A conference between the Mayor and Democratic members of the Council some time this week probably will determine whether any changes are to be suggested by the Council, or whether the Council will confirm the Mayor's entire list of selections for his mid-term appointments.

Mayor Wells now thinks he may have the appointment list ready by April 15 the first meeting. He may not send it in until April 19, but if the Council members who confer with the Mayor this week decide to approve the Mayor's entire list it is probable that the appointments will go in at the first meeting.

Mayor Wells intimated Tuesday to a Post-Dispatch reporter that there might be some resignations before April 16, but he would not specify them, fearing that candidates for the vacancies would overwhelm his office to such an extent that he would not have sufficient time to transact the city's business.

Mayor Wells has heretofore said that he expected to make some promotions when he made up his mid-term slate, but politicians cannot figure out what he meant exactly.

Supply Office Change.

The position engaging the mind of the Mayor at present is that of Supply Commissioner. Democratic politicians have demanded the scalp of Commissioner Boyce and have recommended the appointment of Patrick Gill.

If Mayor Wells decides to let Boyce out, he will appoint Gill, but Gill says he is no longer an applicant for the position.

There have been reports that Street Commissioner Frank W. Valliant would not be reappointed, but it is believed that the Mayor will name him again. It is understood that Sewer Commissioner Fardwell wants the position of street commissioner, and, in the event of a change, it is likely that Fardwell will be switched to the street commissioner's office and Valliant back to the sewer commissioner's place, which he held before appointment to the present position.

There is also a belief that Mayor Wells will not reappoint Park Commissioner Robert Aull and that Andrew Meyer Jr., city forester, will get his place.

William J. Flynn is said to be slated for the position of assessor and collector of water rates, now held by Francis Scharwitz, although August A. Busch, who named Scharwitz, will oppose his removal. George C. Neville is said to be an applicant for the position.

Mathew Kiely, former chief of police, is slated to succeed Andrew Scully as superintendent of the Workhouse.

It is believed that Dr. M. B. Clopton will be appointed superintendent of the City Hospital to succeed Dr. John Young Brown, who resigned some time ago. Dr. Clopton is a close friend of many of Mayor Wells' friends, who have appealed to the Mayor in his behalf.

J. E. Allison of 5680 Cabanne, mechanical engineer and former newspaperman, is said to be the choice of the Mayor for the position of Inspector of Boilers, if Inspector Branch is not reappointed.

There is a report current that Judge Jeff Pollard of the Dayton Street Police Court will not be reappointed. It is known that there has been opposition to him, and E. A. Noonan Jr., assistant City Attorney for the Dayton street court, is being urged for the position. Judge Daniel O'C. Tracy of the First District Court is said to be sure of reappointment, although it is said not to be likely that Clerk Owen Macaulay will be reappointed.

Elgin Brooks, secretary of the Ward Organization Club of the Jefferson Club, who had charge of the recent election headquarters, probably will be rewarded with an appointment as District Assessor, which pays a salary of $2000 a year.

Joseph Whyte, Harbor and Wharf Commissioner and close friend of the Mayor, is to be reappointed. It is said that he wanted to retire, but that Mayor Wells wanted a personal friend on the Board of Public Improvements during the coming year on account of the large amount of business to be transacted and would not permit Whyte to leave the cabinet.

Water Commissioner Adkins will be reappointed, and Dr. Wheeler Bond will be Health Commissioner again. City Counselor Bates and his assistants are to be reappointed, and it is understood that Fire Chief Swinglev will be named again, but a fight may be made upon him in the Council.

Offices to Be Filled.

Some of the important appointments to be made by Mayor Wells for a term of four years follow:

Street Commissioner	$4,000
Water Commissioner	4,500
Park Commissioner	3,000
Commissioner of Supplies	3,500

Coliseum Plan Ratified.

The Executive Committee of the Business Men's League has formally announced that it has abandoned raising money for a coliseum in connection with the armory of Battery A on Grand avenue. The subscribers to the $80,000 fund raised by a committee headed by A. L. Shapleigh, have been released. The recommendation that the league contribute $10,000 to the building fund of the new coliseum to be built at Washington and Jefferson avenues has been ratified, and the amount is payable when the entire fund for the new structure is raised. The Business Men's League is planning a number of trade excursions into Oklahoma, Indian Territory and Mexico, and the Executive Committee, which met Tuesday afternoon, has referred the arrangements for the trips to the Committee on Manufactures. It is believed that such excursions would bring a large amount of trade to St. Louis. Nathan Frank, chairman of the Committee on Conventions, reported at the meeting that it was probable that St. Louis will get at least one of the big political conventions in 1908.

Fresh Candy Every Hour From Our Factory

The Petticoat Sale We Have Been Telling You About

Will be Ushered in Thursday Morning—YOUR Attendance is Particularly Desired

WE are prepared to meet your wants with petticoat "bargains" as never before, as we were exceedingly fortunate in securing the surplus stocks of two large manufacturers, embracing garments of every character, at 75 cents on the dollar.

To secure an allowance of 25 per cent on such staple merchandise as petticoats at the present market conditions is a wonderful achievement and speaks well for our buyer's ability. Notwithstanding that these garments represent "cancellations" of orders for failure to ship in time for the Easter business, the manufacturers would not have found it difficult to secure full price for them.

But then we agreed to "take them all," and that's an incentive to make a concession. The result is we have on hand nearly 10,000 new underskirts of fine cottons and silks that we are able to offer at prices that should bring us all the petticoat business of this city while the sale is in progress. CRUSHED TO DEATH IN A COAL HOIST

Terminal Employe's Body Stops Machinery He Is Trying to Oil.

Charles Baffrath, an oiler at the Terminal Railroad coal chutes, Fifteenth and Poplar streets, was killed Tuesday morning by the machinery carrying coal up into the building, which caught and mangled his body.

About 8 a. m., Baffrath went to the fourth floor to oil the hoisting machinery, which was then in rapid motion. A few minutes later the machinery stopped and could not be started again. Henry Kessling and Marion Haddix, employes, went from floor to floor to learn the trouble. On the fourth floor they found the mangled body of Baffrath jammed into the machinery. One arm had been torn from the body.

Policemen were called, and they, with employes at the chutes, worked for half an hour before the body was extricated. It was sent to the morgue.

Baffrath was 36 years old and unmarried. He lived at 549 South Twenty-third street.

NERVOUS WOMEN

Vinol Restored Health of Miss Blair, President of Sophomore Club.

Miss Rose Blair, president Sophomore Club, Kansas City, writes: "Last spring I was all run down, nervous and irritable. I lost my appetite and could not sleep. I tried many medicines without benefit. Your cod liver preparation, Vinol, was recommended, and it certainly worked wonders for me. It was delicious and not at all like the greasy cod liver oil and emulsions I was used to. Vinol gave me a hearty appetite and restored me to perfect health and strength."

Vinol cures conditions like this because it contains all of the curative medicinal elements found in cod liver oil without a drop of the useless oil to upset the stomach and retard its work, and tonic iron added, and it strengthens every organ in the body.

Every run-down, nervous, debilitated, aged or weak person in St. Louis, and every person suffering from stubborn colds, hanging on coughs or bronchial troubles should try Vinol on our guarantee to return money if it fails. Wolff-Wilson Drug Co.

Note.—While we are sole agents for Vinol in St. Louis, it is now for sale at the leading drug store in nearly every town and city in the country. Look for the Vinol agency in your town.

Language Fails Him.

In his bewilderment at the sudden achievement of beneficial results in his deplorable condition O. Milen, Clayton, Mich., says, with much fervor, that it is impossible for him to do justice to Dr. Burkhart's Vegetable Compound as a blood purifier. He had been a sufferer for 16 years with scrofula and other troubles, of which this remedy speedily cured him. The blood is the vital fluid which reaches all parts of the body and thereby becomes an effective trap-mitter of disease. Those suffering with skin diseases of whatever nature and ailments arising from disordered kidneys, that are not able to prevent uric acid getting into the blood, causing rheumatism, lumbago and gout, are surely in need of this famous remedy to free themselves of pain and the distressing symptoms of their ailments. Thirty days' treatment 25c. All druggists.

Society

Important among the spring weddings is that of Miss Agnes Delafield and Mr. Albert Niedringhaus, which is to take place Wednesday evening. This marriage will unite two of St. Louis' most influential families and further cement a neighborhood friendship, since the Delafield and Niedringhaus residences in the new extension of Lindell boulevard, are adjacent. It will be a white and green wedding entirely, and at the Delafield home the hour being 8 o'clock.

One attractive feature planned for the dining room is a center table decorated entirely in valley lilies and white tulle loops and bows. The effect can scarcely fail to be most bridelike and dainty.

Mrs. George Luddington Young, sister of the bridegroom, has come down from Chicago to be matron of honor, while Miss Berenice Morrison-Fuller and the Misses Edith and Elizabeth Delafield are the bridemaids. George Wallace Niedringhaus is to serve his brother as best man.

After the reception, which will include as guests persons prominent in West End society, the bride and bridegroom are to depart for a month's journey, the itinerary of which they have carefully concealed, even from their families. They have taken the house formerly occupied by Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Drew, who are now in the West, No. 4444 Maryland avenue, and will be at home there after May 15.

While Miss Catherine Luhn has resided in St. Louis such a short time as not to have acquired a large circle of town acquaintances, her marriage to Mr. James Fechet, Lieutenant United States army, on Wednesday night at Jefferson Barracks will take several prominent families down to the army post at 9 o'clock. These are Mr. and Mrs. William H. Thompson and their daughters, who are always interested in barracks affairs and pay more visits there than any other family in the city; Mr. and Mrs. George Mepham and Miss Beatrice Lodge, and Mr. and Mrs. Edward Gordon Garden, who knew the bride in the West.

The wedding will be military in character, but necessarily somewhat restricted as to extensive decorations of flags and army pennants, since it takes place in the quarters of Capt. W. L. Luhn, brother of the bride, who is now stationed at Jefferson Barracks. Capt. Luhn will also serve as best man.

The bride who is to wear white satin with some old point lace belonging to her mother, a tulle veil, orange blossoms and carry a shower boquet of valley lilies, will have but one bridemaid, Miss Fechet, the bridegroom's sister, who is to wear white gauze and touches of pale pink with a pink rose bouquet.

A small reception including the same guests that are invited to the ceremony will follow the service, which Father Mayer of St. Agnes Parish is to read. Mr. Fechet and his bride are to go directly to the Pacific Coast and will visit the Southern California resorts before sailing for Manila on the army transport that leaves on May 5. It is this same transport that will carry Lieutenant and Mrs. Joseph Kuznik, the latter formerly Mrs. Amy Bay Sturgeon, also Lieutenant and Mrs. Caspar Cole and Miss Adele Flanigan, who is going to the Philippines with her sister, Mrs. Cole.

With the Mississippi Valley Kennel Club's approaching week at the Jai Alai building interest in the fancy canines is rapidly acquiring sizeable proportions. Indeed, this is by no means confined to St. Louis, the demand for good dogs, especially house dogs and pets has increased enormously all over the country.

"I tried every place I heard of when in New York recently," said a West Pine householder, "to get a small dog, a 'toy,' as the little fellows are called, either spaniel, poodle, foxterrier, or some of those good varieties, but found it impossible. There were none for sale anywhere.

Miss Marguerite Mellier is the proud owner of a new Boston terrier, which arrived a few days ago from some kennels in Maine, having made the journey comfortably. But it took the poor little beastie a week to get over his frights. He is the usual brindle and handsomely marked. Miss Mellier will exhibit him at the coming show.

By the way, if you own a smart dog of the Boston or bull terrier breeds and like to take him out for airings and also like to have him present as chic an appearance as possible, get a lead of tinted leather to match your best street suit. It's considered very swagger, indeed.

Miss Minnie Blair and Miss Mary Semple Scott are to have one of the most novel concessions on the Pike at the coming May charity carnival. They will be assisted by a large coterie of friends, indeed, their attraction will necessitate many persons to help, since it is to be composed of vaudeville and various other entertaining features. Miss Irene Catlin, Miss Leigh Wiltemore are to help, with the Messrs. Eugene Angert, Powell and Goddard.

Mrs. George Von Schrader is to manage the dancing pavilion. Committees for the various branches of work in the big entertainment are rapidly being formed. Mrs. Frank Hammar, chairman-general, has called a meeting for Tuesday afternoon at 2 o'clock at her Hortense place residence for the press and program committees.

If the dance that has been arranged by Mrs. Walter Duke Thompson and Mrs. Horace Rumsey for Friday night at Mahler's is a success, a permanent club will be formed and other dances given next fall and winter. The projected club is to be composed of only 25 couples, some married and some unmarried young people, and will be conducted along simple lines. A single-course supper will be served after the dancing hours, which are to inaugurate a distinct reform and be early ones, with as early a beginning as is possible.

"That's the only condition on which I join this club," said a much entertained young man who was one of the first invited to be a member. "We men who have to put in an early appearance at our offices the day after a dance or evening function, just can't stand the pressure, night after night. Why, half the time this winter I've actually been in a semi-comatose condition in the daytime, and that just won't do at all. So, if the new club will keep early hours and let us all off at midnight, it will be a very fine thing."

The hostesses for Friday night's first dance are Mrs. Thompson, Mrs. Rumsey, Mrs. David Fentress, Mrs. Robert Kaime and Mrs. Edward Preetorius. Some of those who have signified their intention of belonging are: Messrs. and Mmes. Lewis Rumsey, Fred Gardner, John Leigh Green; Misses Hazel Garrison, Frances Jones, Irene Bond, Susan Meriwether; Messrs. Tom Bond, George Elder, Malcolm Macbeth, William Arthur Williams, Lewis Williams.

LUCY HOSMER STOUGHTON.

Mrs. Mosher Gives Children's Party.

Mrs. Bert Mosher gave a delightful children's party at the home of her father, Mr. Burleigh, 3050 Morgan street, Tuesday afternoon, for her little daughter, Mary Mosher. Baskets of white blossoms and ferns decorated the table in the dining room, where, after games and dancing, the children had luncheon served.

Mrs. Mosher was assisted by Mrs. Herbert Mosher Sr. and Mrs. W. J. Burleigh. Some of the little guests present were: Misses Mary and Lillie Mosher, May Wells Burleigh, Miriam Bascom, Miriam Frank, Elizabeth Pond, Erolda Mosher, John Rohan, Charles Daley, M. Anderson.

PERSONAL MENTION.

Mr. Mahler will give his closing children's party Saturday evening, April 20, from 8 to 10:30 o'clock, at his hall. A dance for gentlemen and ladies will follow the children's party.

Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Thompson, formerly of Hotel Beers, have just taken possession of the Charles Van Studdiford house on the Creve Coeur Lake Road, and will occupy it this coming summer. The house is an unusual one and rather a landmark in that vicinity, being built entirely of concrete with cobble stones inserted. It is very commodious and handsomely furnished. They have leased it intact.

Mr. and Mrs. Albert Blair have returned from a two months' wedding journey, and are located at the Westmoreland Hotel.

Mrs. S. B. Parsons and her daughter and grandson, Mrs. Nettie Parsons Gill and Clarence Gill, departed Tuesday evening for Eureka Springs, where they will remain a month or six weeks.

Mrs. Ernest E. Ellmann of 4544 McMillan avenue is entertaining her mother, Mrs. M. Foud of [illegible] Tenn. Mrs. Ellmann and her [illegible] will be at home Friday afternoon [illegible] 12.

Cards were issued on Wednesday morning by Mrs. Charles Espenschied and Miss Ruth Espenschied for a large bridge party to be given on the afternoon of April 17 at the Country Club.

Mrs. Francis X. Barada will depart in a few days for Eureka Springs, to make a short visit.

Mrs. Morrison Fuller and Miss Fuller have come down from Columbia, Mo., for the Delafield-Niedringhaus wedding on Wednesday evening and are at the Washington.

Miss Lucy North of Gary Summit, Mo., who has been Miss Anna Force's guest for a fortnight, is now visiting at the residence of Dr. Newby, who is her uncle.

Mr. and Mrs. Douglas Cook stopped at Hot Springs on their return from a Mexican trip and reached home on Sunday, bringing their daughter, Mrs. Edward Preetorius, with them. Mrs. Preetorius, who went to the Springs several weeks ago to recuperate, is now fully recovered.

Mrs. Prufrock Luncheon.

Mrs. Harry Prufrock of the Buckingham Club gave a delightful luncheon, followed by bridge to a few friends in the Pompeiian room in honor of her mother, Mrs. J. T. Litton of New York, who has been Mr. Prufrocks' guest for the past three weeks.

The guests were limited to friends of Mrs. Litton. Mrs. Litton will depart Saturday for New York. Mr. and Mrs. Litton and Mrs. Prufrock spent the month of February at Hot Spring, Ark.

Reception Follows Charity Reading.

The closing reading by Miss Chamberlain of Boston at the Woman's Club Tuesday morning at 11 o'clock for the benefit of the summer camp fund of St. Stephen's mission was the most enjoyable and best attended of the series. "Pygmalion and Galatea" was the subject, Miss Chamberlain appearing in Grecian costume.

At the conclusion of the recital Mrs. James A. Waterworth, chairman of the Arrangement Committee, entertained the members of the committee, also Miss Chamberlain and Mrs. Robert Atkinson, who accompanied Miss Chamberlain on the piano during the recital, at a luncheon. Mrs. Ferguson, Miss Hill and Mrs. Broderick were also hostesses at luncheon.

Formal announcement was made on Wednesday by Mr. and Mrs. J. Clark Way of Kirkwood of the engagement of their daughter, Miss Bettie Glover Way, to Dr. Robert G. Forsyth, also of Kirkwood. The marriage is set for late May.

Miss Lilian Hulbert has returned from a visit to Eureka Springs.

Miss Edith Johnston of 5111 Raymond avenue, gave a tea on Wednesday afternoon for her sister, Mrs. William Ferguson of New York.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter Duke Thompson will celebrate their wedding anniversary with a dinner on April 17.

Mrs. Charles Humann, who has been spending a month with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Gale, while Mr. Humann is in Cuba, will sail for France with her husband next week, leaving St. Louis on Monday. Mrs. Humann was to have joined Mr. Humann in Havana and, then, to have taken a South American trip, but repeated outbreaks of yellow fever in the warm countries have frustrated all their plans. They will spend the summer touring Europe, as usual, in their motor cars.

Mrs. Frank P. Hayes of Washington terrace has issued cards for a bridge party, to be given at her home, Monday, April 15.

MISS AGNES DELAFIELD

AMPHION CLUB CONCERT.

Large Audience Hears Mme. Sembrich and Elsa Ruegger.

Like a host who wins the prize at his own euchre, the Amphion Club won for itself the honors in applause and manifest appreciation at its closing concert of the season Tuesday night. With Mme. Sembrich and Elsa Rueger as the soloists of the evening, the club's achievement was especially marked.

The sextet from "Lucia," arranged for a male chorus by the late Paul Mori, was the number which aroused the enthusiasm of the Odeon audience. As conducted by Director Robyn, the number was a masterpiece in vocal orchestration. It was repeated to satisfy a clamorous encore. In its three other appearances the club showed a remarkable improvement, when contrasted with the none too smooth work of its mid-winter concert.

Mme. Sembrich is ever a great actress as well as a great singer, and in Scotch and German ballads, no less than in arias from Verdi and Arditi, she rose above the lack of scenic accessories. Her flawless voice was perhaps heard to best advantage in the first of her selections, the "Fors e Lui."

Schubert and Schumann selections, including the imperishable "Traumerei," gave reposeful melody from Miss Ruegger's cello. Her work gave satisfying completeness to the concert.

The box parties were brilliant. Mr. and Mrs. Rolla Wells were in their usual left box, with Mr. and Mrs. Erastus Wells and their younger daughter. Mrs. Wells wore white lace, and Mrs. Erastus Wells a pale blue silk gown with point applique. Miss Jessie Wright, who was hostess in the George M. Wright box, had as guests Mr. and Mrs. James L. Ford, Miss Jeanne Wright and James Lorius, who went to the Springs several weeks ago to recuperate, is now fully recovered. Mr. and Mrs. Wade Ellis held a well-gowned party, the women being Mrs. Charles Scullin as hostess, who wore soft black lace and some fine jewels, Mrs. Charles McLure Clark, in white lace, and Mrs. Marion Lambert, who wore cream-colored silk heavily embroidered in pastelle colors. Messrs. Scullin, Clark and Lambert completed the party. Mr. and Mrs. Cyrus P. Walbridge had with them some Cincinnati friends. Mr. and Mrs. Merrill and their daughter, Miss Alice Merrill. Mr. and Mrs. Van Blarcom gave a box party for Miss Julia Hodge of Bloomington, Ill., with Messrs. W. A. Williams and Lewis Williams. Mrs. Van Blarcom wore cream-colored silk and much handsome lace.

Mr. Robyn gave his box to Mr. and Mrs. Claude Kilpatrick, who entertained Mr. and Mrs. Louis Le Beaume, Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Shapleigh, Mr. and Mrs. John Nute had with them Mr. and Mrs. Richard McCulloch and Mr. and Mrs. Charles Bunton. Mr. and Mrs. Daniel C. Nugent's guests were Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Clinton Lake and their New York visitors, Mmes. Griesel and Tilson. Mr. and Mrs. Byron Nugent were in their box, and Mr. and Mrs. Saunders Norvell had with them Mr. and Mrs. Hamilton Farish. Mr. Henry Nicolaus occupied his box, entertaining Miss Stella Schnurmacher, Miss Vera Giannini and Miss Elsa Nicolaus. Mr. and Mrs. Philip Medart had with them Mr. and Mrs. Walter Medart. In the L. D. Dozier box were Miss Leona Cordell, as hostess, with Mr. and Mrs. C. F. Hurd, Mrs. R. V. M. Cordell, Mrs. Geogia Brunaugh and Miss Louise Noble.

In the Charles Huttig box were Mr. and Mrs. John Ockerson, with Dr. and Mrs. Harvey G. Mudd for their neighbors. Mrs. Paul Brown's guests were Mr. and Mrs. Fred Bronough, Mrs. Fred Gardner and Mrs. Silas Wright. Mr. and Mrs. Selwyn Edgar entertained Mr. and Mrs. John Milliken and Col. Shotwell.

Mrs. Charles Tracy and Miss Eleanor Tracy have returned from a lengthy Southern trip, following a stay in Canada.

Actors' Church Alliance Meeting.

The regular meeting of the Actors' Church Alliance was held Tuesday afternoon at Aeolian Hall, 1004 Olive street, from 4 to 6 o'clock and was in the nature of an informal reception and musical. In the receiving line were Dean Davis, Rev. Arthur, Rev. Day, Mrs. Dubois, Mrs. Burden and Miss Ludlow.

Some of the members present were Mr. and Mrs. Frost and Misses Mahey and Carlisle of the Forbes-Robertson company; Miss Florence Leslie of the East St. Louis Stock Co.; Mr. and Mrs. John Ray, R. Ruska, Mrs. Mahrung, Miss Bessie Morse, Miss Lora Hopkins, Mrs. Myers, Mrs. Bertrand, Mr. and Mrs. Robb and Mr. and Mrs. Gunkel. Miss Gunlach and Miss Leshen served ices and cake.

Rheumatism Cured

Thousands of people all over this country know of Dr. George Edmund Flood and his success in curing Rheumatism; also diseases of the Kidneys and Bladder.

For the benefit of our readers we are glad to publish with Dr. Flood's permission, the prescription for Rheumatism, Kidney or Bladder Trouble which he recommends and which he is so successfully using in his practice.

It is as follows: Fluid Extract Cascara Aromatic, half ounce; Concentrated Barkola, one ounce; Fluid Extract Prickly Ash Bark, half drachm; Aromatic Elixir, four ounces. One teaspoonful of this prescription taken after each meal and one before going to bed is stated positively by Dr. Flood will produce a shout of satisfaction from anyone suffering from rheumatism or any ailment of the Kidneys or Bladder.

"Don't forget to drink plentifully of pure water," was Dr. Flood's parting advice, and from the remarkable results this successful physician has had it does look as if sufferers from Rheumatism, also Kidney and Bladder Trouble, should not fail to give it a thorough test since druggists right here in our town can fill the prescription.

We ask special attention to these special values!

W. L. DOUGLAS

BEST IN THE WORLD. $3.50 SHOES FOR MEN

Do you wear W. L. Douglas shoes? If not, I believe I can give you good and sufficient reasons why it will pay you to wear them.

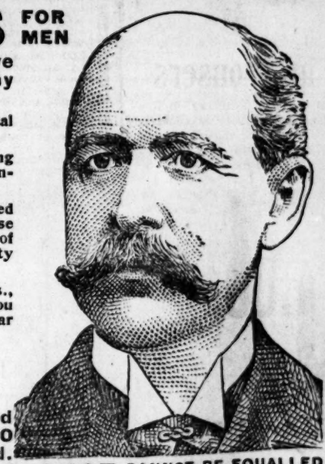

I give the wearer the benefit of my thorough and practical knowledge of shoemaking, which has extended over fifty years.

I give the wearer the benefit of my exclusive method of tanning the bottom soles, which makes them more flexible and gives longer wear than any other sole leather produced in this country.

As I am the largest manufacturer of men's fine Hand-Sewed Process shoes in the world, it is necessary for me to purchase leather and other materials in enormous quantities; the benefit of the very low prices I obtain I give to the wearer in superior quality over other makes.

If I could take you into my large factories at Brockton, Mass., and show you how carefully W. L. Douglas shoes are made, you would then understand why they hold their shape, fit better, wear longer and are of greater value than any other make.

W. L. Douglas, Brockton, Mass.
I have worn W. L. Douglas $3.50 shoes for several years. They have always given satisfaction. I consider them equal to other makes for which I have paid $5 and $6.
A. BEECHER, Pullman Conductor, 4351 Maryland Ave.

These are a few of the reasons why I make and sell more Men's Fine Hand-Sewed Process $3.50 Shoes than any other manufacturer in the world.

W. L. DOUGLAS $4.00 GILT EDGE SHOE CANNOT BE EQUALLED AT ANY PRICE.

W. L. DOUGLAS BOYS' SHOES $1.75 AND $2.00. JUST THE SAME AS MY MEN'S $3.50 SHOES, THE SAME LEATHERS, FOR $1.75 AND $2.00.

Fast Color Eyelets used exclusively.

W. L. Douglas name and price is stamped on the bottom, which protects the wearer against high prices and inferior shoes. INSIST UPON HAVING THEM. TAKE NO SUBSTITUTE.

McCray Refrigerators

FOR RESIDENCES

Are indorsed by architects, physicians and sanitary experts, and are without question the most perfect refrigerators built. They can be iced from outdoors and are always clean, sweet, dry and sanitary. There is never even a suspicion of a foul odor about a McCray Refrigerator, which proves that it has a perfect circulation of pure, dry, cold air.

COME AND SEE THEM and let us explain to you why they are superior.

TIMELY ADMONITION.

Health is a question of little things, or rather, of seemingly little things, for nothing can be considered little that affects our physical well-being.

The tasks that men perform nowadays make a deep draft on their vitality and reserve force. We live in an age of touch-and-go, and in a climate that now blows hot and now cold.

Hence the need not alone of keeping our bodies well nourished and all our functions working with clock-like regularity within, but also of guarding ourselves just as carefully from without.

The biggest step toward right dress is right underwear. Underwear is the first thing a man put on alike in point of precedence and in point of importance.

We of the South who feel the sun's blistering rays more than our Northern brothers know that comfort, to paraphrase a popular maxim, "is only underwear-deep."

A new and admirable brand of underwear has recently been introduced, "POROSKNIT." As its name implies, it is porous or air-open, being provided with thousands of tiny perforations in the fabric which give the air free access to the skin and let it breathe.

"Porosknit" is soft, elastic and very durable. Through the apertures in the cloth, the steam and perspiration engendered by exercise evaporate, leaving both the body and the garment always dry and wholesome. Thus an effective barrier is raised against colds and thus all inequalities of weather and climate are rendered harmless.

SEABROOKE'S "23" FOR COMIC OPERA

THOMAS Q. SEABROOKE.

THOMAS Q. SEABROOKE, who looks younger off the stage than on—and, therefore, should lighten the make-up lines which he puts on his face as Lieut. Robert Warburton in "The Man on the Box," now playing at the Garrick—says he is through with the musical comedy for all time.

"Musical plays are about to reach their finish," he declares. "I thought so in 1895—and the thought cost me exactly $110,000, which I sank in 'Baby Mine,' by Paul Potter and 'The Speculator,' by Broadhurst—but then I was merely ten years or so ahead of my time. I am certain now that the public is growing weary of comic opera and musical plays. They're now fighting against the double handicap of burlesque and advance vaudeville, which give their best features at popular prices and thus steal their thunder, and it's getting to be a losing fight.

"I'm not the only comic opera star who believes that comic opera has seen its best days. Francis Wilson has gone out of it and into straight comedy. So has Lillian Russell. Jeff de Angelis would like to go out of it if he could. Back yonder in 1895 I told Francis Wilson that musical plays had run their course, and asked him to join me in a straight comedy. But he couldn't see it then.

"'Not yet, but soon, Tom,' he said to me—and then he waited ten years and made the jump into straight comedy. It's a perilous jump, because you've got to destroy the original impression of yourself in the public mind and create a new impression. That's what I'm trying to do now, in the role so recently played by Dixey. The critics and the playgoing public have received me very kindly in it, but I'll do even better when I have a chance to create a new straight comedy role myself.

"And Mr. Walter N. Lawrence, who is producing 'The Man on the Box,' proposes to give me that chance. He has a new play for me, to be produced at the Lyric Theater in New York, May 15, which, he says, has a star part that will fit me right down to the ground. It's the role of a detective—not a Sherlock Holmes or Raffles or anything of that kind, but a rich comedy part along new lines—in fact, a unique creation, Mr. Lawrence says. I'm very anxious to get at it, and I believe I'll make a success of it when I do. Anyway, mark my words, you're going to see a big slump in musical productions in the near future—managers are handling them now as gingerly as if they were hot coals and the fear of burnt fingers with each new production is plainly in evidence."

Midweek News of Theaters

THE prospects for the Metropolitan Opera Company's engagement at the Odeon next week, beginning Wednesday evening, are said to be exceptionally bright, a big advance subscription for season and single-performance seats being reported.

During the three days of the engagement, comprising three evening performances and one matinee, four favorite operas will be heard. Two of the four are by Puccini, who has enjoyed an extraordinary vogue in New York for several years past. St. Louis will be quite in the fashion, therefore, when, on Thursday afternoon, it attends the performance, in Italian, of "Madama Butterfly," and, on Friday evening, that of "La Boheme." Wagner will be represented on Thursday evening, when "Tannhaeuser" is to be the offering. The opera chosen for the opening night of the engagement is Verdi's "Aida," with Emma Eames in the title role, Louise Homer as Amneris, Caruso as Rhadames, Stacciari, the wonderful new baritone, never before heard in St. Louis, as Amonasro, Journet as Ramfis and Muehlmann as the King. Arturuo Vigna will be the conductor on the opening night.

In the absence of Mr. Conried, who is only now recovering from a severe illness, the active management will be in the hands of Mr. Ernes Goerlitz.

Maude Adams in "Peter Pan," Barrie's tremendously successful fairy play, will be the Olympic's attraction next week, beginning Monday evening. As is well known, this play has scored one of the biggest New York hits in the history of the American stage. It comes heralded as one of the most beautiful stage productions ever given, with Miss Adams in a role that is said to reveal her in the daintiest and most fascinating portrayal of her entire career. She is admirably supported by a company, the members of which play the various whimsical characters to which they are assigned with most refreshing buoyancy and freshness of spirit. The scenic production on the ample Olympic stage promises to be memorable.

Lew Fields and his all-star company come to the Garrick next week, beginning Sunday night, in the laughable travesty, "About Town," and in Lew Fields' side-splitting burlesque of David Warfield in "The Music Master." In "About Town" Mr. Fields takes the role of the Baron Blitz, a noble cabman, which is said to be one of the funniest things he has ever done, while his take-off of Warfield is famous as having kept New York laughing for months. He is supported by an excellent company that includes Blanche Ring, Peter F. Dailey, George Beban, Ernest Lambert, Harry Fisher and Louise Dresser.

Thomas Q. Seabrooke in "The Man on the Box" is the current Garrick attraction.

The offering at the Century next Sunday night and for the week will be Thomas Dixon Jr.'s play, "The Clansman." The story of the play is well known and the production has been seen in St. Louis several times, steadily increasing in popularity. Apart from its bearing on the race problem and its defense of the high patriotism of the Ku Klux Klan, it possesses a strong love interest, a refreshing comedy element and some powerful dramatic situations. A capable production is promised.

Wright Lorimer in "The Shepherd King" is the present bill.

Miss Cecil Spooner in the Charles E. Blaney melodrama, "The Girl Raffles," comes to the Grand next week, beginning with Sunday matinee. The play tells a thrilling story and gives its star opportunity for effective work, which is improved to the utmost. Miss Spooner, who is said to be supported by an excellent company, is a strong local favorite and has scored a big success in her present vehicle. The scenic production of the play is said to be uncommonly picturesque.

Lincoln J. Carter's melodrama of Southern plantation life, "Down Mobile," will be the Havlin offering next Sunday afternoon and for the week. Its story is said to be of intense interest, thoroughly native to its environment, with a Voodoo negress conjurer as one of its most novel figures, and its scenic effects particularly striking.

Tom Waters in "The Mayor of Laughland" is the current offering.

The Avenue Girls come to the Standard next week, beginning with Sunday matinee. The performance will consist of a musical farce, "Tiger Springs," a sparkling satire, "The Get-Rich-Quick Brokers," and a vaudeville bill that introduces Olga Orloff, Charles Johnson and company, Elsie Leslie, Phil McFarland and Mike McDonald, Cunningham and Lord and Levanlon.

The Washington Society Girls are now at the Standard.

The big scenic and costume production, "The Golden Crook," will be next week's Gayety offering, beginning Sunday afternoon. It is said to be far above the ordinary in the spectacular line, two of its notable features being the ballet of the Four Seasons and the Golden Crook march. Two burlettas are included, and the vaudeville bill intrduces Edward Morton, the Kane Sisters, the Three Musketeers, the Yalto Duo, Stewart and Desmond and the Show Girls.

The Imperial Theater presents next Sunday matinee and week the comedy drama, "The James Boys of Missouri," which will be seen for the first time in several years. This company carries its own scenery and presents some effective stage pictures. The famous "Blue Cut" train robbery is said to be staged with accuracy in every detail, a full train being shown on the stage with the famous outlaws in the act of looting the express car. This hold-up actually occurred near Independence, Mo., Sept. 7, 1881. A pretty love story is woven in with the romance and the play abounds with climaxes of the most thrilling variety.

The present attraction is The Four Huntings in "The Fool House."

Tina Dobers will be the next member of the German Stock Company entitled to a benefit, and it is announced for next Sunday night. Miss Dobers, who has beauty as well as talent, has proven one of the most capable impersonators, and will have the part of Marie in "Stein Unter Steinen (Stone Among Stones), the new Sudermann play, which will be given. As this is the first Sudermann evening of the season a full house should be assured.

Wanted, children to come to the Lyceum, west side of Sixth street, between Market and Walnut, on Saturday, April 13. Each child who is accompanied by a cat or a dog will be presented with five tickets, good any day except Saturday or Sunday.

The Columbia bill for next week will have as a headliner Amelia Summerville, the musical comedy star. Other attractions will be Sherman and DeForrest, playing their laughing success, "A Jay Circus;" Patrice, the winsome comedienne, and her company, in a dainty playlet entitled "Gloria;" Capt. Woodward's wonderful juggling sealions; Snyder and Buckley, musical comedians, in "The Street Musicians;" the LaMothe Trio, novelty acrobats; Hedrix and Prescott, soft and wooden-shoe dancing experts, and the kinodrome with new pictures.

HUNDLEY APPOINTED JUDGE.

President Names Him Despite Senators' Protest.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

WASHINGTON, April 10.—Booker T. Washington has succeeded in obtaining the appointment of Oscar R. Hundley of Huntsville, Ala., as Federal Judge for Alabama over the protests of Senators Morgan and Pettus. Hundley was appointed a United States Marshal by the President last fall, but the Senate refused to confirm the nomination. Now the President, at the instance of Booker T. Washington, has given him a better position.

Senators Pettus and Morgan will fight the confirmation of Hundley when Congress meets at the next session. Senator Pettus said the Democrats and Republicans of Alabama have both declared that Hundley is not fitted for the position and that he and Senator Morgan protested against the appointment.

SEES HER LEGS CUT OFF.

Girl Watches Doctors Amputate Her Limbs.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

CLEVELAND, O., April 10.—Minnie Gottschalk, 18 years old, a factory girl, today lay on the operating table at Charity Hospital and watched Dr. Alex Bunts and his assistant amputate her legs. She was conscious during the entire operation and conversed all the while with the surgeons and nurses. She fell ill six weeks ago and shortly after gangrene set in her legs. Too weak to take an anesthetic, the doctors decided to inject cocaine into her spinal cord thus deadening the lower part of the body. She is recovering.

She has been the sole support of a big family and when she recovers will have to earn a living for the family. Meanwhile her mother will take her place at the factory.

SAW LUNACY BOARD, DIED.

Farmer Feared Being Sent to an Asylum.

LOGANSPORT, Ind., April 10.—Summoned to the office of Dr. John W. Ballard, supposedly for a friendly call, H. F. Stoughton, a farmer, found Ballard and others assembled as a lunacy board to inquire into his sanity.

"My God, John, would you send me to the madhouse?" he screamed, then fell unconscious from his chair. When resuscitated he was speechless and totally paralyzed. He died a few hours later.

Stoughton's relatives had petitioned for the appointment of a commission, hoping a few weeks' treatment would restore his faculties.

The New Life of Christ will be shown at the Lyceum, west side of Sixth street, between Market and Walnut, on Thursday, the 11th, at 3 p. m. and 8 p. m.

STANDARD NEVER, NO, NEVER REBATED

Oil Corporation Also Denies Any Charges of Price Conspiracy.

TESTIMONY NEXT FALL

Hearing by Four Judges in St. Paul Before Trial Can Begin.

In the answer filed by the Standard Oil Co. of New Jersey and its allied corporations to the Government's suit for its dissolution, filed here, denial is made that any agreement with a railroad company was ever entered into by which rates were affected or discrimination against competitors brought about. A comprehensive denial is entered to the charge that rebates were ever accepted or preference in any way obtained over competitors through connivance with railroads. The defendants particularly assert that competitors have been in no way hampered by the workings of the Standard Oil Co.

The taking of testimony in the suit will probably not begin within six months. The suit was instituted last November, and the answer filed Tuesday in the United States Circuit Court is the second step. The next move will be a hearing, before the four circuit judges trying the case, of the exceptions included in the answer filed Tuesday. This hearing will probably take place in St. Paul, where the judges will be during the next term of the Court of Appeals.

Testimony to Be Here.

Such exceptions as are sustained will be stricken out of the bill filed by the Government. To the exceptions which are not sustained the oil company will have to make answer. After these are answered the next step is the filing of a replication, which joins issues. Then the taking of testimony will begin before one or more special commissioners, to be appointed by the court.

The main answer, filed Tuesday, constitutes a general denial of all the charges and allegations contained in the Government's bill. The Standard Oil New Jersey and 35 allied or subsidiary corporations join in the answer, together with the seven individual defendants: John D. Rockefeller, William Rockefeller, Henry H. Rogers, Henry M. Flagler, John D. Archbold, Oliver H. Payne and Charles M. Pratt. Each of these, except Payne, whose relation to the Standard Oil Co. is not clearly defined, is admitted to be an officer. These defendants assert that the Standard of New Jersey, its subsidiary corporations and the individual officers have never entered into any conspiracy or trust agreement to control oil products and prices.

Trade Monopoly Denied.

They deny that they exercise a 90 per cent monopoly of the oil business, as alleged by the Government, and say they have never enjoyed secret rebates and concessions from the railroad to foster their business and crush independent oil concerns.

The answer, consisting of about 35,000 words, was filed by Judge Henry S. Priest, one of the oil company's three attorneys, the others being M. F. Elliott and Martin Carey. Thirty-seven exceptions to as many passages in the Government's bill were filed with the answer.

In addition to the main answer, separate answers were also filed Tuesday by two groups of gas companies. These too were filed by the oil company's attorneys. The first group, nine concerns located in Ohio, West Virginia and Pennsylvania, admit that a majority of their stock is owned by the Standard Oil Co., or by the National Transit Co., but deny charges of conspiracy.

The other group, six concerns located in Pennsylvania and New York, deny any connection with the Standard Oil Co., and aver that they are engaged only in the production and sale of gas.

Cabman Is Assaulted.

Octavius Scully imitated Horatius Cocles Tuesday night. Having no bridge to defend he defended his cab at the entrance to the restaurant of Antonius Faust and repulsed the wild onslaught of Antonio Ortale, who set upon him with fists. Octavius says he doesn't know just why Ortale assaulted him. All he remembers is that Ortale yanked him from his cab and bounced his head on the curbstone. He thinks Ortale mistook him for somebody else. With his head bandaged Octavius was in the City Hall Police Court to prosecute Ortale Wednesday, but Ortale failed to appear, and his $300 bond, signed by George Belcher, was forfeited.

FOLK URGED TO FAVOR MINE LAW

Laborers at Capital Press Demand for Fellow Servant Enactment.

SENATORS ADVOCATE IT

From a Staff Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

JEFFERSON CITY, April 10.—The demand for the passage of a fellow servant law in behalf of the great army of Missouri miners is growing. Following the publication in Tuesday's Post-Dispatch of Gov. Folk's failure to recommend this legislation to the special session, a number of labor leaders, headed by George Colville, president of the Missouri branch of the United Mine Workers of America, came to Jefferson City last night to urge immediate action. St. Louis labor organizations are thoroughly aroused. They have sent several petitions to Gov. Folk. The Governor can recommend further legislation to the Assembly, beyond that outlined in the message read yesterday.

The millionaire mine operators of the State are fighting to prevent a consideration of fellow servant legislation. Senator F. M. McDavid of Springfield, President pro tem of the Senate, and the most influential leader on the Democratic side, believes that this subject is of far greater importance than some of the recommendations already made by the Governor.

"It was my understanding," said he to the Post-Dispatch correspondent today, "that Gov. Folk would give us an opportunity to vote on the miners' bill again. The methods employed to bring about its defeat were simply outrageous. The fact that a Senator's name was forged to telegrams urging action in relation to the bill is sufficient to convince me that the bill has considerable merit.

"Besides, it is a part of the Democratic platform and we cannot afford to ignore it. I am glad to see the Post-Dispatch take up this question and agitate it."

Senator John L. Bradley of St. Francois County, author of the miners' bill, which was defeated by a close vote in the House of Representatives after the Senate had passed it, said today that he had prepared another bill.

Folk to Yield, Says Bradley.

"I feel confident that Gov. Folk will yield to the laboring masses in this matter. I live in a mining district, the lead belt of Southeast Missouri, and I know the tremendous odds that weigh against the men who earn their daily bread down in the pit. Surely if it is right to give railroad employes a fellow servant law, aren't the boys in the mines entitled to one also? Who has ever read of a mine horror without thinking of the widows and children left behind by the victims. Now if these unfortunates are not able to recover damages from accidents when they occur through the negligence of one of their fellow workmen we might as well give up the idea of putting labor on an equal footing with capital."

Senator Anthony said: "Let the Governor recommend a fellow servant law for miners by all means. I voted for the bill at the recent regular session and believe that it should be submitted again.

Said Senator Mayer: "The miners should be protected. I believe they encounter the same danger as do railroad employes. They are entitled to the same rights. It seems to me that if we are to consider any legislation at all, the fellow servant bill should be first among the Governor's recommendations."

Senator Kinney declared: "I am for the miners' bill. I received one of those bogus telegrams, to which Senator Connor's name was signed, but I voted for the bill anyhow, although Tom Connor was a good friend of mine and I thought he desired me to vote against it. Gov. Folk would make no mistake if he recommended this bill to the special session. He might make a serious mistake if he failed to do so."

The present fellow-servant law, holding railroad companies responsible for accidents to their employes, when such accidents occur as the result of negligence on the part of another employe, resulted from a vigorous campaign waged by the Post-Dispatch 12 years ago. Under the same conditions and practically the same circumstances which contributed to the defeat of the miners' bill at the recent session, the railroad lobby managed to defeat the railroad fellow-servant bill at the 1895 regular session. Gov. Stone called the Legislature in special session at that time for the purpose of taking up the matter again. The bill then became a law.

The claims of the miners were not put forward on that occasion. Mining, in fact, was not the great institution then in Missouri that it is now. A decade ago there were only 5000 or 6000 miners employed throughout the State. Today there are over 30,000.

Feature in the Campaign.

"The miners have been trying for two years to get a law through the Legislature," said their representative, Mr. Colville, today. "But the lobby that has fought us and is now fighting us is resourceful and has plenty of money behind it. The special campaign now progressing in Jasper County to select a successor to Senator Connor is featured with the fellow-servant law for miners as the paramount issue. The Republicans are in favor of such legislation, but say that a conservative law should be passed. That means no law at all. The Democrats are for an out-and-out fellow-servant law. There are several thousand miners in Jasper County and every one of them is anxious that the Legislature should have full opportunity to act on this bill."

FAIR ELECTS OFFICERS.

Restoration of Park Is Chief Work Remaining.

Although it is nearly two and a half years since the World's Fair closed, the work of restoring Forest Park is unfinished, and a board of directors has been elected to serve three years. The officers of last year were re-elected at the meeting, which was held Tuesday at the Noonday Club. By vote of the board, the offices of first vice-president, held by the late Corwin H. Spencer, and of treasurer, held by the late William H. Thompson, were left vacant.

A mile of completed roadway extending from De Baliviere avenue through the World's Fair grounds to Skinker road, will be opened to the public within a week. At the meeting of the board of directors of the Louisiana Purchase Exposition Co. the restoration department reported that since the last report had been submitted 7000 trees and 20,000 shrubs have been planted. It is planned that during the month 5000 more trees and 20,000 more shrubs will be set out.

The grounds now entirely restored include the sites of the Education and Manufactures buildings and the surrounding roads. The chain of five lakes, with their connecting lagoons, is finished, and water has been turned into the lower two. Trees and shrubs have been planted on the banks of the waterways.

Work is now going forward on the sites of the Varied Industries and Machinery buildings. The machinery of the coal testing plant has been removed and the building is wrecked. The work of razing the art annexes and Statuary Hall will be completed in about ten days. The railroad tracks will be torn up about May 1. More than 100 men and 40 teams are engaged in the work.

HOUSE MAY UNSEAT KRATZ'S DELEGATE

HOWE MEN INTERESTED

"No Kratz for Us!" Cry Tenth Warders, Who Charge Use of Repeaters.

The one slight victory gained by Charles Kratz, "The Man From Mexico," at last week's election, may be taken away from him.

Friends and supporters of Henry P. Hof, the Democratic candidate, who ran against Frank N. Simmons, who was Kratz's candidate, have announced that he will contest the election. The House, which is Democratic by 15 to 13, has the power to remove Simmons and seat Hof in his stead, regardless of the official returns.

In the fight, which will be made on the floor of the House, the rallying cry of the Tenth Ward Democrats will be "No Kratz for Us." It has even been intimated that the Howe Republican faction in the ward will show more than a mere outside interest in the contest.

Thef say that only the unseating of Simmons will eliminate Kratz, and, as they put it, prevent him from "meddling in the councils of the party."

Simmons won by only 77 votes. Kratz was his principal backer, the members of the Howe faction say. He was nominated on the Kratz slate, which was put through at the convention. All of the "old line" or Ziegenhein Republicans, especially those who still hold city jobs, were pressed into service to stump the ward for him.

The records of the candidates for the House of Delegates, as investigated and published by the Post-Dispatch, indicated that there was little room for choice between Simmons and Hof. Attention was called to the fact that Simmons, as a member of the Railroad Committee of the House, had aligned himself with the combine which "held up" the Manufacturers' Railway and McKinley bills for months and that he was believed to be the choice of Kratz for re-election.

Hof is a saloon keeper. He is said to have been a close political friend of Tony Stuever, and to that extent under the influence of what is known in South St. Louis as the "brewery push." He has never held office. His personal and business reputation is good.

It is alleged that 12 Democrats will testify that when they went to the polls, they found their names had been voted.

Wanted, children to come to the Lyceum, west side of Sixth street, between Market and Walnut, on Saturday, April 13. Each child who is accompanied by a cat or a dog will be presented with five tickets, good any day except Saturday or Sunday.

FIND OUT

The Kind of Food That Will Keep You Well.

The true way is to find out what is best to eat and drink, and then cultivate a taste for those things, instead of poisoning ourselves with improper, indigestible food, etc.

A conservative Mass. woman writes:

"I have used Grape-Nuts 5 years for the young and for the aged; in sickness and in health; at first following directions carefully, later in a variety of ways as my taste and judgment suggested.

"But its most special, personal benefit has been a substitute for meat, and served dry with cream when rheumatic troubles made it important for me to give up the 'coffee habit.'

"Served in this way with the addition of a cup of hot water and a little fruit it has been used at my morning meal for six months, during which time my health has much improved, nerves have grown steadier, and a gradual decrease in my excessive weight adds greatly to my comfort." 800 PIPE LAYERS STRIKE.

Chicago Basements Are Threatened by Water.

CHICAGO, April 10.—Chicago and suburbs are exposed to the danger of flooded basements and general damage by water through a strike of drain and pipe layers called yesterday. Practically all the laborers employed in this work walked out when their employers refused to concede an advance of 50 cents a day in wages. About 800 are on strike.

The drain men have been receiving $3.50 a day, while the "helpers" have been getting $2.50. The new union scale, which the contractors refuse to grant, calls for $4 and $3.

COLD and VARIABLE WEATHER MEANS Hard Work for Your Lungs

Hard work is good for strong people, but death to the weak.

That's why cold weather is death to so many thousands who suffer from weak lungs.

Even the healthiest, most vigorous person in the world comes out of the month of March weaker and less vigorous than at the beginning. Then what must it mean to millions of Lung sufferers who haven't the vitality to fight the elements?

It means one thing to many—DEATH.

There is a danger point for ill people with WEAK LUNGS, beyond which it is not wise to allow their lungs to go.

The proofs that you have passed the danger point come quickly enough:

Coughs, Colds, pain in the lungs, Fever, night sweats, loss of sleep and appetite, loss of flesh or wasting away—all tell the tale too truly.

DON'T WAIT TILL YOU REACH THE DANGER POINT.

An invigorating, strengthening, nourishing Food-Medicine that will fortify the entire system, enabling you to ward off the danger is what you should seek at once.

What, you ask, will do this?

OZOMULSION.

WOMEN FORM AUXILIARY TO ANANIAS CLUB

Ejection From the White House the Only Qualification for Membership.

A NEWCOMER INITIATED

Mrs. Von Claussen Joins Society Founded by Mrs. Morris and Carrie Nation.

The Sisterhood of the Debarred

The Women's Auxiliary to the famous Ananias Club.

Qualifications for membership: Every member must have been refused admission to the White House.

Membership to date:

Nation, Mrs. Carrie A., twice refused admission to the White House, where she went to interview the President. Once threatened with arrest.

Morris, Mrs. Minor, ejected from the White House a year ago, thrown to pavement, dragged to patrol wagon and locked up in House of Detention for examination as to her mental condition, subsequently released and now confined to her home from shock.

Claussen, Mrs. Ida Von, denied admission to the office of Secretary Loeb or the President that she might make complaint against the action of the American Minister in refusing to present her to the King of Sweden.

By Wire From the Washington Bureau of the Post-Dispatch.

WASHINGTON, April 10.—And now comes the Sisterhood of the Debarred—an organization composed of women seeking audience with the President, whom he has declined to see. Mrs. Carrie Nation, the hatchet wielder, was the original charter member and founder of the order, and today Mrs. Ida Von Claussen, who wants to tell the President of her troubles with the American Minister to Sweden, was admitted to full membership.

When Secretary Loeb, on behalf of the President, declined to grant Mrs. Von Claussen an audience, she was duly and officially elected, initiated and enrolled an active member of the organization and her name accordingly was inscribed on the rolls. Thus far the organization embraces only three members; Washington is wondering who the fourth will be.

Mrs. Von Claussen got no further than the big public reception room outside Secretary Loeb's office, when she went to the White House to interest the President in her case. She was stunningly gowned. Mrs. Von Claussen, in a dignified way, handed her card to the messenger at Mr. Loeb's door and in a quiet, well-modulated voice asked that it be presented to the Secretary or to the President.

"I have been grossly insulted by Minister Graves and his wife," she said to Mr. Foster, an assistant secretary, acting for Loeb, "and I wish to take the matter up with the President. I am entitled to redress and I think he is the officer to give it to me."

"Secretary Loeb is engaged and can't see you," answered Mr. Foster, evasively.

"Is it possible that I cannot see him or the President?" persisted Mrs. Von Claussen, still speaking in modulated tones.

"No, you can't," Mr. Foster answered.

"Of course," Mrs. Von Claussen said, preparing to leave, "I do not wish to force my presence upon Secretary Loeb, but I cannot conceive it possible that an American citizen, with a complaint to make of ill-treatment at the hands of an American Minister, should not be received by the President. However, I shall leave this letter."

Mrs. Von Claussen pressed a letter into Mr. Foster's hands and he took it to Secretary Loeb. It reads:

"WASHINGTON, D. C., April 9, 1907.

"To the Right Hon. Theodore Roosevelt, President of the United States of America:

"Sir—Mrs. Von Claussen is in receipt of President Roosevelt's refusal to see her and redress the insults offered her by his representative in Sweden, Mr. and Mrs. Graves. She cannot appeal again to the State Department, as she received its final decision before she left Sweden.

"Mrs. Von Claussen begs President Roosevelt to at once appoint a committee of experts to make sure that she is of sound mind before she proceeds further in this case, for she knows well, from previous reports, that when President Roosevelt is 'concerned' he has the habit of appointing such committees to help him out of his difficulties.

"Therefore, not caring to lay herself open to further criticism, Mrs. Von Claussen demands that such a committee be appointed at once, otherwise she will call the experts in herself.

"IDA M. CLAUSSEN."

"The trouble at the White House," said Mrs. Von Claussen to a group of newspaper men before she entered her carriage, "is that here they mistake cleverness for insanity."

"It is said you are about to publish a book entitled 'Embassy Life,' and that you are trying"— suggested a reporter.

"Ah, I understand," she replied quickly, with a smile. "It is untrue. I am not trying to advertise anything. I am seeking redress for an insult—that and that alone."

Another Card to Play.

It was stated at the White House that no attention would be paid to Mrs. Von Claussen's letter. Her next move is awaited with interest, however, for as was intimated at her hotel, she has "another card up her sleeve and will play it strong."

Mrs. Von Claussen's refusal of an audience was entirely unlike those attending the visits of Mrs. Minor Morris and Mrs. Carrie Nation. The Minor Morris incident is still fresh in mind, and the last time Carrie Nation visited the President's office she was given to understand quickly that her presence was objectionable. Here is the way Mrs. Nation, who now prints a paper she calls the Hatchet at 207 D street, this city, tells the story:

"There were three policemen on the front steps waiting for me when I walked up. They were 'on the job,' as the saying is, and were evidently 'strong' for the plan to 'shy me off.' Before I could get within ten feet of the door a man stepped forward.

"'Mrs. Nation,' he said, 'your business with this office is closed.'

"'Who told you to tell me that?' I asked.

"'Now look a-here, young man,' says I, 'I suppose the door is closed against me, a representative woman and mother; any thief, cigarette fiend, brewer, distiller or gambler can get in here, but a real American mother is shut out. This house don't belong to Roosevelt or Loeb; it's the American people's. I have some important questions to ask the President.'

"'I have free speech and I'm going to express my views,' I replied. Then the policeman turned to my companion.

"'Take her away; take her away before she gets into trouble,' he said.

"'It's an outrage that good mothers should be shut out; I shouted. Then they led me away. Two years before that they threatened to have me arrested.

"'Yes,' said Mrs. Nation, in reviewing the visits, "I'm the charter member of the 'Sisterhood of the Debarred,' and I'm proud of it. There are three of us now and I'll be willing to bet that the membership increases right along now."

MUTUAL SUCCESSES.

Story of Blaine-Thompson Co. and Its Clients.

With the short business career of six years, but now one of the largest and most successful advertising agencies in America, the Blaine-Thompson Co. has moved into its new and handsome quarters, the entire eleventh floor of the new Fourth National Bank Building of Cincinnati, O., on which it has a lease for ten years.

The company has compiled a neat little booklet, with a pretty blue cover, in which it gives its methods for successful advertising, a brief sketch of its history and a number of excellent half-tones of its officers and offices.

The story of the rapid growth of the Blaine-Thompson Co. is one of mutual successes. Agency and clients have climbed together. Numbered among its clients are many of the largest and most successful advertisers in the country. The active management of the company is in the hands of Secretary E. R. Blaine, Treasurer J. E. Thompson and Vice-president George A. Shives, past masters in the art of building up profitable business by the wise use of printers' ink.

Associated with the three men mentioned is Ben Mulford Jr., chief of the "copy department." His name has been affixed to miles of newspaper "copy."

Car Chaser Upsets Woman.

While Mrs. Mary Schniederberger of 3019 Chippewa street was getting off a Broadway car at Chippewa street Tuesday night, she was knocked down by Morris Lecher of 3407 California avenue, who was trying to catch the car. Her hip was dislocated.

Sergt. Sullens Injured.

HE THREW AWAY BAGGAGE CHECKS

Stead Forced to Dine in His Traveling Clothes Through Ignorance.

By Wire From the Washington Bureau of the Post-Dispatch.

WASHINGTON, April 10.—Because of his ignorance of American methods of checking baggage, William T. Stead was compelled to dine with the Russian Ambassador, Baron Rosen, last night in his traveling clothes. When Mr. and Mrs. Stead left New York Monday night to come to Washington, Dr. Albert Shaw, who accompanied them, attended to the checking of their luggage. Dr. Shaw handed over the paper check to Mr. Stead, and going to sleep, knew nothing until they arrived here Tuesday morning.

"What cehcks?" Mr. Stead asked in amazement.

"Those paper tags I gave you in New York after I checked your trunks," answered Dr. Shaw.

"But I can't give them to you, doctor; I've thrown them away. I did not know they were of any value."

"Goodness gracious, man, you haven't thrown away your baggage checks, have you?"

"I certainly have," Mrs. Stead confessed.

"Well, you're in a pretty fix," Dr. Shaw said. "Now you won't be able to get your luggage."

The party was driven to the hotel and then Dr. Shaw began his efforts to recover the trunks of Mr. and Mrs. Stead. He saw the railroad officials, discussed indemnifying bonds and about everything else, but did not get the trunks in time for Mr. Stead to change for tea at the British Embassy.

"They'll certainly be here by dinner time," Dr. Shaw assured Mr. Stead. But dinner time came and still the trunks were undelivered. Mr. Stead was compelled to go to the Russian Embassy for dinner without his evening clothes. Shortly before midnight the trunks were delivered, but Mr. Stead will throw away no more baggage checks while he is in America.

550,000 AUTOS IN 9 YEARS.

Frenchman Says All Cars Built Cost $1,000,000,000.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

WASHINGTON, April 10.—M. Faroux, a French statistician, according to a report received by the Bureau of Manufactures, estimates that about 550,000 motor cars have been manufactured in the nine years, since the experiment of self-propelled road vehicles first succeeded. These machines sold for more than a billion dollars.

Until a year ago, France, the pioneer, led the world in the production of the motor vehicle. Now the United States has taken the lead. According to M. Faroux, the United States built 60,000 automobiles in 1906, France 55,000, England 25,000, Germany 22,000, Italy 19,000, and Belgium 12,000. In 1901 the United States built only 314 cars, and that same years France built 23,711.

Mutineers Ordered to Die.

VILNA, Russia, April 10.—Seven men who participated in the mutiny of a sapper battalion here were sentenced to various terms of imprisonment or to death.

IOWA CHIEF OF POLICE FLEECED

DES MOINES, Io., April 10.—A New York dispatch says: Just as the Kaiser Wilhelm II began moving away from her pier in Hoboken yesterday, Detective Sergeant Guthell and Patrolman Laurence of the Hoboken force, ran down the pier at the top of their speed. As they reached the center of the shed, breathless, the last gangplank rattled on the flooring.

The policemen were in search of Dillon C. Willoughby of Des Moines, who was a passenger on this ship. A few minutes before the vessel sailed they had received a telegram from Chicago to arrest Willoughby, who is wanted by the Des Moines police for alleged crooked land transactions. A Des Moines officer is only hours behind Willoughby, and an Iowa detective will arrest the man when he lands from the steamer upon its arrival in English port. Willoughby came to the city about six months ago and opened offices on Fifth street. It was said he professed to represent a Colorado company, of which he signed himself as treasurer. From the start he did a good business, selling land all over Iowa to various parties. Among the men he interested was Carmon Layton, a rich farmer, whom, it was said, he convinced that he had a good thing.

Cleaned Up $20,000.

Most of the land offered for sale by him was claimed to be irrigated by ditches already built or about to be built and Willoughby sold with idnd the right to use the water for irrigation purposes. Many of Willoughby's alleged victims are in Denver, where, it is said, he cleaned up possibly $20,000. He is also said to have sold a California man a farm and received $4000 in cash and bonds from him.

It is alleged that Willoughby's latest escapade was in fleecing more than forty Iowans, the chief victim being James W. Jones, chief of police of Des Moines.

Altogether the real estate man is said to have obtained about $25,000 in Denver, Des Moines and Chicago. When the police of Des Moines, headed by Chief Jones, get through with him they will turn him over to the Denver officers, who they say are also very anxious to again make his acquaintance.

BIG STEEL RAIL ORDER.

Chicago City Railway Co. Buys Ten Thousand Tons.

CHICAGO, April 10.—Ten thousand tons of steel rails, or 20,000,000 pounds, have been ordered by the Chicago City Railway Co. for use in reconstructing its lines. This is one of the largest rail orders given by a local concern in recent years, excepting the railroad companies, which send out contracts for equipment from this city, and will involve about $400,000 in cash.

Two hundred tons of steel rails are needed to construct a mile of single track, therefore the lot that is to be delivered will extend over 50 miles of single, or 25 miles of double track.

WOUNDED, WALKED MILE.

Girl Was Accidently Shot by Her Playmate.

NEW YORK, April 10.—With a bullet in her brain, Mabel Guy, 10-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Guy of Middletown, N. Y., walked a mile to Thrall Hospital for treatment yesterday. The girl was wounded by a young companion, who was playing with a pistol supposed to be empty. At the hospital an unsuccessful effort was made to recover the bullet. The physicians say the girl may recover.

Tired, Nervous Mothers

A nervous, irritable mother, often on the verge of hysterics, is unfit to care for children; it ruins a child's disposition and reacts upon herself. She is a source of misery to every one who comes under her influence, and uphappy and miserable herself. She cannot help it, as her condition is due to shattered nerves caused by some feminine disorder, with backache, headache, and all kinds of pain, and she is on the verge of nervous prostration. Proof is monumental that nothing is better to regulate a woman's health than

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Mrs. Nellie Makham, of 151 Morgan St., Buffalo, N.Y., writes:

"Dear Mrs. Pinkham:—I was a wreck from nervous prostration. I suffered so I did not care what became of me, and my family despaired of my recovery. Physicians failed to help me. I was urged to try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and I want to tell you that it has entirely cured me. I think it is the finest medicine on earth, and I am recommending it to all my friends and acquaintances."

Mrs. Geo. A. James, a lifelong resident of Fredonia, N. Y., writes:

"Dear Mrs. Pinkham:—I was in a terribly rundown condition and had nervous prostration caused by organic trouble, in fact, I had not been well since my children were born. This condition worked on my nerves, and I was irritable and miserable. I had tried many remedies without getting much help, but Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound brought me back to health and strength. It has also carried me safely through the Change of Life. I cannot too strongly recommend your medicine."

MRS. PINKHAM'S INVITATION TO WOMEN.

Women suffering from any form of female ailments are invited to communicate promptly with Mrs. Pinkham, at Lynn, Mass. From the symptoms given, the trouble may be located and the quickest and surest way of recovery advised. She will hold your letter in strict confidence as indicated by the fact that every private letter received by her during the last twenty years, and more, she now has in the Company's laboratory under lock and key, and no testimonial has ever been published without special written permission. Her advice is free and always helpful.

LYDIA E. PINKHAM'S VEGETABLE COMPOUND, a woman's remedy for woman's ills, made from Native Roots and Herbs, complies with all conditions of the new Pure Food and Drugs Law, and is so guaranteed.

THE GOVERNOR'S MESSAGE.

In his extra-session message, Gov. Folk is clear in his exposition of the principle of home rule and of the propriety of applying it to the regulation of public utility monopolies and to the management of police. His statement of the status of public service monopolies and of the necessity and propriety of investing municipalities with power to protect themselves against monopoly oppression is strong and convincing. He gives the Legislature an admirable presentation and analysis of the issue involved in the regulation of corporations holding franchises and privileges; he completely knocks the pins from under the flimsy and specious pleas set up in behalf of public service monopolies against legislation embodying the principle of municipal control. The State Legislature's duty in this matter is made clear.

It is not so clear why the principle of home rule so ably and eloquently advocated with respect to the police and municipal control of public utilities, should be violated in the matter of saloon control. It is not clear why the Governor should make such a wide distinction between the enforcement of the State laws relating to general crimes and offenses, and the enforcement of the State law concerning dramshops—which are local interests affecting the people of the communities in which they are located. Agreeing to his plea for a check on possible local lawlessness through the non-enforcement of State laws by local officials, by means of a law enabling the Governor to displace negligent and incompetent county officers, why should there be a special State office created for the purpose of regulating dramshops? Admitting all that the Governor has to say on the subject of the danger to the State of a failure on the part of local State officers to enforce the laws, this danger will be averted if the Legislature empowers the Governor, through the Attorney-General, to institute proceedings against negligent officials before the Supreme Court. The comparison of the supervision of saloons by a State officer, appointed for that purpose, and the supervision of banks, the soundness of which is of interest to people outside of the localities in which they are operated, or with the supervision of railroads, or of grain inspection, or of mines, seems childish. The dramshop affects only the locality in which it is situated; and while the laws with reference to it should be enforced, with the ample checks provided for that now and asked for by the Governor, why should there be a special State Commissioner, whose powers offer exceptional opportunity for corruption and for political manipulation? Why should the saloon interests be thrust into State politics any deeper than they are now, when the same end is gained without the proposed new office? Is it wise?

We regret that the Governor did not direct the attention of the Legislature to the propriety of strengthening the fellow servant law with a measure extending its operation to mines. But he reserves to himself the right to make further recommendations. A measure of this kind ought to commend itself to him. His request for an amendment strengthening the anti-race gambling law should be complied with.

Col. Ware will use his pension to educate a poor girl. It is regretted that Col. Ware has not as many millions as Rockefeller.

MURDER AND ROMANCE.

When he commuted the sentence of Aggie, or Maggie, Myers from death by hanging to imprisonment for life in the Penitentiary, the reason Gov. Folk made a matter of official record in the case is his belief that the "benefit to the public morals of the commonwealth will be greater from confining her for life" than from hanging her.

A volume of logical reasoning might be written in support of this position. If it were made as logical and as civilized as possible, it might still fail to convince those who demand hanging, that it is no better for the morals of a commonwealth to kill a woman deliberately and in cold blood than it is for a woman to kill a man deliberately and in cold blood.

It appears from all the evidence that the Myers woman did this. The fact that she is a woman, that she is young and comparatively handsome, has only a romantic interest. The prisoners of Paris and Italy during the worst periods of individual crime the world has ever known, were often young and handsome women. Some of them were noted for their beauty.

Justice and regard for the morals and safety of a commonwealth leave romance out of consideration. In that sense, Gov. Folk has done well as far as he has based his action on the assumption that the morals of Missouri will be better protected by confining a murderess for life than by putting her to death. But the confinement for life in a case where law shows there is no restraining moral sense to protect the community, ought to be a matter of fact as well as of sentence.

One St. Louis statesman wrote "Thirty Years in the United States Senate." Another is now to write "Thirty Years of St. Louis Boodling." This is not only the World's Fair City, but it is the Historians' Home.

AN OPEN ART MUSEUM.

St. Louis hit the bull's-eye with the overwhelming vote for a tax to support the Art Museum. The city moved into the focus of art interest in this country. The vote is regarded everywhere as a signal proof of public progress.

The telegrams received by Director Ives indicate the widespread interest taken by artists and art museum directors in the action of the St. Louis voters and their appreciation of it as a notable example of civic advancement.

Harrison S. Morris, former Director of the Pennsylvania Academy, says:: "St. Louis has picked up the torch of art dropped by the East and will now be an intellectual leader."

Elmer Ellsworth Brown of Washington, D. C., declares that "it will undoubtedly prove a blessing to the whole Southwest and an inspiration to the fine arts movement in the whole country."

John Lafarge, distinguished artist, ranks it as "the most important step that I know of in any country towards a rational and steady encouragement of art by the people and for the people."

Will H. Low of New York, says: "The victory means much to advance St. Louis and American art."

Let us hit another bull's-eye. Let us make this great Art Museum, for which the people of St. Louis have voted a magnificent income out of the municipal revenues, really popular—really democratic. It is the rule, generally, in art museums, to maintain special privileges for persons who join an art association and pay annual dues. The museums are kept closed to the public unless an admission fee is paid, on three or four days of the week. The Metropolitan Art Museum of New York has reduced these closed days to two, and there is a movement afoot to open the museum to the public every day. Let St. Louis take the lead in the opening of her museum every day. Would it not be wise on the part of the Board of Directors to consider the abolition of special privileges in a museum handsomely supported by all the people, and its opening for at least a few hours every day? This plan would increase popular interest in the museum and would make the public feel that it is maintained and operated for the benefit of all the people.

"Cuba as a State would be a curse," says ex-Ambassador White. And the Philippines are still no blessing.

A SELF-DOCKING PUBLIC SERVANT.

All American cities, many of them much greater in population and infinitely more blest in material things, will envy Jamestown, O.

Jamestown has a self-docking public servant who is the sum of civic honor. He is mayor of the city, and when he draws upon the Jamestown treasury for his services, he always docks himself for the time when he has not worked. Last winter he had prolonged business in Washington, and he will not accept a cent from Jamestown for being mayor during that time. His reason is simple—he did not earn it. His example has created a sensation among Ohio officeholders, and an even greater sensation among those familiar with Ohio officeholders, usually a very rapacious lot. Indeed, it has occasioned much widespread reflection upon the individual's duty as a unit of society, and when the moral of Mayor Taylor's self-abnegation soaks in a little deeper, we may expect to read of conscience-stricken officeholders making restitution and regenerated citizens returning money drawn from society for the performance of such simple duties as being jurors and witnesses.

The present prospect is that when the millennium dawns, Jamestown, O., will offer certain advantages as a point from which to see the more important phenomena.

Secrecy surrounds the British battleships and secrecy is to surround our own ocean terrors. A great war will be absolutely necessary to show just where we are "at" in the great work of slaughtering our fellow beings.

STUDY LOCOMOTIVE ECONOMY.

From the Iron Trade Review.

The Pennsylvania system is investigating the problem as to how many miles a locomotive should make before being sent to the shop, irrespective of whether it is broken down or not. An expert engineer is studying the problem and is making exhaustive reports on the mileage that can be made economically by a locomotive before it should be sent to the shops for an overhauling. When this mileage is determined orders will be issued to send every engine to the shops when it makes the specified run, regardless of its general condition.

RAILWAY FOR SPITZBERGEN.

From the New York Sun.

Spitsbergen will soon boast the possession of the farthest north railway. The line is to be built 10 degrees farther north than the so-called Lofoten Railway, which crosses the Arctic circle in Northern Scandinavia. The object of the new line is to work the coal deposits of Spitzbergen, which are situated in the interior of the island. The line will connect them with the coast. The first plan for an earth surface line was abandoned, owing to the natural difficulties. It is now proposed to construct an aerial suspension railway on the Bleichert system.

His Private Burial Ground.

OUR INSULAR CONSCIENCE.

Conscience of all kinds is improving in the United States. Public conscience, as Gov. Folk asserts, is awake. Private conscience is stirring from deep slumber, and even our insular conscience is suffering qualms.

The Supreme Court has just settled the fate of the Isle of Pines. We cannot absorb the Isle of Pines. It would not be right. The isle belongs to Cuba. Just what the process of reasoning is, the dispatches do not say, but we may presume the decision to be based on the ground that the isle is not ours, because Cuba saw it first. The probability is that Cuba did nothing of the kind, any more than the Filipinos saw the Philippines first; but our insular conscience is waking, and it is much easier for us to decide against ourselves now than it was when Aguinaldo was getting his and the St. Louis boodlers were getting theirs.

Gov. Folk is putting the Missouri lobby to unprecedented expense.

The Alton road had ways that are dark and tricks that are vain before Harriman ever heard of it. It secured its charter fom the city of Alton upon the assurance that Alton should remain the southern terminus of the road and when it built into town it kept right on to St. Louis.

IS TEDDY SEEING THINGS

By Clark McAdams.

A TIMID moon, a brooding night, a forest rendezvous,
Conspirators assembled in the shadows—two and two.
'S death! The voice of Harriman, with hate and anger hoarse—
"I'll tell ye, mates, we've got to stop this fellow's headlong course!"
"Admitting that," says Willie Hearst, "inform us of your plan."
"My plan! I'd buy his party up from Beersheba to Dan!"

Dead silence falls, an owl goes by on softly-whirring wings,
And far, far off a banshee laughs. Is Teddy seeing things?

Now, hist! 'Tis Rockefeller stirs and rises to his feet,
His long, spare shadow falling far from where the plotters meet.
"My friends," he says, "to beat this man—the masses' Teddy bear—I'd give my wealth, my all—I'd give the very clothes I wear!"

FALLACIES REGARDING EASTERN RELIGION

ALMOST all of the facts in regard to Indian religion, says Moncure D. Conway, in his latest work, have been colored by missionary partisanship. The sentiments expressed by Bishop Heber in a famous hymn—

"What though the spicy breezes
Blow soft o'er Ceylon's Isle;
Though every prospect pleases

are only too typical, avers Mr. Conway, of a certain kind of missionary spirit. Ever since our childhood we have been nurtured on stories of Indian idolworship and the bloody car of the Juggernaut. But, as Mr. Conway explains, even the humble Indians do not worship idols in themselves. "The images are covered with symbolic ornaments," he says, "representing the character of legendary deeds of this or that divinity. Each divinity has a certain day in the month and a certain hour when he or she enters his or her temple, and by a temporary transubstantiation enters the image. After receiving due offerings the deity departs, and from that moment until the return of their festival the image is without any sanctity whatever." As to the Juggernaut story, Mr. Conway writes:

"I found learned men in India, both native and English, puzzled by the evil reputation of Juggernaut and his famous car, throughout Christendom. He is a form of Vishnu, the lord of life to whom all destruction is abhorrent. The death of the smallest creature beneath the wheels of that car, much more of a human being, would entail long and costly ceremonies of purification. It is surmised that the obstinate and proverbial fiction about the Car of Juggernaut must have originated in some accident witnessed by a missionary who supposed it to be a regular part of the ceremonies. There have been suicides in India, as in Christian countries, from religious mania, but the place where they are least likely to occur is in the neighborhood of Juggernaut.

POINTED PARAGRAPHS.

From the Chicago News.

The nearer you get to a dollar the smaller it looks.

Judge men by what they do, not by what they promise to do.

Better a dollar bill in the hand than two due bills in the pocket.

It is unlucky to come home hungry and find a black cat in the pantry.

ZOROASTER.

TAKING the first footstep with the good thought, the second with a good word, and the third with a good deed, I entered Paradise.

LETTERS FROM THE PEOPLE

(This column is open for discussion of public questions. Letters must give name and address of writer and should not exceed 150 words. Names will not be published, if so desired. Suggestions and criticisms concerning the Post-Dispatch are invited.)

Naming a City.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

In credit to the enterprise of Adolphus Busch I would suggest Busch City, Budweiser or Manufacturers City as appropriate for the name of a new city that will rise with the building of the Manufacturers' Railroad terminals on the east shore, opposite the Anheuser-Busch Brewery.

FRANK R. BIGNEY.

The Harriman Letter.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

As regards the controversy between President Roosevelt and Mr. Harriman, the question is not now as to which gentleman is telling the truth, but as to the folly of the President of the United States holding conferences with such men as Harriman in a manner which would give them the slightest ground to make such a charge as Harriman now makes. Where there is so much smoke there must be some fire.

A REPUBLICAN.

Calling the Streets.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

There is a rule in the little book carried by each conductor in the employ of the United Railways Co. which instructs them to call out the streets. It is a wise rule and should be carefully obeyed, especially at night. But there are a large number of the conductors who never call out the streets. On the Suburban line there are two whom I have particularly noticed. Last night as we approached the street where I wished to get off I asked one: "Is this Newstead?" He was chewing—either gum or tobacco—and didn't even reply, simply nodded his head. He must have been sworn to silence. I think if all the rules in that little book were enforced we should have better service.

TROLLEY.

A Lonely Man.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

The men in the office where I am a shipping clerk have nicknamed me "Tightwad," because I cannot buy them liquor or tobacco or gamble with them. I do not smoke or drink, and I think gambling is wrong, and, besides, my weekly $15 barely keeps my mother in comforts and myself in necessaries. But I don't like to be unpopular or barred out of my fellow-employes' good will and good times. It makes me actually sick inside every time they say "Tightwad" to me. But what am I to do, readers? How can I prevent it? I like good times, and I want friends, and yet I am as lonely as if I were a leper.

SHIPPING CLERK.

Shortage of Teachers.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

The rapidly expanding field of usefulness of the modern woman is forcibly suggested by the article in Monday's Post-Dispatch stating that it has become necessary for St. Louis to bring teachers from other cities for its public schools. Leaving aside the fact that at present hardly 60 per cent of the enrolled students are graduated each half year from the Teachers' College, a comparatively new institution in St. Louis, the principal cause of the shortage in the supply of teachers is the competition of business vocations. Each succeeding year we are hearing more of the woman lawyer, the woman doctor, editor, author, stenographer, even the woman politician. It is but a few years back when the young woman of good education could turn only to teaching for support. Not so today. She is giving her brothers a hard and close race in almost every line of endeavor. Mr. Modern Man needs to keep a sharp lookout ahead.

ST. LOUIS.

Fire Insurance Delays.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

Since the unearthing of the corrupt practices on the part of the officials of the great life insurance companies has resulted in so much good, who would it not be well to investigate conditions existing in the fire insurance business? Frequently the adjustment of fire losses is delayed beyond all reason and parties who are rightfully entitled to insurance money are unable to get it when it would do them the greatest good. Why could not the Insurance Department of the State be empowered by our legislators to investigate and, whenever found necessary, regulate the methods employed by the fire insurance companies? I feel sure it is a matter that requires adjustment.

A VICTIM.

Wants to Be Thin.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

I notice that a great many use this column in seeking advice. I would like to know if there is any kind of school or club in St. Louis for stout ladies, where they can go for exercise to reduce their weight. I would be very glad to hear from someone who has reduced their weight in any way. Any advice will be thankfully received by one who is very anxious to be thinner.

7 MINUTE INTERVIEWS TRANSCRIBED FOR THE POST-DISPATCH by Hiram W. Hayes

MR. FORBES-ROBERTSON has discovered the senatorial secret of making quick changes when occasion requires. He may not, himself, recognize this discovery, but when he told me between the acts of Bernard Shaw's intensely human story of Caesar and Cleopatra, that of all garments, the toga enabled one to make the quickest change, I saw at once that this versatile Briton had solved a great American mystery. Great, indeed, is the toga for the ease with which it is adjusted to senatorial needs and great is Forbes-Robertson, who has solved a long-unsolved problem.

It is 21 years, Mr. Forbes-Robertson told me in the course of a minute interview, since he was in St. Louis. At that time he was leading man for Mary Anderson. At the end of that season she left the stage. Mr. Forbes-Robertson thinks the reason she did so was that she was breaking down.

"At any rate," he said, "she quit at just the right time not only to place, but keep her on the very highest pedestal in the minds and hearts of the American public."

"Do you ever see her now?" I asked.

"Rarely. She lives a good way out in the country, you know. The last time I saw her was at the obsequies of Sir Henry Irving, and then only at a distance. I was a sort of master of ceremonies at the Abbey and was very busy. Her husband came and spoke to me, but I only caught a glimpse of her. She is still beautiful; she will always be young and beautiful in the minds of her countrymen. That is why I say she left the stage at just the right time."

This subject of always remaining young in the minds of those out of whose lives one has passed while young, recalled "The Story of a Bad Boy," by Thomas Bailey Aldrich, which most or us read in our youth. The actor's voice filled with tenderness—and it is a tender voice anyway—as he spoke the poet's name.

"He was a great friend of ours," he said. He was a friend of my wife before we were married. We took dinner with him our last visit here. He certainly was a wonderful man. Seventy-one years old and with the heart of a boy. Why, the last time I saw him he ran up the stairs like a young man. He kept his thought young and his acts and actions reflected his thoughts."

"So that is your recipe for keeping young?" I asked, for I knew by looking at Mr. Forbes-Robertson that he must have a recipe.

"Well, really, you know, it's the only way," he replied. "Thomas Bailey Aldrich wrote for the youth. He put himself in touch with young people and he never grew old. He had learned that passing years do not constitute old age and that fewness of days do not necessarily mean youth. Yes, I am a firm believer that in so far at least as growing old is concerned, the mind is reflected in and governs the body."

So, then, I had learned in my minute interview that Forbes-Robertson had discovered not only the secret of what causes senatorial quick changes, but also of perennial youth.

ANSWERS TO POST-DISPATCH READERS

Look in Sunday edition for answers requiring more than a few lines. Write but one question. Sign but one initial. Legal questions must be simple. No bets decided. Business addresses not given. Address "Answers," Post-Dispatch; postal cards, if convenient.

JOB.—Iowa has an Iowa City.

A DEBTOR.—Consult a lawyer.

I. M. H.—See expert about violins.

B. E.—See Answers March 19—first cousins.

PRESTON.—Try writing Scientific American.

E. R. L.—The address of Miss Andrea Villareal Gonzales was 1236 South Eighth street.

SANDY.—Secretary of Board of Police Commissioners, Four Courts, will give you application blank.

OSWALD.—Write Agricultural Department, Washington, for full information in regard to tobacco raising.

C. M. P. L.—Washing oily hair once in two weeks can hardly injure it. We do not advise curling the hair.

C. L.—Indiana 2-cent fare law will be in effect April 15. At this writing (April 9) Illinois bill has not passed.

M.—Write to the Commissioner of Public Buildings, City Hall, about the low chimneys of your neighbor.

R.—Try addressing a letter to "School Trustees" of any Western town in which you wish to be employed as teacher.

R. H. A.—Fastest regular trains run between Philadelphia and Washington. Average speed, 45 miles an hour—part of the distance, 65.

MRS. LEWIS.—Be patient and save all the letters written by young "lady" to a married man to annoy his wife. They may be useful later on.

SIMKINS.—Some states have a resident agents' law prohibiting insurance companies from transacting business except through a resident agent.

READER.—"The most colossal summit on our planet" is Mount Everest of the Himalayas (28,903 feet). No mountain climber has ever reached this altitude.

INQUIRER.—You may without permit keep immediately outside of rear door a tank containing not to exceed 52 gallons of gasoline. No larger quantity is permitted.

MAX.—If your sister has two "steadies" and neither has proposed, perhaps she has not shown them how she could keep house for a very little money when rents and necessaries are so costly.

X.—To remove ink from linen, paint with solution of cyanide of potassium, applied with camel's-hair brush. As soon as ink disappears linen should be rinsed in cold water, and then washed the usual way.

GOOD BOY.—Orange ice cream: Mix in a double boiler the juices of five large oranges, 1½ cups powdered sugar, yolks of 8 eggs, the usual pinch of salt, 3 cups cream. Stir over a fire a few minutes, strain and freeze.

S. T.—Unless you can show that the family living over you disturbs you intentionally by slouching along in big shoes and making great noises with folding beds, sewing machines, etc., we do not see that you can do anything but move.

I. Z.—Plaster for patching: In g wooden soap box place four pounds of lime. Slake with enough water to make it a thin paste. Add a double handful of cow hair and two quarts of fine sand. If this mixture is too thin add more lime and sand.

I. LOVE.—If you could see the girl you love as she really is, you would easily get courage to speak to her. After marriage a young man has even been known to swear at the young woman he had idolized. There are very nice girls, but there are no angels

R. S. M.—Minor is liable for medical services. If the charge made is excessive, court may cut it down some. What may seem exorbitant to you may not be so considered by physicians in general. The account is good for five years from date of final visit. The right to place the collection with a mercantile agency is legal.

T. M.—Parchment for writing, painting, etc., is made from skins of sheep or goats, prepared and polished with pumice stone. Vegetable parchment is made by dipping ordinary paper, for a few seconds, into a solution containing one part water and six parts sulphuric acid; then washing it carefully to remove every trace of acid.

MOSS.—For hives: Pulverise poke root, pulverised lobelia, pulverised yellow dock, equal parts; carefully mix together. A tablespoon of this mixture should be added to a pint of vinegar. After standing a day or two it is ready for use. It should be carefully applied to the itching parts with a soft rag or brush twice or three times a day.

M.—With a word of apology for passing before her, the man steps to the ground, turns and gives his hand to the woman to assist her in leaving the street car. In going upstairs a woman is given precedence by a man, but in descending a staircase he goes first, to avoid the risk of stepping upon her gown, or, in case of a misstep, to afford her support.

ARTIST.—To fasten brass upon glass: Boil together 1 part caustic soda, 3 parts rosin, 3 parts gypsum, and 3 parts water. The cement made in this way hardens in about half an hour, hence it must be applied quickly. During the preparation it should be stirred constantly. All the ingredients used must be in a finely powdered state. (Don't address questions to city editor. See rules.)

THE THOROUGHBRED FIRST-NIGHTER

Written for the Post-Dispatch
By George M. Cohan.

"THE First Nighter" seldom laughs; this is to say he seldom laughs aloud. He feels it his duty to be known as a "hard audience," otherwise he would never be known as a "first nighter."

The snappiest dialogue, the brightest music, the most picturesque ensembles fail to move him—that is, so far as we know—for there he sits from 8 o'clock until midnight with a look of utter disdain for all he views.

If the play proves a success, he has failed. Should the play prove a failure he succeeds.

He is the original "I told you so, gentlemen." He never looks at a program; he knows them all.

He walks up and down the lobby between acts in hopes of being asked what he thinks.

He tells the leading lady she can never expect to win success in such a play. He tells the author that the leading lady ruined the performance. He tells the present-day actors that all the good actors died years ago.

The doortender trembles as this wise man enters. The ushers knew him by name. The actors fix their gaze upon him from the rise of the curtain till the fall.

He becomes annoyed at applause. When the gallery whistles he falls asleep.

Every performance is the "worst he ever saw."

How did any member of any cast ever manage to get on the stage? Klaw & Erlanger know nothing about the theatrical business, and Belasco is lucky to get away with "that stuff." Charlie Frohmann would not know where to get a meal if it was not for Maude Adams' success, and if it wasn't for Charlie Frohman Maude Adams would be playing minor parts in a Harlem stock company. Richard Mansfield ought to be ashamed of himself for taking money from the public. The public consists of nothing but yaps, and so deserves to be "lemoned."

He claims that all ticket speculators are "in with the theaters." The public should never patronize them. But still he buys his seats of a speculator.

He never sees a play more than once. The actors would "swell up" if he ever repeated.

He despises long runs, they shut out "openings." The more failures the more productions, the more productions the more first nights, and consequently the more chance he gets to show himself and push his expressionless face over the orchestra rail.

He has laughed but twice in his life—once when a boy fell from the gallery into the main aisle, and again when a horse leaped over the footlights on top of the musical director. He took awful chances of losing his reputation both times, but these things struck him so funny he just couldn't help it.

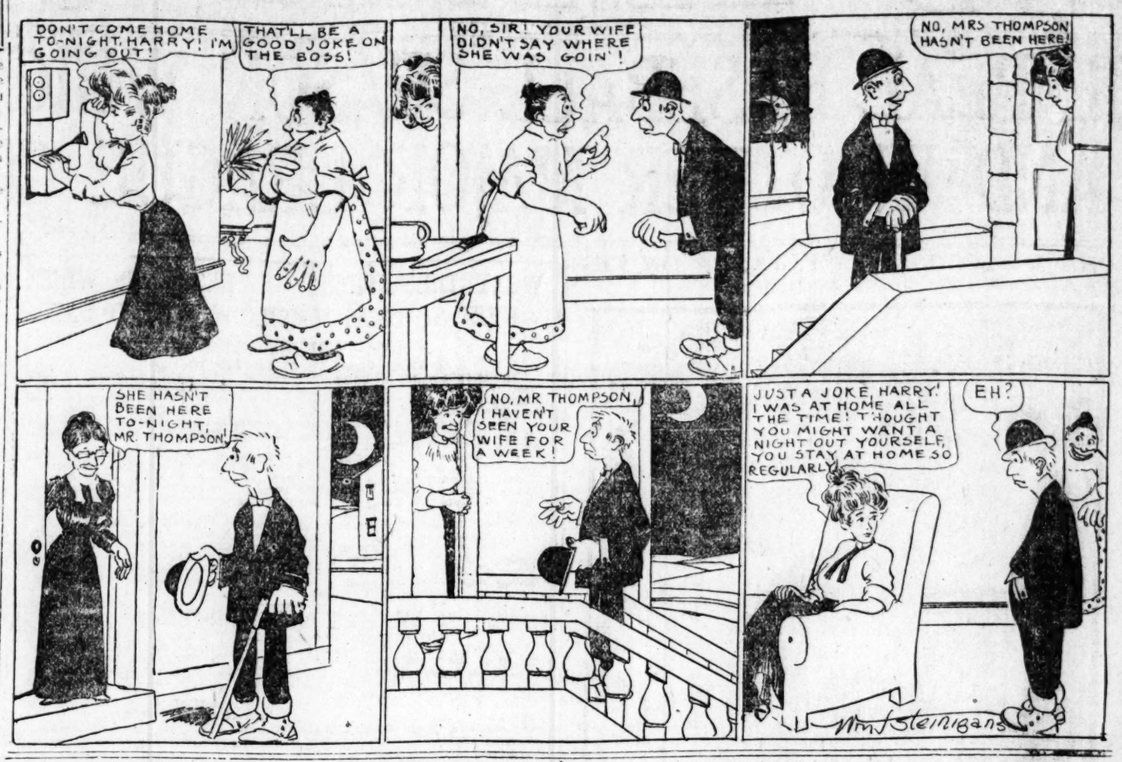

He promised his mother when he was a small boy he would never laugh at an actor. If laughter were currency he would control the wealth of the world. He is the only man who has saved it up. Try as you may you cannot hand him a laugh. He is made of business and "not laughing." He is very proud of the fact that he could not laugh if he wanted to.

He is satisfied that nothing funny has been said or done for years. He is the only living man who realizes this. He actually takes himself seriously and pities the poor devils who giggle or even smile.

Don't pay any attention to what is taking place on the stage. Pass up the play and keep your eye on this wise gentleman throughout the entire evening and I promise you the best laugh you ever had handed you in any theater during your natural existence.

THOMPSON'S NIGHT OUT

Poor Bobby.

From the London Punch.

The conduct of the police in arresting the last lot of suffragists seems to have been even more disgraceful than was supposed. One of the released martyrs, in addressing a meeting at Bradford, is reported to have said that "the women were in some cases brutally handled by the police, and her sister had to bite one of the officers to make him loose his hold."

FOR THE BOYS AND GIRLS

WHAT WEAPON IS THIS?

The First Robin.

By Cora M. W. Greenleaf.

HAVE you seen the first robin this spring?
I have, the poor little thing!
With his jacket so brown,
He arrived safe in town,
For he had an engagement to sing.

But the melody died in his throat
Before he could utter a note.
He got stuck in the slush,
And his sing had to hush,
While he lustily called for a boat.

Ah, sad was the little bird's fate!
For when he appeared to his mate
She winked t'other eye.
And murmured "O, my!
You must have stayed out rather late."

Fox, Goose and Cabbage.

A farmer came to a stream spanned by a bridge. He was carrying a fox, a goose and a cabbage. So narrow was the bridge he could carry only one of his three burdens across at a time. He was in a quandary. If he carried across the cabbage, the fox would eat the goose in his absence. If he carried across the goose the fox, of course, would not eat the cabbage, but when he should return and carry across either the fox or the cabbage and leave it on the far side while returning for the third of his burdens, the fox would eat the unprotected goose or the would eat the unprotected cabbage, as the case might be. Yet he solved the problem. What reader can do the same? This is an old puzzle, but a good one.

All Cutting Sawing.

From St. Nicholas.

Knives, no matter how carefully sharpened, are little saws; the grinding away of the steel, done by the stone, is not an even work, but when the edge gets thin is a process of tearing away tiny bits of steel by the grit of the stone. This tearing makes the teeth. A fine stone makes fine teeth; a coarse stone coarse teeth. A carving knife used on meat is sharpened on a coarse stone or steel, and has coarse teeth, although its edge is thick. Its action in parting the meat is more that of a saw than a fine wedge. No matter how soft it may be, it will not cut easily unless it is drawn over the meat and not simply pressed down. A razor, however, with its paper-like edge, will cut into flesh with a simple pressure—it is a wedge dividing the fibers of flesh just as a wedge of iron divides the fibers of the log it splits. But a razor is a saw, too, only as it is ground on the finest stones and later finished with a leather strop, its teeth are very fine indeed—hundreds and hundreds to the inch of blade.

Knew When to Quit.

From Tatler.

In a recent action the plaintiff had stated that his financial position was always satisfactory. In cross-examination he was asked if he had ever been bankrupt.

"No," was the answer.

The next question was, "Now, be careful; did you ever stop payment?"

"Yes," was the reply.

"Ah!" exclaimed the counsel, "I thought we should get at it at last. When did that happen?"

"After I had paid all I owed," was the answer.

A CRITICAL GUIDE TO WEEK'S LEADING PLAYS.

Olympic—Forbes-Robertson and Gertrude Elliott in "Caesar and Cleopatra."—An exquisitely appreciative presentation of a whimsical Bernard Shaw excursion into poetic-historic drama, touched with high burlesque. Stars well supported by carefully trained company.

Garrick—Thomas Q. Seabrooke in "The Man on the Box."—Clever comedy work by star in a play that's more farce than comedy. Sylvia Lynden fairly competent in leading woman role. Capable and well-cast company.

Century—Wright Lorimer in "The Shepherd King."—Biblical play of not entirely convincing quality. Lorimer as David is moderately satisfying. Company fair. Picturesque scenic production.

More Luck.

He picked up a brick from out of the ditch
At Roosevelt to chuck;
He scraped about the roadway and
He flung a lot of muck;
But people only laughed and said:
"More Roosevelt luck!"

—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

Another Point.

HOW TO BECOME BEAUTIFUL

Written for the Post-Dispatch
By Margaret Hubbard Ayer

To Cleanse the Blood.

M. D.—Here are directions for using sulphur and molasses. This is an excellent and inexpensive remedy which will clear the complexion of pimples and cleanse the blood: Get five cents' worth of sulphur precipitate. Put two teaspoonsful in the bottom of a glass. See that there are no lumps in it. Pour six teaspoonsful of syrup or molasses on the sulphur. Stir. Take one teaspoonful of the mixture before breakfast and one just before going to bed for three days. Omit for three days. Repeat and omit for three days until you have taken the preparation for nine days. To remove the scars left by the pimples, scrub your face well with a complexion brush and pure soap, in warm water, taking care to rinse it afterward in several clear waters. Then rub in a little cold cream.

To Reduce Flesh.

L. L.—Try these rules for the reduction of flesh. Avoid all starchy and sweetened food, all cereals, vegetables containing sugar or starch, such as peas, beans, corn, potatoes, etc. Have your bread toasted; sprinkle it with salt instead of butter. Milk, I regret to say, if it be pure and good, is fattening. Hot water is an excellent substitute for other liquids. Add a little of the juice of limes or lemon to it, if you choose. Limit your sleeping hours to seven at the outside. No naps. You must take exercise. If you cannot walk at least five miles a day, and do not wheel, go to one of the institutions where mechanical massage is given. Several of my correspondents report excellent results from this method of getting the vigorous exercise they require. The system is thoroughly wholesome and not expensive. In reducing flesh the one fact to recollect is that fat is carbon—oxygen destroys or burns out carbon. You must consume the carbon by the oxygen you take through your lungs. The more exercise the more oxygen, and consequently destruction of fat by the one healthful method of curing obesity. The more starch and sugar you eat the more carbon to burn away.

Hair Low on Forehead.

L. L.—If your hair has never grown low on the forehead it never will. You can only arrange it with a view to covering the forehead by drawing the front locks down somewhat. If, however, your hair has been falling out, try this tonic, massaging the scalp well twice a day: Phenic acid, 2 grams; tincture of nux vomica, 7½ grams; tincture of red cinchona, 30 grams; tincture of cantharides, 2 grams; cologne, 120 grams; sweet almond oil, 60 grams. Apply to the roots of the hair with a soft sponge once or twice a day. This lotion is especially good for very dry hair.

Not Bad.

From the Houston Post.

"I'm afraid it's a bad injury, doctor!"

"Bad? Why, man, it's a daisy; two of your broken ribs have penetrated your lungs and your collar bone is broken!"

PLAIN TALES FROM THE HILLS

By Rudyard Kipling.
(By Permission of George Munro's Sons.)

To Be Filed for Reference

"SAY, is it dawn, is it dusk in thy Bower,
Thou whom I long for, who longest for me?
Oh, be it night—be it—"

HERE he fell over a little camel colt that was sleeping in the Seral, where the horse traders and the best of the blackguards from Central Asia live and, because he was very drunk indeed and the night was dark, he could not rise again till I helped him. That was the beginning of my acquaintance with McIntosh Jellaludin. When a loafer and drunk sings "The Song of the Bower" he must be worth cultivating.

I helped him through the gangs of tethered horses and he collapsed on the edge of the veranda in front of the line of native quarters.

A native woman came out of the darkness of the room and began calling the man names; so I went away. He was the most interesting loafer that I had had the pleasure of knowing for a long time and later on he became a friend of mine. He was a tall, well built, fair man, fearfully shaken with drink, and he looked nearer 50 than the 35 which, he said, was his real age. When a man begins to sink in India and is not sent home by his friends as soon as he may be, he falls very low from a respectable point of view. By the time that he changes his creed, as did McIntosh, he is past redemption.

At the outset of acquaintance McIntosh warned me. "Remember this: I am not an object for charity; I require neither your money, your food nor your cast-off raiment. I am that rare animal—a self-supporting drunkard. If you choose, I will smoke with you, for the tobacco of the bazars does not. I admit, suit my palate, and I will borrow any books which you may not specially value. It is more than likely that I shall sell them for bottles of excessively filthy country liquors. In return you shall share such hospitality as my house affords. Here is a charpoy on which two can sit and it is possible that there may, from time to time, be food in that platter. Drink, unfortunately, you will find on the premises at any hour; and thus I make you welcome to all my poor establishments."

I was admitted to the McIntosh household and my good tobacco. But nothing else. Unluckily one cannot visit a loafer in the Seral by day. Friends buying horses would not understand it. Consequently I was obliged to see McIntosh after dark. He laughed at this and said simply: "You are perfectly right. When I enjoyed a position in society, rather higher than yours I should have done exactly the same thing. Good Heavens! I was once"—he spoke as though he had fallen from the command of a regiment—"an Oxford man." This recognized for the reference to Charley Reynold's stables.

"You," said McIntosh slowly, "have not had that advantage; but, to outward appearance, you do not seem possessed of a craving for strong drinks. On the whole, I fancy that you are the luckier of the two. Yet I am not certain. You are—forgive my saying so even while I am smoking your excellent tobacco—painfully ignorant of many things."

We were sitting together on the edge of his bedstead, for he owned no chairs, watching his horses being watered for the night, while the native woman was preparing dinner.

The native woman dipped her hand in the dish with us. This was wrong. The wife should always wait until the husband has eaten. McIntosh Jellaludin apologized, saying:

"It is an English prejudice which I have not been able to overcome; and she loves me. Why, I have never been able to understand. I forgathered with her at Jellundur, three years ago, and she has remained with me ever since. I believe her to be moral, and know her to be skilled in cookery."

He patted the woman's head as he spoke, and she cooed softly. She was not pretty to look at.

McIntosh never told me what position he had held before his fall. He was, when sober, a scholar and a gentleman. When drunk, he was rather worse of the first than of the second. He [illegible] for two days. On those occasions the native women tended him while he raved in all tongues except his own. One day, indeed, he began reciting Atalanta in Calydon, and went through to the end, beating time to the swing of the verse with a bedstead leg. But he did most of his ravings in Greek or German. The man's mind was a perfect rag-bag of useless things. Once, when he was beginning to get sober, he told me that I was the only rational being in the Inferno into which he had descended. A Virgil in the making, he said—and that, in return for my tobacco, he would, before he died, give me the materials of a new Inferno that should make me greater than Dante. Then he fell asleep on a horse blanket and woke up quite calm.

"Man," said he, "when you have reached the uttermost depths of degradation, little incidents which would vex a higher life are to you of no consequence. Last night my soul was among the gods; but I make no doubt that my bestial body was writhing down here in the garbage."

"On the Soul which I have lost and on the Conscience which I have killed, I tell you that I cannot feel! I am as the gods, knowing good and evil, but untouched by either. Is this enviable or is it not?"

"When a man has lost the warning of 'next morning's head,' he must be in a bad state," I answered, looking at McIntosh on the blanket, with his hair over his eyes and his lips blue-white, that I did not think the insensibility good enough.

"For pity's sake, don't say that! I tell you, it is good and most enviable. Think of my consolations!"

"Have you so many, then, McIntosh?"

"Certainly; your attempts at sarcasm, which is essentially the weapon of a cultured man, are crude. First, my attainments, my classical and literary knowledge, blurred, perhaps, by immoderate drinking—which reminds me that before my soul went to the Gods last night, I sold the Pickering Horace you so kindly lent me. Ditta Mull, the clothesman, has it. It fetched 10 annas, and may be redeemed for a rupee—but still infinitely superior to yours. Secondly, the abiding affection of Mrs. McIntosh, best of wives. Thirdly, a monument, more enduring than brass, which I have built up in the seven years of my degradation."

He referred several times to his "treasure"—some great possession that he owned—but I held this to be the raving of drink. He was as poor and as proud as he could be. His manner was not pleasant, but he knew enough about the natives, among whom seven years of his life had been spent, to make his acquaintance worth having.

He died of pneumonia, and on the night of his death sent over a grubby note asking me to come and help him die.

The native woman was weeping by the side of the bed. McIntosh, wrapped in a cotton cloth, was too weak to resent a fur coat being thrown over him. He was very active as far as his mind was concerned, and his eyes were blazing. When he had abused the doctor who came with me so foully that the indignant old fellow left, he cursed me for a few minutes and calmed down.

Then he told my wife to fetch out "The Book" from a hole in the wall. She brought out a big bundle, wrapped in the tail of a petticoat, of old sheets of miscellaneous notepaper, all numbered and covered with fine cramped writing. McIntosh ploughed his hand through the rubbish and stirred it up lovingly.

"This," he said, "is my work—the Book of McIntosh Jellaludin, showing what he saw, and how he lived, and what befell him and others; being also an account of the life and sins and death of Mather Maturla. What Mirza Murad Ali Beg's book is to all other books on native life, will my work be to Mirza Murad Ali Beg's!"

This, as will be conceded by any one who knows Mirza Murad Ali Beg's book, was a sweeping statement. The papers did not look specially valuable, but McIntosh handled them as if they were currency notes. Then said he slowly:

"In despite the many weaknesses of your education, you have been good to me. I will speak of your tobacco when I reach the gods. I owe you much thanks for many kindnesses. But I abominate indebtedness. For this reason I bequeath to you now the monument more enduring than brass—my one book—rude and imperfect in parts, but oh, how rare in others! I wonder if you will understand it. It is a gift more honorable than [illegible]. Bah! Where is my brain rambling to? You will mutilate it horribly. You will knock out the gems you call 'Latin quotations,' you Philistine, and you will butcher the style to carve into your own jerky jargon; but you cannot destroy the whole of it. I bequeath it to you, Ethel [illegible]. My brain again! Mrs. McIntosh, bear witness that I give the Sahib all these papers. They would be of no use to you, heart of my heart; and I lay it upon you," he turned to me here, "that you do not let my book die in its present form. It is yours unconditionally—the story of McIntosh Jellaludin, which is not the story of McIntosh Jellaludin, but of a greater woman. Listen now! I am neither mad nor drunk! That book will make you famous."

I said, "Thank you," as the native woman put the bundle into my arms.

"My only baby!" said McIntosh with a smile. He was sinking fast, but he continued to talk as long as breath remained. I waited for the end, knowing that in six cases out of ten the dying man calls for his mother. He turned on his side and said:

"Say how it came into your possession. No one will believe you, but my name, at least, will live. You will treat it brutally, I know you will. Some of it must go; the public are fools and prudish fools. I was their servant once. But do your mangling gently—very gently. It is a great work, and I have paid for it in seven year's damnation."

His voice stopped for ten or twelve breaths, and then he began mumbling a prayer of some kind in Greek. The native woman cried very bitterly. Lastly, he rose in bed and said, as loudly as slowly: "Not guilty, my Lord!"

Then he fell back, and the stupor held him till he died. The native woman ran into the Seral among the horses and screamed and beat her breasts; for she had loved him.

Perhaps his last sentence in life told what McIntosh had once gone through; but saving the big bundle of old sheets in the cloth, there was nothing in his room to say who or what he had been. The papers were in a hopeless muddle.

Strickland helped me to sort them, and he said that the writer was either an extreme liar or a most wonderful person. He thought the former. One of these days you may be able to judge for yourselves. The bundle needed much expurgation, and was full of Greek nonsense, at the head of the chapters, which had all been cut out.

If the thing is ever published some one may, perhaps, remember this story, now printed as a safeguard to prove that M'Intosh Jellaludin and not I myself wrote the Book of Mother Maturin.

GOING TO THE DOGS.

From the London Chronicle.

THE phrase "goin to the dogs," with which Father Bernard Vaughan has been making effective play in connection with pet worship, has puzzled the explainers of metaphorical expressions rather needlessly. It has even been suggested that it is a profane perversion of "going to the gods," and an allusion has been detected to "canis," the dog throw, the worst throw with the dice among the ancient Romans. Shakspeare's "Throw physic to the dogs," and the scriptural "Give not that which is holy unto the dogs," have been quoted in connection with the expression. But it seems a fairly obvious reference to the fate of the worn out horse, condemned to be slaughtered. The old Greek curse, "Go to the crows!" may be compared, referring as it did to the Greek's horror of having his body left unburied as food for carrion birds.

Browns Will Start Off at Home With the World Champions While Cardinals Are Already On the Way to Meet Chicago Nationals In the Windy City

WHERE ALL THE TEAMS PLAY

TOMORROW'S BALL GAMES.

Chicago at St. Louis.
Cleveland at Detroit.
Boston at Philadelphia.
New York at Washington.

NATIONAL LEAGUE.
St. Louis at Chicago.
Pittsburg at Cincinnati.
Philadelphia at Boston.
New York at Brooklyn.

THE CLUB MANAGERS.

AMERICAN — Chicago, Jones; St. Louis, Jim McAleer; Cleveland, Larry Lajoie; Detroit, Hugh Jennings; New York, Clark Griffith; Philadelphia, Connie Mack; Washington, Joe Cantillon; Boston, John I. Taylor.

THE spring baseball series has come to an end and the Cardinals have beaten the Browns four games to three. There are no excuses to be made for the Browns and no reason why any should be made. The teams are both St. Louis organizations and the majority of the fans wanted to see the best team win. And the team that at all events right now is the best team did win. The Browns were outplayed at every stage. They were outbatted, outfielded and outpitched and that tells the whole story. What the teams will do later when rounded into perfect playing shape is another story and remains to be seen.

The baseball teams of the National League won a majority of their spring exhibition games with their rivals of the American League. The representatives of the older organization were successful in 13 out of the 22 games played. The failure of the Athletics of Philadelphia to hold their own with the Philadelphia Nationals was chiefly responsible for the American League losing the series. The Philadelphia Nationals won four straight from the Athletics, whereas in all the other series it was a much more even battle. The St. Louis Nationals won four out of seven from the Americans; the New York Nationals and St. Louis Americans split even with one victory each; the New York Nationals and Athletics split even with one victory each; the St. Louis Nationals took two games out of three from the Washingtons; the Boston Americans took two out of three from the Cincinnatis, and the Clevelands won one game from the Cincinnatis.

The National Leaguers beat their adversaries in total run-getting, tied them in batting and did slightly the better fielding. The totals were: Nationals—Runs, 96; hits, 173; errors, 41. Americans—Runs, 77; hits, 173; errors, 48.

BUT the spring series are over. Tomorrow afternoon the regular baseball season will begin. The Cardinals left St. Louis this morning, bound for Chicago via Quincy, where they play today, and tonight the Chicago White Sox will start for St. Louis to open the season here with the Browns. The opposing batteries out at Sportsman's Park tomorrow afternon will be Howell and Walsh and up in the Windy City McCloskey will pin his faith in Fromme.

What chances the two St. Louis teams have in the races in the two leagues have not yet been established. McAleer expects to be right there all summer and McCloskey, who has not had much to say about the Cardinals, thinks he is going to surprise a whole lot of people.

"STAND pat and fight it out on the same lines as last year," apparently is the motto of practically every club in both the National and American leagues for the coming summer. Few changes of importance have been made from the forces that were aligned in 1906 and the battles will be much the same as last year, for the teams, with one or two exceptions, will be of about the same strength. There have been a few experienced players that have changed their allegiance during the past winter, such as Ritchey and "Chick" Fraser, but they have been scarce.

In addition to this, there is the annual harvest of minor leaguers who are drafted, purchased or traded into the big leagues, but before the season is through nine-tenths of these youngsters are safely back in the "hush" leagues again working for more experience. Few, if any, of those who stick will be polished enough to get regular jobs with the major league teams to which they belong and thereby able to cut any figure in determining the pennant winners of the approaching season.

From the ring of the bell Thursday afternoon announcing the beginning of the struggle the battle will be a fierce one to the end, six months away. Which clubs will come out on top is a hard question to answer, but a glance at the conditions of the various teams in the two major leagues will convince most fans that a repetition of last year's pennant winners is not beyond a possibility. Stranger things have happened than that the two Chicago clubs should again win the flags in the National and American leagues and again meet each other in the contest for the championship of the world. From a comparison of the contenders in each league the anteseason "dope" looks strong for just this result.

THE race in the National League gives every indication of being more closely contested than it was last season, when the Chicago Cubs had a walkover. The Cubs look to have the best chance again this year, as the great nucleus is intact and should play first-class ball from the tap o f the bell. The team will be managed by Frank Chance, who made a success of his work last year. The pitching staff is good, although not sensational, and the team plays a very fast game in every department. Barring accidents, the Cubs are an odds-on chance for the flag.

The New York Giants, under McGraw, will make a desperate battle for first honors, but lack the youth and speed of the Cubs. The club will be made up the same as last year, except that Tom Corcoran, for the past 10 years with the Reds, is playing second base in place of Billy Gilbert. The team has not been strengthened and can hardly hope for anything better than the place. The Pittsburg Pirates, continuing under the management of Fred Clarke, have made few changes in the line-up. At second base Ed Abbatticchio, the big Indian formerly with the Bostons, has taken the place of Claude Ritchey, and should strengthen the team in hitting. Pittsburg always plays good ball, and this year will be no exception.

The Philadelphia Club is the only one in the league which will be under a new management. Billy Murray of the Jersey City team, having taken the place of Hugh Duffy as leader of the team. Murray is a winner, and it is certain that the Quakers will play with more spirit than was the case last season.

The Cincinnati club continues under the management of Ned Hanlon, but a new deal has been made with regard to players. All the former stars have been eliminated with the exception of Catcher Schlei, Pitcher Ewing and Infielder Huggins, and their places taken by young players gathered from all over the country. The team is inexperienced, but promising, and, though rather weak in the box, should do better than last year.

The Brooklyn club has about the same personnel as last season, with the addition of Pitchers Bell, Rueber and Henley, all good men. Manager Donovan is well liked by players and public, and is sure to get the best results out of the material at his command.

The Boston club has strengthened a great deal by changing hands, the penurious and backward methods of Soden and Conant giving way to the progressive policy of the new owner, George B. Dovey. A good second baseman has been secured in Claude Ritchey, and the club will have a greater incentive to work this year than last. Fred Tenney will manage the team.

Here in St. Louis Manager McCloskey has made a clean sweep, ridding the Cardinals of the cliques and factions which have made the club a joke for several years. The result is a team of fast and willing youngsters, who will give a good account of themselves and may make serious trouble for the best.

FOUR clubs in the American League look good for the penant next fall and with luck favoring either is capable of carrying off the flag and meeting the National League champions in the fall for the world's championship.

These four are Chicago, St. Louis, Cleveland and New York. Chicago is the champion of this year and Comiskey has practically stood pat on his team of 1906 that beat the Cubs and won the world's flag. A few youngsters have been picked up, but most of them will soon be back in the minors again from whence they came. Team work and the pitchers are depended on by Manager Jones to keep the White Sox at the top, and when they strike a winning stride they are one of the hardest teams in the country to beat, for they can turn hits into runs better than any other club in the country.

Cleveland has all the earmarks of a champion, but can't quite attain the mark. With five regulars batting over .300 and a good string of pitchers there is no logical reason why the Napoleons can't win the flag this season, nor why they didn't last year. Lack of team work is apparently the trouble and until that is strengthened the Naps are sure to fall just short of the premiership. Lajoie is a graduate of the old Philadelphia team that was the heaviest hitting bunch of ballplayers ever gathered together in one club. On it were such sluggers as Lajoie, Delehanty, Flick Thomas, McFarland, and it had for a string of pitchers Bernhard, Fraser, "Red" Donahue and Platt. Even with all that talent the Phillies could not win the flag and Lajoie learned his big league ball in that camp.

Griffith's Highlanders appear to be the most dangerous team the White Sox and the Browns have to face this season. Griffith has won championships in the American League and knows the essentials needed to put a club at the top. He has gathered a bunch of good stickers, good fielders and base runners, but is a trifle shy in the box. The battle looks between these four for the flag.

Connie Mack's Athletics do not look as good this spring as they did last year. The Phillies have taken their measure three times in a row, a feat entirely new to Quaker City fans. Since the loss of Lave Cross the Athletics have steadily deteriorated. The infield has gone to pieces and the pitchers, upon whom Mack pins his absolute faith, have gone back on him. Waddell fails down and Plank is overworked, with the result that the club drops behind in the race. If the Athletics finish fourth, the bottom of the first division, they will be as high as is probable. They are likely to go lower.

In the second division will probably be Philadelphia, Detroit, Washington and Boston. Neither Washington nor Boston will make any material difference in the race. The loss of Stahl as manager will affect the Boston club adversely, and no matter who is secured for manager it is not likely the club can pull into the first division. Cantillon is expected to do worlds with the Senators, but it is a hopeless task, for the talent is lacking.

Detroit has better than a second-division team. On paper the Tigers are one of the strongest clubs in the league and if Jennings can get some of his own ginger and pepper in the bunch it may get ahead. But the Tigers have always been a spring team, winning the first couple of months and then falling behind steadily. Jennings will make a strenuous bid to make a good showing with his club, but it is unlikely he will be able to land the Tigers at the finish next October better than the top of the second division.

THE chances of the Browns have been gone over often and the local fans know well the condition of McAleer's men.

In the American League three clubs will start out under new managers. Hughey Jennings, who has been most successful at Baltimore, replaces Bill Armour at Detroit, and Joe Cantillon of Milwaukee takes hold of the Washington club. The situation at Boston is still in the air, owing to the suicide of Chick Stahl and Boston will probably start the season next Thursday without a manager.

Fielder Jones continues as the able manager of the world's champion White Sox. Lajoie at Cleveland, McAleer at St. Louis, Griffith at New York and Connie Mack at Philadelphia. Every club in the League, except Washington and Boston, has claims to be considered a pennant possibility, and the race, as is usual in this League, promises to be close and entertaining right up to the finish.

American—O'Loughlin, Sheridan, Evans, Connolly and Hurst.

THE Chicago Nationals will make a hard fight to get a good start and McCloskey and his team of Cardinals will have their hands full from tomorrow on. Chance's men have been as fortunate as any other club in the matter of conditioning, and the experiences of all the major league teams in the South this year have been in marked contrast with last spring. Instead of chasing around the country in search of a single spot of sunshine, the players almost were surfeited with hot weather south of Mason and Dixon's line. Although a sudden change of temperature was encountered later, it was not until most of the players had worked themselves into first-class condition so they could let up on hard work without going back seriously. This was the experience of the Cubs and seems to have been that of the majority of the teams. Just before Chance's tribe struck Louisville they were so far advanced in physical condition that they were slowed up by the manager for fear some of them would work all the ginger out of their systems before the championship battle began.

From Louisville on colder weather was experienced, but with careful attention to themselves the Cubs survived the transition with only a cold or two in the head. It does not require any further comment on a team's condition than to refer to the number of games in which Cub pitchers—even the veterans—have worked through nine innings in cold as well as hot weather.

No team will have anything on Chance's men in the matter of condition when the pennant goes up at the West Side grounds next Thursday afternoon—barring accidents in the interval. Nor will the Cubs have much on their rivals in that way, since all have enjoyed unusually good training trips.

There is no doubting the confidence with which the Cubs are going into the coming race. They don't say much about the next pennant, but there is quiet determination and confidence in every expression. They are claiming nothing at all, but the whole situation is expressed in Manager Chance's concise: "We ought to win again, for I can't see where any other club in the league has anything on us."

ALTHOUGH the team is sure to go into the race without the services of Joe Tinker at short and probably without Johnny Kling in good condition for backstopping, there is no one in the Cub outfit worrying about it. Artie Hofman has been kept at short steadily and is improving every day. He covers all the ground and his only weakness has been in pegging the ball out of Chance's reach. Practice has steadied him in that respect. The other infield and outfield positions will be in the hands of men who have been through the fire regularly and several of whom will be stronger players for their experience.

With Kling missing from behind the bat the club would be considerably handicapped but for the accident to Moran, because neither Kahoe nor Seabaugh is in Kling's superior class as a backstop, although both are reliable men behind mask and wind pad. But with Moran in shape to work steadily the Cubs will experience no hardship if Kling proves too obdurate. While Pat of Fitchburg has not the finished appearance of Kling in his work and never has won Kling's laurels from the public, it would surprise the average fan to learn what confidence the Cubs themselves have in Moran's ability. It is so general, from manager down, that it can be predicted confidently Moran will do at least half of the catching in the coming season unless he is hurt, even if Kling should show up in the "pink of condition" for Thursday's getaway.

BESIDES the regulars the Cubs are better fortified against accidents than last year because they have in Randall an outfielder of great promise, capable of jumping into the shoes of any of the regulars in an emergency without seriously weakening the team. In Osborne there is another youngster of promise who has not shown all of Randall's speed yet, although that may be because he has been given fewer opportunities. For the infield Sweeney is a strong substitute, being able to take care of third or short almost equally well.

At present, therefore, Chance has three sub outfielders in Gessler, Randall and Osborne and two sub infielders in Hofman and Sweeney, although Artie is a regular now, pending Tinker's convalescence.

For the slab work Chance has seven veterans in Taylor, Fraser, Lundgren, Brown, Reulbach, Pfiester and Overall, and one of the most likely youngsters of the year in Durbine, from the "Shawnee" Valley. Eight twirlers are a lot for one team to try to carry, but there seems no chance to cut down the staff without strengthening a rival club, as it would not be possible to secure waivers on any one of the eight from the other National League clubs.

It is likely two of the six outfielders will be disposed of before the season is well along and that one backstop will be let out when Kling is ready for work. Otherwise the Cubs now on the roster are likely to be carried through the year—unless some one of the pitchers gives out for lack of work.

NEW YORK SHERIFF WILL STOP FIGHT.

NEW YORK, April 10.—William Nicholas J. Hayes today announced that he would not allow the proposed eight-round fight between Joe Thomas of California and Willie Lewis of this city to be held at the Grand Central Palace tonight. The fight is scheduled to be held under the auspices of the Gilford Athletic Club, and the managers of the club declare that the bout is legal because no one excluding members will be allowed to witness the contest.

Sheriff Hayes disputes this statement and says that he believes the managers of the club are merely using their organization as a cloak to cover the illegality of the contest.

The club officials says that they will hold the fight, because they are doing nothing illegal. They declare that there is absolutely no ground for police interference.

WHAT THE OWNERS OF THE TEAMS WHICH MEET ST. LOUIS TOMORROW HAVE TO SAY

BY CHARLES COMISKEY,
OWNER WORLD'S CHAMPION WHITE SOX.

In my opinion the White Sox will repeat their great showing of last year and win the world's championship for the second time in succession. Our team is considerably stronger than it was last year, and we cannot possibly have as much hard luck as we ran into during the last race.

The team is in excellent condition, despite some of the inconveniences of the trip to the City of Mexico. The men have been going well since their return to the United States.

It is really up to our great pitching staff to duplicate their wonderful work of last year. The twirlers were the real winners of the American League pennant and the world's championship. A staff composed of White, Altrock, Patterson, Walsh, Fiene, Smith, Owen and either Freeman or Cheney is enough to stop the hardest bunch of hitters in the league.

I look for a heart-breaking race from the opening to the closing day of the season, but I am sure the White Sox will be on top at the finish. We have the advantage of starting the season with our regular team intact. Last year we were handicapped at the start by the injury to Lee Tannehill and the trial of two new outfielders who failed to make good. Every regular on the team is a tried veteran and we will go after the flag from Thursday to the finish.

BY CHARLES W. MURPHY.
OWNER NATIONAL LEAGUE CHAMPIONS.

I think the Cubs will repeat in the National League and change the result of the world's championship series at the end of this season. There will be a harder fight for the league laurels than there was last season, but I have faith in the ability of Manager Chance and his men to win another flag for the West Side.

We have a fast, heady team, with a star staff of pitchers and several promising youngsters to draw from in case of accident or injury to any of the regulars. Four of our twirlers finished away up in the National League list last season, and all have shown their ability to repeat by the good work of the spring games.

Manager Chance has so many good youngsters in the squad that he is at a loss to know what to do with them. In Blaine A. Durbin I think we have one of the pitching finds of the year. He is a star left hander and works like Jack Pfiester. Randall and Osborne are outfielders of great promise.

Joe Tinker, our fast and brilliant shortstop, will be out of the game for a time, but in Artie Hofman we have one of the best utility men in the business, and Joe's place will be well cared for until he is able to get back in harness.

The Cubs look good enough to land another pennant and the world's championship, and I am confident they will succeed.

BIG ENTRY LIST FOR COUNTRY RUN

Western A. A. U. Championship Event Will Be Decided Saturday in Forest Park.

The third annual cross-country championship of the Western A. A. U., to be held Saturday afternoon in Forest Park for the first time in its history has taken on the importance that this event deserves. The entry list is large, the competition promised keen and the interest manifested on all sides is strong.

The race will start promptly at 3 o'clock, and 50 men are counted upon to leave their marks at the sound of the starter's gun. The Missouri A. C. team has won both of the races held in the last two years, and are the favorites for the title this year. Likewise, with Forshaw in the first race and with O'Connel in the second, the club has won the individual championships.

This year Forshaw is entered again, but will have the time of his life in defeating Millhouse of the Central Y. M. C. A. The latter organization has likewise a splendid opportunity of wresting the team trophy from the Cherry Diamond. In fact, the race seems to lie entirely between these two teams.

The list of officials has been chosen and the course will be measured today and marked off Saturday morning by a line of American flags, so there will be no possibility of the contestants losing their way.

N. Y. A. C. SWIMMERS WILL MEET MO. A. C.

The New York Athletic Club swimming team has finally decided to extend their Western trip so as to take in St. Louis and will meet the Missouri Athletic Club in a dual meet in the club tank April 25. Although the Easterners are reported to be coming on with a weakened team they are practically certain, with perhaps the exception of the breast stroke event, to make a clean sweep of the program here. Champion Daniels is with the team.

Yesterday afternoon the W. A. A. U. issued a sanction to the club to hold the boxing championships and the date has been set for May 4. This, of course, will be an open meet and should result in some splendid bouts. Special events will also be carded.

No torture to that of a rheumatic. Prescription No. 2351, by Eimer & Amend, quickest relief of all.

THE TWENTIETH CENTURYS defeated the C. B. C. Jrs. Sunday by a score of 9 to 0. The Twentieth Centurys would like to arrange a game for Sunday, April 14, with a team playing in the 15 and 16-year-old class. Address E. J. Wall, Edgebrook, Mo.

BLOOD GETS SOUR.

At this time of year, says a well-known authority, the Kidneys become weak, clogged and inactive, failing to filter out the poisons and acids, which sour the blood, causing not only facial and bodily eruptions, but the worst forms of Rheumatism, Nervous and Stomach troubles, Backache and painful, annoying Urinary afflictions.

It is worth anyone's time now to get from some good prescription pharmacy the following ingredients: Fluid Extract Dandelion, one-half ounce; Compound Kargon, one ounce; Compound Syrup Sarsaparilla, three ounces. Mix by shaking well in a bottle and take in teaspoonful doses after your meals and at bedtime.

This simple home-made mixture will force the Kidneys to normal, healthy action, so they will filter and strain all uric acid and poisonous waste matter from the blood, and expel this in the urine, at the same time restoring the "full blood count"—that is, 95 per cent red blood corpuscles—which is absolutely indispensable to perfect health.

ROBSON WILLING TO MEET SULLIVAN IN FINISH FIGHT

Englishman Will Take an M. A. C. Man at Tonopah or Fight Him Six Rounds in Quaker City.

PHILADELPHIA, April 10.

"Spike" Robson, the English featherweight champion, is in great demand and can keep busy for several months if he accepts all the offers made to him since he met Attell last week. Immediately after the Attell contest Tom O'Rourke of New York wired an offer for Robson to meet Tony Bender at the New National Sporting Club in New York. Young Corbett's manager sent a request for six rounds in Philadelphia, and a theatrical manager offered a date for the following week. Late last night the following telegram was received from Jimmy Coffroth, the San Francisco promoter:

"San Francisco, April 9.—Bert Crowhurst, matchmaker for 'Spike' Robson, Philadelphia: Will (Spike) Robson meet Abe Attell at San Francisco on April 13, 20 rounds, for 50 per cent of the gross receipts and one round-trip ticket? Answer. J. W. Coffroth, San Francisco."

The offer was at once refused, the terms not being enough. The reply said that a match would be considered, but a guarantee was demanded. Early this morning another offer was received by Mr. Crowhurst, and if the conditions and purse are satisfactory a match probably will be made.

The message was from St. Louis and read as follows:

"Will (Spike) Robson meet Tommy Sullivan in a six-round bout in Philadelphia, or in an unlimited round go in Tonopah?"

The answer to this was to the effect that Robson would consider a finish fight in Tonopah, provided the purse was large enough.

MAY BE FIELDER JONES' LAST YEAR

Sox Leader Wants to Retire When He Can With Good Grace.

The coming baseball season probably will be the last for Fielder Jones, manager of the Sox, who comes to St. Louis tomorrow with his team. For the past three years the world's champions' great manager has been promising his family that he would quit baseball and devote all his time to his oil business. Each fall he resolved to retire, but the following spring the fever came back and he couldn't give up his work. Now he has assured his wife that the last game of the 1907 season will be his farewell.

The Sox leader wrote President Comiskey last winter and said he wanted to cut the game to give all his attention to other business. He stated he could make more money off the diamond than playing. Comiskey, in his reply, said: "If you can make more money in other business than I am paying you I want to form a partnership with you."

That settled it for this season at least. Of course, Jones didn't want to leave his champions right after winning the highest honors in baseball, but the chances are that if his team hadn't won the pennant in 1906 Jones would have felt at liberty to resign his post as manager.

Would Leave Big Gap.

When Jones goes—if he does quit next season—his departure will leave an awful gap in the ranks of the Sox team. It would be hard to say where they would have finished last year without Jones in center field. He undoubtedly outclassed all other outfielders in the game, and his perseverance in keeping his team fighting along against staggering odds won Comiskey's everlasting gratitude. Of course, the "Old Roman" himself did much to keep his players keyed up for the struggle, but he had to have the co-operation of his playing manager to direct the forces on the field.

Jones is well provided for in coin of the realm. Practically every dollar he has made playing ball—and that is considerable—he has invested in oil wells, and they have turned out big winners. He thinks in another year he will have to give his personal attention to the management of his property instead of to the White Sox, and unless he can be persuaded to stick with the team he will retire from baseball for good.

Jones' wife says she gets a promise out of the manager every fall that he will not return to the game. "But just as soon as spring comes he packs us up and we're off for another baseball season," is the way Mrs. Jones puts it.

Full in the back—the waistline not defined. The favored fabrics seem to be light and dark grays in any quiet pattern. The new English Unfinished Worsteds seem to be particularly pleasing.

Although they can't be had in other tailoring establishments for less than $45 or $50, we are making to measure Spring Overcoats from our special line of English fabrics for $35.

BURGLAR BEATEN, FLEES WITH SPOIL

WIFE FIRST HEARD HIM

David Parusa of 5131 Morgan street fought in the dark with a burglar whom he caught ransacking his home at 3 a. m. Wednesday. After a struggle lasting several minutes, during which blows were exchanged, the burglar managed to free himself from the grasp of Mr. Parusa and escaped, taking with him money and articles of wearing apparel.

The burglar was discovered by Mrs. Parusa, who was awakened by a noise in the hall adjacent to her room. As she sat up in bed she saw flashes of light in the hall and what seemed to be the shadow of a man's form moving about. She screamed, and her husband jumped out of bed and ran into the hall.

The moment Mrs. Parusa screamed the light in the hall was extinguished, and Parusa was unable to see the intruder. He heard feet moving toward the back stairs and followed them. At the head of the stairs he encountered the burglar, and a struggle ensued. Shouting to his wife to call the police, Parusa held the burglar with one hand and pummeled him with the other.

The burglar struck several blows and attempted to jerk away. He finally succeeded in wrenching himself loose and darted down the back stairs. Parusa pursued, but the burglar jumped out of the kitchen window and made his escape.

The burglar had entered the house by boring a hole in the sash of the kitchen window and raising the catch. He is described as being 5 feet 5 inches tall, weighing 130 pounds and wearing a slouch hat. Because of the darkness Parusa was unable to tell whether the burglar was black or white.

Brokers Sue Client.

A. G. Edwards & Sons, brokers, have filed suit in the Circuit Court against A. R. Dostal, to recover $203.04, which is represented to be the balance due on the purchase price and commissions paid by them in acquiring for the defendant, 50 shares of Pressed Steel Car stock, Dec. 19, 1906.

The complaint says that the stock was purchased at Dostal's request at $53 a share and that he afterwards paid various sums on account of both the purchase price and the commission. It is stated that on March 15, of this year, the stock was sold for $34 a share, when commission of $12.50 was deducted on the last transaction and applied to the rest of his account. It is claimed that there still remains a balance due of $203.04.

Providence Linemen Strike.

PROVIDENCE, R. I., April 10.—At a meeting last night 150 linemen voted to strike. Their demands for more pay and shorter days have been refused. The concerns affected are the Rhode Island Street Railway Co., the Narragansett Electric Lighting Co., the Providence Telephone Co., and the Pawtucket Electric Lighting Co. Eighty of the 150 strikers are in the employ of the Providence Telephone Co.

J. R. DUNN FOUND GUILTY OF MURDER

DEFENSE IS UNUSUAL

John R. Dunn was found guilty of murder in the second degree and his punishment fixed at 12 years in the Penitentiary by the jury which tried him for the murder of John ("Blackie") Cook, whose body was found in an alley west of King's highway, between Wells and Ridge avenues, on the night of Jan. 9 last.

A motion for a new trial will be made and failing to get it, Dunn's attorneys will take an appeal. Dunn has been out on $5000 bond. After the return of the verdict Wednesday morning, Judge Muench ordered that the new bond be $6000.

The jury agreed on the verdict at 11:40 Tuesday night. It is said that the fixing of the penalty at 12 years was a compromise, some of the jurymen favoring a longer term of imprisonment.

The defense was unusual. At no time during the trial did Dunn's attorneys develop any particular line of defense. At one time they leaned toward an accident theory, then they laid stress on the drunken condition in which Dunn had been the day of the murder. No opening address was made to the jury for the defense and only four witnesses were put on the stand. It required more than a day for the prosecution to put in its case, but the defense was less than an hour.

In his argument to the jury, Attorney McCoy, for the defense, denounced the police and Circuit Attorney's office, saying they were persecuting rather than prosecuting.

ROOT WON'T LEAVE CABINET

Denies He Has Had Split With President.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

UTICA, N. Y., April 10.—A special to the Press from its Washington correspondent says: "When seen at his home today by the Press correspondent, Secretary Root denied the statement published in an evening paper in Washington that he would resign from the Cabinet as soon as two pet foreign policies of his had been adopted.

"It is one of those foolish roorbacks that crop out in the newspapers now and then. Further than that I have nothing to say about it," said Mr. Root.

The article referred to said Mr. Root had split with the President on the latter's railroad policy, had advised a short, dignified answer to the Harriman letter rather than the publication of the Sherman letter and had recently been so neglected in Cabinet affairs that he felt his usefulness in the Cabinet was at an end. Further than as quoted Secretary Root declined to discuss the matter.

GREAT CHARITY CARNIVAL.

Musicians Volunteer Their Aid to Benefit at Delmar.

An evidence of the widespread interest being taken in the great charity carnival to be held at the Delmar Garden May 10, for the benefit of the Skin and Cancer Hospital and the Salvation Army and Nursery, is that the Musicians' Mutual Benefit Association, Local No. 2, of the American Federation of Musicians, has been permitted to volunteer its services for the affair.

It is a rare thing that musicians are permitted by their unions to volunteer their services for any cause and the gaining of their consent is a great compliment to the work which the ladies represent and the earnest, faithful efforts of the ladies in behalf of worthy charities.

All of the ladies identified with the movement are holding meetings almost hourly each day in their efforts to make a great financial success of this carnival to raise funds for the two charities concerned.

The entertainment will by far be the largest and most elaborate ever attempted in St. Louis and many ladies of prominence in the city will take part in some manner.

TEAMSTERS GET $60 A DAY.

SAULT STE. MARIE, Mich., April 10.—A mining man arriving here today reports that 3000 prospectors have invaded the Larder Lake district in the Cobalt country and hundreds are arriving every week. The boom is expected to grow as warm weather arrives and the woods are swarming with fortune hunters. What the men will do for shelter is a puzzle, as the only hotel yet built consists of a small building holding a dozen bunks. Teamsters demand $60 a day for hauling supplies to the camp and are getting it. Stories of almost never-ending mineral riches have inflamed the minds of adventurers from all over the country and it is expected that there will be 10 men on the ground for every claim. One prospector claims to have been offered $400,000 for his claim.

Will Reintroduce Smoke Bill.

Smoke Inspector Jones told a Post-Dispatch reporter Wednesday that he would again introduce his bill providing for the licensing and regulating of firemen and water-tenders before the new City Council. The measure has twice been defeated, but Inspector Jones believes that as he has amended it it will pass and its enforcement will practically solve the smoke abatement question. The measure provides that all stationary firemen and water-tenders shall pass an examination conducted by an Engineers' Board attached to Boiler Inspector Branch's department. The fee is fixed at $1, but the certificates, issued annually, may be renewed without cost. About 3500 men will be affected, private residences and members of the City Fire Department not being included in the bill's provisions. It also provides for the revocation of licenses of men who prove incompetent.

Big Oil Mortgage Filed.

TULSA, I. T., April 10.—A mortgage for $5,000,000, covering the property of the Uncle Sam Oil Co., has been filed in the Federal Court in favor of B. F. Billingslee, trustee, of Kansas City. Billingslee represents the holders of 25,000 shares of coupon bonds, recently issued by the Uncle Sam Oil Co. The shares aggregate $5,000,000 and the mortgage is given to protect the holders of the bonds. The mortgage was dated March 22. It was given at Kansas City. The mortgage covers property owned by the Uncle Sam company in Oklahoma, Indian Territory, Kansas, Nebraska, Missouri and Arkansas.

WANTED A BAND WHEN WIFE LEFT

"So Glad You're Going," Mrs. Leo Said Husband Told Her.

HAD TO CARRY IN COAL

Berry Bushes Scratched Her Arms, She Tells Divorce Judge.

Mrs. Mary Leo told Judge Withrow, while testifying in her suit for divorce against Charles Leo Wednesday, that when they separated, he bowed like a courtier and said:

"So glad you are going. After you have gone, I will have the Gardenville brass band play for a whole week."

Mrs. Leo says that this expression of joy was uttered during the last days of their suburban residence at Greenwood, St. Louis County.

Before the couple removed to the county, Mrs. Leo told the Court, her husband required her to live in the attic of their home on Salena street, between Pestalozzi and Lynch streets. The two lower floors were rented out.

She complained particularly of having been compelled to chop wood and carry water up two flights of stairs, besides attending to other ordinary household duties. She added that once when he asked her to carry coal upstairs she told him he was "not much of a gentleman," whereupon, she said, he started toward her with uplifted hand but did not strike her.

Berry-picking was added to her housewifery, according to Mrs. Leo, after they had removed to the country. She related that the health of her husband was poor and that he told her he would not work any more. Mrs. Leo said her arms and hands were cruelly scratched by the thorns of blackberry bushes. During a discussion, she says, he took a hatchet and dented a chair with it by way of emphasis.

The witness reminded Leo, who was present in the courtroom, that she still had the chair and would show him the dent if he had forgotten the incident. She also reminded him that he ran out of the house afterward. Then followed the account of the order to leave the house and the allusion to the band. Mrs. Leo said they were married April 13, 1895, and separated Aug. 3, 1896. She attributed no part of the ill luck to the date of the marriage. Since the separation she has been living with her father at 2232 South Broadway.

OLDEST REBEKAH IS DEAD.

Mrs. Hanna of Kansas City Got Chivalry Degree.

KANSAS CITY, April 10.—Mrs. Sarah Miles Hanna, 82 years old, said to have been the oldest member of the Daughters of Rebekah and the only woman upon whom the Degree of Chivalry was ever conferred by the I. O. O. F., was stricken with paralysis Monday, and died at her home here yesterday.

She was the wife of the late Philip K. Hanna, for years United States Representative from the Forty-eighth District of Illinois, was a cousin of Gen. Nelson A. Miles, and cousin by marriage of Gen. Philip C. Hanna, present Consul General to the Republic of Mexico. Her father, Solomon Stoddard Miles, was educated in Athens, Greece, and for years was president of the Presbyterian College at Zanesville, O. Mrs. Hanna took the Rebekah Degree at Rock Island, Ill., in 1855. She helped organize several hundred assemblies of the Odd Fellows, and for her efforts was made worthy chaplain and later the Degree of Chivalry was conferred upon her by that order.

East St. Louis News

George Pettigrew, a negro, who was shot at his home in the Library Flats, Sunday, died Tuesday night at St. Mary's Hospital. Dolphus Collier was arrested after the shooting. He claims the shooting was accidental. He says he was showing Pettigrew how to break and load the revolver, when it was accidentally discharged.

James A. Vandaveer of East St. Louis and Miss Margaret Vien of Cahokia will be married at 4 p. m., Wednesday, at the home of the bride's parents, in Cahokia. The attendants will be William Militzer and Miss Dora Gamache. They will live at 526 North Seventh street, East St. Louis.

Ferdinand Thoene was nominated Tuesday night by the Independent Municipal party as a candidate for school trustee, to succeed O. C. Davis, whose term has expired. The election will be held Saturday. A president and four members of the Board of Education will be elected April 20, but no nominations have been made yet. Those whose terms expire are: President W. A. Moody and Members P. W. Abt, H. T. Renshaw, Harry Kramer and Peter Gaynord.

The funeral of John Long, aged 88, who died Tuesday at his home, 1328 Gaty avenue, will be held Friday at 9 a. m. from St. Henry's Church to St. Henry's Cemetery.

Shot in Knee by Brother.

John Anthony, a school boy, aged 12 years, was taken to the City Hospital Wednesday morning with a bullet in his left knee. He says his 16-year-old brother, Eugene, playing with a revolver which he thought was unloaded, shot him Tuesday night. Eugene was arrested, and John sent to the hospital. The shooting occurred in an alley back of the boys' home, 2414 South Third street. The police are informed that the revolver was obtained from a boy named Frank Knarr, aged 16 years, of 2349 South Third street.

Nevada Theater Burns.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

NEVADA, Mo., April 10.—Moore's Opera House caught fire last night, supposedly from an electric wire. The building was occupied by H. C. Moore's Dry Goods Co. The loss to stock and building will be $30,000, fully insured.

$2500 for a Quick Start.

Margaret Duffy obtained judgment in Judge Kinsey's Court Tuesday against the United Railways Co. for $2500 for injuries alleged to have been received Dec. 27, 1905, at Grand and Easton avenues when a car, from which she was alighting, started too soon. She sued for $4500.

STOCK MARKET OPENS HIGHER

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

NEW YORK, April 10, 1 p. m.—With only a fair market so far as transactions are concerned, the market remained strong during the forenoon and experienced a slight advance or upward turn between 12 and 1 o'clock. Taken altogether, the average to 1 o'clock would not show more than a point gain over the opening and the amount was sometimes less. Total sales to noon, 370,000 shares.

NEW YORK, April 10 (10 a. m.)—The market opened Wednesday strong and higher, the advance being all the way from ¼ of a point to a full point. Smelter opened nearly 2 points above Tuesday's close. Rock Island common and Kansas City Southern preferred were prominent exceptions to the higher opening.

On the industrial side the openings were especially strong. All three of the Steel issues were up ⅛ to ⅜ on the opening. Some of the leaders fell away from high openings in the first half hour. Southern and Northern Pacific remained strong and advanced.

TO DRUG MANIAC TO CAPTURE HIM

LOUISVILLE, Ky., April 10.—Chloroform may be used to effect the capture of Robert Obermiller, the maniac who, for one week, has defied policemen and others who have exhausted every resource to drive him from his barricade, a hut 6 by 8 feet, situated on the premises of his parents, six miles from Jacob Park. Pepper thrown into the madman's eyes, sulphur injected into his little prison and the overturning of the structure proved futile. To all devices of torture Obermiller responded with curses or bullets. He labors under the belief that enemies are seeking to destroy his life.

Adolph and Charles Obermiller of this city this morning conferred with Judge Wilson and asked him to order the abandonment of the plan to arrest their brother. He refused, saying the county had already been subjected to considerable expense and he felt that the arrest of Obermiller is a necessity in order to protect those persons who reside in the vicinity of the Obermiller home. He suggested the use of chloroform, specifying, of course, that a physician administer it. The mother of Obermiller has requested that her son be left alone. She believes that in time he will come out of his hut in search of food, and that his capture can easily be effected. The father of Obermiller insists that he be captured. He is afraid that he will slip from his hiding place and commit murder.

Another report is that he is afraid of being hypnotized. It is asserted that study of hypnotism dethroned his reason, and in order to avoid being placed under a hypnotic spell he has avoided people for 2 years and has lived like a hermit for more than three years. Obermiller's hut is still on its side. It was overturned early yesterday morning and efforts to right it have proved unsuccessful.

Obermiller's brothers, Charles and Adolph Obermiller, went to the Mount Holly neighborhood Tuesday and visited Dr. W. W. Hill to see if any means could be employed to either drug or chloroform their brother into submission. Obermiller is known to have a large jug of water in his hut and it is thought it will take several days to starve him into surrendering.

YOUTHFUL HUNTER SHOT BY OWN GUN

Dropped Weapon Which Discharged Load Into His Heart Causing Instant Death.

John Proffitt, 15 years old, son of Mr. and Mrs. James Proffitt of O'Fallon, Ill., was instantly killed Tuesday afternoon by the accidental discharge of a shotgun which he dropped while out hunting. The load of shot penetrated the heart.

Newman Meadows, also 15 years of age, with whom he had been hunting, ran back to the Proffitt home and told the boy's parents what had happened.

The two boys, according to the story told at the Coroner's inquest, had been hunting for several hours. They had a shotgun and a rifle with them. Both weapons had been fired a number of times at birds and marks. The shotgun had been discharged and reloaded by young Proffitt, when he let the fowling piece slip through his hand to the ground. There was a report and the boy fell to the ground without a cry, apparently expiring before his companion could reach his side.

Coroner Dr. E. M. Irwin of Belleville held an inquest Tuesday night, the jury returning a verdict of accidental death.

Line to Panama Needed.

A Government-controlled steamship line between one or more gulf ports and Panama is advocated by the Board of Directors of the Merchants' Exchange in a resolution adopted Tuesday. Such a line, the resolution states, is necessary in order to give the Mississippi Valley an equal opportunity with the Atlantic Coast cities in supplying food products and other requirements for the work on the Panama Canal. In reply to a request to send a delegate to the National Arbitration and Peace Congress at New York, April 14, the board adopted a resolution expressing hearty accord with the movement for arbitration of international disputes.

Auditor Dierkes Has Court Bill.

City Auditor Dierkes is preparing a bill to be introduced in the special session of the Legislature providing for a court of general sessions and abolishing the Court of Criminal Correction in St. Louis. He has written Gov. Folk a second letter asking that he veto the bill passed by the Legislature establishing a Court of General Sessions on the ground that there is not sufficient business to support it. Auditor Dierkes thinks the city can save about $15,000 in clerk salaries by abolishing the Court of Criminal Correction and the clerk of criminal causes and placing the new court duties under the supervision of the Circuit Clerk.

RECEIPTS—Cattle, 2000; hogs, 9500; sheep, 1500; horses and mules, 500.

CATTLE—The run today was moderate, embracing about 1700 natives and 300 Southern cattle. The market on steers, cows and heifers was active at strong prices, with the best steers showing the most strength. Veal calves sold steadily and the supply of stockers and feeders was insufficient to meet the demand.

Deaf Mute Hurt in Saloon.

Charles Vasel, a deaf mute, being treated at the City Hospital for a burned foot, says that a stranger poured kerosene on his shoes and set them on fire while he slept in a saloon at North Market and Eighteenth streets. At the same time, says Vasel, he was robbed of his hat and $3. Vasel lives with his sister, Augusta Coler, at 2822 Indiana avenue, and is 41 years of age. He is a cooper.

WHEAT FUTURES STRONG; HIGHER

OTHER GRAINS ADVANCE

Cash Demand Good—Southwestern Conditions Are Unchanged.

Local wheat futures were strong and advanced steadily Wednesday, the close being ⅜c to ⅞c higher for the day. Corn closed ⅝@¾c higher and oats 1c to 1⅛@1¼c higher.

May wheat opened 1-16c lower, at 75¼c, advanced steadily to 76¼c and closed at 76c bid. July wheat opened 1-16c higher, at 77⅝c, went as low as 77½@77⅝c, advanced to 78⅜@78½c, and closed at 78¼c bid. September wheat opened unchanged at 78½c and closed at 79⅜c.

May corn opened 1-16c higher, at 43⅝c, advanced to 44¼@44⅜c and closed at 44¼c. July corn opened ⅛c higher, at 45⅛c, went as low as 45¼@45⅜c and closed at the high point at 45⅝c sellers.

May oats opened ½c higher, at 41¼c, and closed at 41⅞c bid. July oats opened 1-16c higher, at 36½c, and advanced to 37⅜c bid.

The Government reports the average condition of the winter wheat crop at 89.9, against 89.1 on April 1, 1906, 91.6 April 1, 1905, and 85.3 for the ten-year average. It is estimated that this means a crop of about 484,745,000 bu. The condition of rye is reported at 92. Cables closed unchanged on spot wheat and ¼d higher on the futures. Paris closed unchanged to ¼c lower on wheat and unchanged to ½c higher on flour. Antwerp wheat closed unchanged. Berlin wheat ¼c lower and Budapest wheat ⅜c lower.

The local market opened about steady. The firm cables following yesterday's decline here, the fact that the weather in the Southwest continues dry, with predictions of a continuance of present conditions, and numerous reports of green bug ravages caused some fair buying at the start, and offerings were light. A slight advance was scored early in the day, but most traders were awaiting the Government report, and the trading was restricted. The report was about as expected and had little effect on the market. Towards the end of the session the market turned very strong and the trade broadened considerably. The strength in coarse grains helped wheat and prices were bid up steadily, the close being ⅝@¾c higher for the day. Prices on cash wheat were slightly firmer and the demand was good. Receipts of wheat at all primary points were 587,985 bu, against 259,300 bu last year, and shipments therefrom were 193,260 bu, against 215,000 bu last year. Local receipts were 26,000 bu, against 16,150 bu last year, and shipments were 27,495 bu. Clearances of wheat and flour for the day were 128,000 bu.

A good advance at Chicago, the strength in wheat, a good general demand and light offerings weer the supporting factors in corn. Prices advanced steadily and the close was ⅝@¾c higher for the day. Trading in corn was lively. Cables closed unchanged on both spot and future corn. There was a good cash demand for corn and prices were firm. Primary receipts of corn were 555,655 bu, against 402,165 bu last year, and shipments were 348,545 bu, against 610,000 bu last year. Local receipts were 71,815 bu, against 38,000 bu last year, and shipments were 169,550 bu. Clearances of corn for the day were 123,000 bu.

There was a strong demand for oats, mainly from the shorts, and prices advanced sharply. The strength in other grains helped, and the close was 1c to 1⅛@¾c higher for the day. Cash prices on oats were very firm and the demand was good. Primary receipts of oats were 547,860 bu, against 552,720 bu last year, and shipments were 738,390 bu, against 546,000 bu last year. Local receipts were 88,600 bu, against 83,700 bu last year, and shipments were 43,905 bu. Oats clearances for the day were 16,000 bu.

Cash wheat is still in strong demand at Minneapolis, No. 1 Northern being 2¼c to 2¾c over May option today, and No. 2 Northern ¼c to ⅜c over. Minneapolis stocks increased 275,000 bu for four days. Following are the Northeastern car lots: Minneapolis, 184, against 145 last year; Duluth, 168, against 32 last year; Winnipeg, 58, against 142 last year. Total, 410, against 319 last year.

FLOUR—The receipts were 8220 barrels; shipments, 10,780 bbls. Quote soft winter flour, patents at $3.60@3.80; straight at $3.40@3.50, and extra fancy at $3.20@3.35 in wood; low to medium grades at $2.30@2.60 in jute; hard in jute sacks, patents at $3.25@3.50; straight at $3.05@3.20; clear at $2.65@2.85; low grades at $2.20@2.50; spring patents at $3.70@3.90 in bulk.

HAY—Receipts, 910 tons, local and 245 tons through; shipments, 740 tons. Quote timothy hay, choice, $19@19.50; No. 1, $17@18; No. 2, 15@16; No. 3, $13@14.50. Clover hay, choice, $18@19; No. 1, $15.50@16.50; No. 2, $13@14; No. 1 clover mixed, $15@15.50; No. 2 clover mixed, $13@14. Prairie hay, choice, $12; No. 1, $11@11.50; No. 2, $9@10.

MAY EXPEL STUDENTS.

Public Apology Made for Scene in Cambridge Theater.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

CAMBRIDGE, Mass., April 10.—Harvard is ablaze with excitement over the rough house at "Brown of Harvard" Monday night, when six crimson students were arrested and fined $40 each. The guilty students will probably be expelled. At the opening of the first act of "Brown of Harvard" on Tuesday night, J. D. White, president of the senior class at Harvard, made a public apology in behalf of the students for the outrage.

Invalid Attempts Suicide.

Fearing that she would never be well again, after a year's illness of nervous troubles, Miss Sadie Spencer, aged 26 years, of 3727 Manchester avenue, tried to kill herself by inhaling chloroform Tuesday night at her home. Her sister and brother-in-law, Rhoda and Alexander McCabe, saved her life by walking her about the room until the arrival of an ambulance, in which she was taken to the City Hospital. She says she secured the chloroform in a downtown drug store, on the pretext that she wanted to kill a sick dog. She will recover.

ST. LOUIS STOCKS FIRM AND ACTIVE

Issues of the United Railways Are Feature Exceptions, Being Lower On Sales $1 Per Share—Mercantile Trust Declines on Sales—Commerce Shares Firm.

The feature of the forenoon session on the Stock Exchange was the break in the preferred stock of the United Railways of 1 point in both bid and ask price. The drop rather unsettled the market on account of the strong position the stock has maintained for the last week, and only a few shares sold at 72. The common stock also sold off 1 point on limited transactions at 36. The 4-per-cent bonds were quoted and sold ⅛ over Tuesday's transactions.

In the bank and trust lists there was a fair market indicated by bid and ask prices, which ruled firm as to Bank of Commerce unchanged on sales at 263, free transactions. In the trust list Mercantile opened at 340 bid and advanced to 350, at which figure 15 shares were sold. The last figure at which Mercantile was traded in on the Stock Exchange was 365.

There was little change in the bank and trust quotations bid and ask, outside of those mentioned in sales of Mercantile Trust and Bank of Commerce, the quotations being firm generally. The closing transactions and quotations were firm to higher.

Matthew Durnin Weds.

Matthew Durnin, secretary of the L. M. Rumsey Manufacturing Co., and former Democratic Committeeman from the Eighteenth Ward, was married Tuesday to Miss Florence Belcher of 2626 Howard street. Mr. and Mrs. Durnin will reside at 1516 Hamilton avenue. Only a small circle of friends knew of the wedding, which took place at St. Leo's Church.

3-Cent Bill in House.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

JEFFERSON CITY, April 10.—Representative Simmons of Shelby County today introduced a 3-cent street car fare bill in the House to apply to all street railway companies in the State. The bill seeks a cheap fare for laboring people and requires street railway companies to sell tickets at 3 cents each, such tickets to be good for passage only between 5 a. m. and 7 a. m. and 6 p. m. and 8 p. m.

Richard Croker Is Ill.

NEW YORK, April 10.—News of the illness of Richard Croker was brought yesterday by John Fox, president of the National Democratic Club, who was a passenger on the steamer Kaiserin Auguste Victoria. Mr. Fox, a lifelong friend of the former leader of Tammany Hall, says that Mr. Croker is in exceedingly poor health. Mr. Fox spent four days at Wantage, Mr. Croker's home.

Harlem Creek Unhealthy.

The Board of Health will be asked by the Twenty-seventh Ward Improvement Association to investigate the condition of Harlem Creek, which flows through the ward. W. A. Guenburger and A. C. Rother, delegates from the northwestern district of the ward, spoke at a meeting of the directors of the association Tuesday, declaring the condition of the creek to be a menace to the public health.

Clubs Plan Lobby Work.

As the representative of the St. Louis Elks' Club, Colin M. Selph has gone to Jefferson City with instructions to oppose proposed legislation which would place clubs in the dramshop category. It is said that there will be united action on the part of clubs in St. Louis and throughout the State in opposition to such legislation. They will contend that the bars are maintained for the accommodation of the members and not for profit, and that if the bars are placed under the control of the Excise Commissioner the clubs will not be able to maintain billiard rooms and give entertainments.

FINANCIAL.

Local bank clearings and balances: Clearings for Wednesday, $10,165,604; last week, $8,772,900. Balances for today, $470,518; last week, $415,804; increase clearings, $1,392,704; increase balances, $54,714.

There is a very steady tone in the local money market, and there are numerous indications of a continuance of the currency movement to the country. Rates show no material changes, although there were two or three fair-sized loans during the day at fractionally under previous negotiations. Collections generally are reported as satisfactory.

EGGS—Receipts 4418 local cases and 3834 through cases; shipments 1224 cases. Extras, cases included, 17½c; strictly fresh firsts, cases included, 16c; current receipts, case count, cases returned, 14c.

"First in Everything."

BY THE "Berlin" Method
You Can Have Your RUPTURE
CURED FIRST and then YOU PAY FOR THE CURE.

I can make this offer because I CURE IN ONE SITTING. I close the opening through which rupture escapes, just like a dentist fills the cavity of a tooth —WITHOUT CUTTING OR PAIN OR DETENTION FROM BUSINESS. YOU GO HOME CURED AT ONCE WITHOUT A TRUSS, never to wear same again. I prove what I say by the hundreds of patients cured that way. See and talk with the following persons which I cured in one treatment:

Frank Tarantino, Granite City, Ill.
Theo. B. Tobias (Bookkeeper), 4931 Page bl., St. Louis, Mo.
G. A. Hammett (Electrician City Insane Asylum), 5300 Arsenal st., St. Louis, Mo.
Wm. E. Hollis (School Teacher), Madison, Ill.
C. W. Taylor (Drug Store), Greenfield, Ill.
Gustave Wiese, 4779 Milentz av., St. Louis, Mo.
J. Heitsley (Contractor), Benld, Ill.
Henry Fehling, Namocki, Ill.
Bert Nerns, 665 S. Nineteenth st., Lincoln, Neb.
Mrs. E. Senf, 306 Russell av., St. Louis, Mo.

Why continue to suffer when you can come to me and be cured?

I make no charge for scientific examination. Call or write today. Hours 9 to 5 daily; Sundays open 10 to 12.

A good boarding house was advertised the day you found the poor one—the day you were too busy "looking" for one to read the ads!

CAN HEART DISEASE BE CURED BY THE FINSEN LIGHT?

Dr. Startin of the London Skin Hospital regards the statement about the cure of heart disease by Finsen Light as very probably true.

The Finsen Light is a Danish invention, which is used in lupus and other skin diseases. It is the application of intensely strong electric light through lenses, one of which is protected by a blue fluid to prevent the light from burning.

(The reader will please be assured that the foregoing is not an advertisement, but a bit of information gathered from an article in a scientific paper of authority and given to the Post-Dispatch want ad readers for the good it may do.)

* * *

By all means take care of your heart. It is your best friend to the very last spark of life!

* * *

One of the best ways to treat heart disease is to forget about it, and think of pleasant people, things and scenes. For instance—

Think of Yourself Sitting in a New Home

TRY IT.

$5000 TO CAPTURE TRAIN WRECKERS

5 ATTEMPTS SUCCESSFUL

PITTSBURG, Pa., April 10.—With millions of dollars and thousands of men at his command, W. W. Atterbury, general manager of the Pennsylvania Railroad, found himself still unable to run down the criminals who since March 22 have made five successful attempts to wreck the fastest and best trains in the service of the company. All that human ingenuity can contrive to do is being done to catch the perpetrators of these outrages which have stirred the Pennsylvania Railroad as it has never been stirred before. And yet, despite this unceasing vigilance, despite the efforts of the hundreds of railroad, county and private detectives, despite the searching and watching by the thousands of employes of the road and the private citizens, who are spurred on by a $2500 reward, the train wrecking goes on. An additional $2500 is offered if the wreckers are caught within twenty-four hours.

Heads of the Pennsylvania secret service feel that the same band of men is responsible for every one of the five wrecks. They suspect many persons, but it was said that so far no evidence against any of the suspected men had been gathered to an extent that would warrant an arrest. And yet they feel confident that the perpetrators will be discovered. Every one of the thousands of employes of the company has been turned into a detective. The force of track walkers has been doubled and tripled, but with al lthis vigilance on Saturday night the fastest train on the road, running between Pittsburg and Cleveland, was derailed by the wreckers.

The attempt has caused orders to go out from Broad Street Station to redouble the efforts that are being made to run down the wreckers. In four of the five attempts at train wrecking the same method of bringing about a derailment has been employed, which convinces the railroad detectives that one band of men is responsible. In the fifth case a telegraph pole was thrown across the tracks and staked down. That the wreckers are men familiar with railroading is evidenced by the familiar manner in which they take off the fishplates at the joints and bend the rail outward in a manner that makes it impossible for the locomotive or any part of the train to stay on the track. That the work is done by one band is shown, the detectives say, by the fact that the attempts are made within a short distance either east or west of Pittsburg. It is the belief that either malice or robbery is responsible for the attempts at wrecking.

First Attempt in March.

It was on March 22 that the first attempt was made. The Chicago Limited, running at the rate of 40 miles an hour, was derailed near Stewart, about 17 miles east of Pittsburg. Every car on the train left the track, but no one was injured. In this case the fishplates holding the rail joints together had been removed and the rail bent inward. The bond wire connecting the rails was intact so that the automatic signal showed a clear track.

On March 27 the second attempt was made, the manner of derailment being the same, and there is every evidence that the wreckers intended to ditch two trains. It was after this wreck that the company offered $2500 reward. The second attempt was made between Turtle Creek and Wilmerding, only a short distance from Pittsburg. As in the first case, fishplates were removed, the rail bent in and the eastbound Keystone Express left the rails.

The Keystone Express always passes the westbound Chicago Limited at this point, but the latter train was late and was flagged in time to prevent it crashing into the derailed express. The scene of this wreck was only three miles from the point where the first attempt was made.

Pole Fastened to Track.

Wreckers then shifted their operations and on March 30 the crew of a shifting engine discovered a telegraph pole staked to the track near Lowellsville, O., a short distance west of Pittsburg. The crew removed the pole and 17 minutes later the Pittsburg flyer dashed by.

On April 4 another attempt was made at Penn Station, only a few miles from Pittsburg. A track walker discovered that the fishplates had been removed and the rails bent inward half an hour after the Chicago limited had gone by. The work had been done between the time that the limited went by and the time that the track walker discovered the twisted rails.

Knowing that the wreckers could not be far away, railroad detectives and police from Pittsburg scoured the country, but did not obtain a single clue. They felt sure, however, that the wreckers lived within a short distance of Penn Station, because the previous attempts were made very near this place.

Track-walking forces for 100 miles east and west of Pittsburg were tripled and Alleghany County detectives and men from private agencies swarmed the country without result. Their presence, however, evidently does not worry the wreckers. Information obtained at Broad Street Station is to the effect that the railroad officials believe the criminals have only shifted the scene of their operations. This was proved Saturday night when the fastest train on the Pennsylvania running between Pittsburg and Cleveland was wrecked near Hudon, O.

More Attempts Feared.

The place where the accident occurred is 123 miles west of Pittsburg. The same method of removing the fish plates binding the rails was employed.

General Manager Atterbury is of the opinion that there will be more attempts at wrecking. Up to date the wreckers have sought only to derail the fastest trains in the service, and because of this fact the officers of the road are greatly worried. James McCrea, president of the Pennsylvania, has given orders that no effort must be spared in running the wreckers to earth. His verbal orders to Mr. Atterbury are that no expense is to be spared. Still the railroad company confesses that so far its tremendous efforts have been without reward, that the wreckers are still unknown.

SCHOOL BOARD FOR CHILDREN'S COURT

Members Will Ask Governor for Tribunal Like Kansas City's.

An effort will be made by the St. Louis Board of Education to procure the passage of the Juvenile Court bill at the special session of the Legislature. A committee representing the board will leave for Jefferson City in a few days bearing a petition to the Governor.

The bill gives the Juvenile Court of St. Louis the same powers and authority enjoyed by the similar court in Kansas City. It was a Senate bill, and House of Representatives at the regular session, but was lost for lack of time.

The main features of the bill are the empowering of the court to take control of "delinquent" children who have not actually violated a State or city law, and empowering it to reach the negligent or vicious parent and help the child by that means.

A committee headed by President Lockwood of the Board of Education, and including Commissioners Clarkson, Soldan and Grossman will go to Jefferson City in a few days to confer with the Governor regarding the bill.

Vacation terms of school will be conducted during the summer at the Jefferson School, Ninth and Wash streets, and the Laclede School, Sixth and Poplar streets. Supt. Soldan, at a meeting of the Board of Education Tuesday, explained that these schools are designed to meet the wants of crowded sections of the city. The work will consist of light manual or nature study, and the reading of books of entertainment and instruction.

In a discussion relative to the employment of outside teachers, the superintendent said that the teachers' college was able to supply only about 60 of the 100 new teachers needed in St. Louis every year.

Edward J. O'Neill and Henry C. Garneau, recently elected to the board, qualified and assumed their duties. The oath of office was administered by Judge Hugo Muench.

Politics in Police Court.

The right of members of the Democratic party to remain on earth was gravely discussed in the City Hall Police Court, Wednesday, by Judge Tracy and William Johnson, a negro, arrested for too violently espousing the cause of the Republicans in an argument April 2, near the polling place at Fourteenth and Spruce streets.

Johnson, according to the testimony of a policeman, declared in a loud voice that he could lick all the Democrats who could get near him.

"Why did you think that the Democrats should be wiped from the face of the earth?" Judge Tracy asked the negro.

"I didn't say that, honest, Judge. I just said that I didn't see how a negro could ever be a Democrat. I know a lot of good white Democrats. The best friend I ever had was a Democrat—"

"You are discharged," said the Judge.

Asks Police to Find Son.

Joseph D. Kasher of 2704 South Jefferson avenue has asked the police to find his son Joseph, 16 years old, who has been missing from his home since March 31. The boy is about five feet four inches high, weighs about 110 pounds, has light hair and blue eyes, one of which is slightly crossed. He wears glasses and has an impediment in his speech. He wore a gray suit of clothes and soft hat.

RULES NAMED FOR FOREIGN BALLOONS

Conditions Under Which They Will Be Admitted Free to Take Part in Race.

The conditions under which foreign balloons that will participate in the Gordon Bennett Cup race in St. Louis in October may enter the country free have been received by Secretary John W. Kearney of the St. Louis Aero Club, and will be forwarded to the aero clubs of foreign countries.

One of the conditions is that the owner shall make affidavit before the United States Consul in his home country that the balloon is intended exclusively for the St. Louis race. Warning is given that it must not be placed on exhibition or used for commercial or advertising purposes. Otherwise it will be liable to confiscation by the United States Government. It must be shipped out of the country within six months after the date of entry.

A consular invoice showing the value of the balloon will be required and a certified check for 55 per cent of its value must precede or come with it which will be retained by the Government in case of a violation of any of the rules.

Secretary Kearney will inform the foreigners that gas will be furnished free, and that there will be an assistant for each contestant. The rule is made, however, that each contestant must superintend the inflation of his balloon. Special arrangements will be made to supply gas to those who may wish to make trial flights at any time during the summer before the big race. It is expected that the majority of those who will participate in the race will want to try the air conditions before the contest.

Weights and Measures Office Report.

The report Inspector of Weights and Measure Oscar E. Layton for the fiscal year of 1906-07 shows a balance of $3,593.90 in the city's favor after all department expenses are paid. This is a gain of $793.90 over 1905.06. During Inspector Layton's regime of two years, the department for the first time since it was created has been more than self-sustaining.

Got Fine and Warning.

Clarence F. Peper of 4448 Washington boulevard, automobile dealer, arraigned in the City Hall Police Court Wednesday for speeding, asked Judge Tracy for leniency because, he said, he was demonstrating the merits of his car to a prospective customer in Forest Park when arrested. Judge Tracy fined him $10 and warned him not to repeat the offense. Police Stinger said that Peper was driving his car 25 miles an hour on the South Grand drive Tuesday afternoon.

Whatever may be your ideals of becomingness in boys' attire it can be gratified by the wide choice of select fashions exhibited in our interesting department. Artistic style touches and out of the ordinary patterns in new fabrics lend character to our clothes—noticeable by comparison. The full measure of satisfaction which our clothes assure is worth its cost, be that what it may—but herein lies our greatest argument for your preference, that in no single instance are our prices higher than you'll pay elsewhere for much lower standard of quality and workmanship.

Today's topic is wash suits of fine galateas and chambrays, made in sailor blouse styles, in blues, tans, greys, in plain colors and fancy patterns; very moderately priced at $1.00, $1.25 $1.50, $1.75, $2.00

Regulation wash suits of fine quality linen, in tans, greys and blues, also fine quality chambrays priced at $4.50, $5.00 and $5.50

Now ready, the newest fashions in straw hats, styles you find in no other store, priced at $1.50, $2.00, $2.50, $3.50, $4.00 and $5.00

THE EAGLE TRADING STAMP Co.'S

Beginning Thursday, April 11th, 1907, the Eagle Trading Stamp Co. will introduce several new and novel features in addition to the already many attractive workings of this co-operative Eagle Trading Stamp plan.

Commencing tomorrow, April 11, 1907, a new collector's book will be issued which when filled will hold 1000 Eagle Trading Stamps—a complete book full of the new series of Eagle Trading Stamps will entitle the bearer to choose one of our valuable premiums as heretofore, or $2.00 in cash or $2.50 worth of merchandise at the regular retail prices and can be redeemed at stores giving Eagle Trading Stamps.

Collectors Who Have Partly Filled Their Eagle Trading Stamp Books

Can complete them with the new series of Eagle Trading Stamps and can redeem them as heretofore for the premiums now on display in the regular Premium Rooms, but collectors cannot paste any of the old stamps in the new books. $2 in cash or $2.50 worth of merchandise will only be given on the completed books started under the new series of Eagle Trading Stamps. No premiums will be given under the new series of Eagle Trading Stamps for less than a complete book full or 1000 Eagle Trading Stamps.

Eagle Trading Stamps are the means of attracting trade to the progressive merchant and compensate the people for concentrating all their trading with merchants who give Eagle Trading Stamps.

Eagle Trading Stamp Merchants are always busier than the less progressive stores—their goods are always fresher and more desirable because they are constantly moving and being replaced by new ones.

The New Eagle Trading Stamps Have a Cash Value

Make all your purchases at Eagle Trading Stamp stores and you'll fill your book quickly. You are entitled to an Eagle Trading Stamp with every 10c cash purchase that you make.

Will be given for a complete book of 1000 Eagle Trading Stamps issued under the NEW series.

This Added Value of Eagle Trading Stamps

should forcibly appeal to the people and should induce thousands who have not as yet realized the advantages of this splendid plan, to become Eagle Trading Stamp collectors. Courteous and efficient attendants are in charge of our Premium Rooms and will be pleased to further explain the merits of this co-operative plan personally to you.

EAGLE
Trading Stamps

Constantly striving to make this generous plan of greater value and more attractive to the people, on Thursday, April 11th, 1907, the Eagle Trading Stamp Co. will issue a new series of Eagle Trading Stamps, which new stamps will be GREEN in color to designate them from previous issues. Besides giving you the same advantages always enjoyed by Eagle Trading Stamp collectors, the new series of Eagle Trading Stamps bring you many additional and valuable benefits.

How This Plan Will Benefit the People

It gives the people the choice of magnificent and costly Premiums for home use and ornamentation, as before.

It gives the people the opportunity of choosing such house or personal wares as they prefer for their completed book or books. These completed books are negotiable at stores in the city giving Eagle Trading Stamps either for cash or merchandise.

A list of the merchants where these redemptions can be made will be furnished upon application to the Eagle Trading Stamp Co., 1107 Olive St.

The Eagle Trading Stamp Company is owned and controlled by St. Louis business men of integrity, and is backed by $2,000,000 capital. It's a company that fulfills its every promise to the letter — a company that by performances has demonstrated its splendid usefulness to the people. We stand upon our record of years of faithful service—fulfilling to the letter every promise made to the people. If you are not already an Eagle Trading Stamp collector, start now.

Curt Facts

About the New

Eagle Trading Stamps
